UN CRUSHES RED OPPOSITION

TrumanStudies Voluntary Food Rationing Plan

Hopes To Reach "Decision Soon"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—President Truman said today he is giving "every consideration" to the problem of soaring prices and hopes to reach a decision soon on "the best manner of approach."

Confronted with multi-billion dollar appeals for help from Europe, the President was reported considering the possibility of a voluntary food rationing system in this country.

Meantime Secretary of the Interior Krug urged Americans to eat more fish.

Krug Recommends Fish

Krug's statement said that with meat and egg prices soaring, the nation's housewives, hotels and restaurants should turn to fish "for an increasing part of their protein food needs."

Senator Morse (R-Ore) urged President Truman to call a special session of Congress as soon as possible to cope with the interlocked problems of rocketing prices at home and calls for relief abroad.

Declaring that "the greatest domestic issue is the high cost of living," Morse told reporters that Republicans and Democrats alike should "lay aside politics" and merge their forces to "check the ravages of inflation."

Mr. Truman's remarks were made in a letter to Rep. O'Toole (D-NY), replying to a letter O'Toole wrote the President September 8 while Mr. Truman was in Brazil.

While the President gave no indication of calling Congress back for a special session, O'Toole told a newsman that if Mr. Truman "gives the problem the consideration I know he will, a special session is practically inevitable."

"The danger from high costs is becoming increasingly serious every day," O'Toole said.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) similarly termed the control of upward spiralling prices "a very difficult and troublesome problem," but declared he is "not prepared to say at this time whether a special session of Congress to control prices would be justified."

Connally said he plans to talk to Mr. Truman soon about the price situation.

Defends Truman

The Texas Senator commented that Senator Taft (R-Ohio', who recently blamed high prices on the Truman administration, seems to think Mr. Truman "might raise or lower prices by waving a magic wand."

"The Republicans are now in control of both Houses of Congress and have been since January 3, 1947. What has that party done to prevent high prices?" Connally asked at a news conference. The Democratic National Committee released a statement saying that Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) was ready to debate Senator Taft (R-Ohio) over the radio on the question "who is to blame for high prices?" Taft, during his western tour, had said he "welcomed debate."

Adequate Fuel Stock Predicted For Winter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (INS)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce reported today that, barring abnormal weather conditions or strikes, overall fuel supplies this winter will be adequate to meet requirements.

The report, made in cooperation with the coal, petroleum and natural gas industries, conceded that there may be temporary local shortages.

The report said the coal industry was expected to meet internal demands for coal and abnormal European requirements as well.

Domestic coal consumers were advised, however, to stock up early and not to be too demanding in ordering certain types of coal.

URGES BUYERS STRIKE—Avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for President, ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen (left), of Minnesota, is shown with Howard Selby, president of the Eastern Exposition at Springfield, Mass., where Stassen made an address urging a buyers strike in food. He said he was in favor of a 20 per cent drop in food consumption and 15 per cent cut in food prices.

Petkov's Hanging Branded Violation Of Justice By U. S.

Communist Foe Is Executed In Sofia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP) — The United States accused Bulgaria today of violating "elementary principles of justice and the rights of man" in hanging Nikola Petkov, a leading foe of its Communist-controlled government.

The 54-year-old head of the Agrarian Party was executed this morning in Sofia prison on charges that he plotted against Prime Minister Georgi Dmitrov's Government.

Condemn Trial

The State Department said in a formal statement that his trial and conviction was a "travesty on justice." It said the trial was only one of "a series of measures undertaken by the Communist-dominated Fatherland front government to remove from the Bulgarian scene all save a purely nominal opposition and to consolidate, despite its professions to the contrary, a totalitarian form of government."

This denunciation, read to reporters by a State Department official, underlined again basic differences repeatedly springing up between the United States and Russia and her satellites over Communist tactics to seize and cement control over Central European Governments.

There were no immediate signs whether the United States would join Britain in a formal diplomatic protest of Petkov's hanging or in some form of retaliatory measures.

Time after time, in appeals both to Russia and Bulgaria, this country and Britain tried to save Petkov. They took the position that the campaign to eliminate opposition to the Bulgarian regime broke the Yalta agreement with Russia. This pact provided that postwar governments of former Axis partners must be freely chosen and represent all democratic elements.

But every appeal was rejected. Russia, in effect, told the U. S. and Britain to mind their own business and not to interfere in Bulgaria's internal affairs.

British Plan Protest

A formal protest now could do little more than write a final chapter to the record the western powers have been making in the Petkov case. A foreign office spokesman said in London that Britain plans a protest, to be handled personally by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Diplomatic officials here told re-

Arabs Threaten Break With U.N. Over Palestine

Show Displeasure On Division Plan

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — The Arab countries today threatened counter-measures against the United States and Syria predicted a complete rupture of relations with any members that support the plan before the United Nations assembly for partition of Palestine.

The Middle East bloc said the Arab world would "take all necessary measures to oppose the United States both inside and outside the United Nations" if Secretary of State Marshall supports the plan for Arab-Jewish partition.

Threatens "To Break"

Syrian Chief Delegate Faris El Khoury said the Arab counties would "break off all relations" with members supporting partition.

He also said "money, men and arms" would be thrown into the battle to have a free Palestine with its present Arab population majority kept intact.

These threats and maneuvers — all made off the assembly floor — came as warnings that the Arab bloc had decided finally on the line to be taken in opposition to Zionist aims in the long committee debates beginning tomorrow at Lake Success.

The Arab group formed a six-man committee including the heads of the five delegations (Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia) to call on Secretary Marshall personally to reverse what they deemed to be American support of the partition plan.

The sixth member of the group is Jamal Husseini, deputy chairman of the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine.

The Arab bloc pointed to Marshall's statement of last week in general debate that the partition plan embodied in the majority report of the U. N. Assembly's Special Committee on Palestine should be given consideration. Members of all the Arab delegations have expressed open displeasure with what they term "the American attitude on Palestine."

The Soviet Union has refrained from committing itself finally on this issue.

Demonstrate Unity

An Arab delegation source said that on the Palestine question the Arab Nations were "demonstrating once again to the world that they are solidly united."

El Khoury said he could not see how the United States could support the Palestine partition plan and predicted that if the plan is approved "it will lead to the most horrible bloodshed."

These Arab declarations coincided with the initial setback suffered by the Arab world at this session of the General Assembly. El Khoury described the U. N. decision to estab-

Taft Is Injured In Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, Sept. 23 — (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) suffered a badly crushed left hand when the driver of his car slammed the door on it in the confusion of a vociferous and tumultuous reception here late today.

Morris Plummer, member of the reception committee, said the accident occurred after something was tossed at the car. Plummer said it was "an egg or a tomato or something."

A booing crowd bearing placards was massed before the station when Senator and Mrs. Taft arrived here from Reno, Nev., to make a major speech tonight on the labor issue as part of his Western Presidential sounding trip.

Taft's aides said the Senator's hand was badly torn across the palm and fingers and that the wound might require several stitches.

They said, pending a more thorough examination, that apparently no bones were broken.

The Senator was smiling and seemingly unperturbed when he arrived at his hotel. However, his hand was wrapped in a bloody handkerchief.

Plummer's version of the accident was:

"Something was thrown into the car. I don't exactly know what it was. The driver stepped out to flick it out and when he stepped back in he closed the door on the Senator's hand. It was purely an accident."

A chorus of boos greeted the Taft party when it emerged from the train shed. This was liberally sprinkled, however, with cheers and handclapping from those greeting the Republican leader.

The railroad station hecklers were led by former Congressman Hugh DeLacy, defeated Seattle Democrat. He said the crowd included several hundred persons from 13 unions who wanted to give vent to their disapproval of the Senator.

Several of their placards bore the "Progressive Citizens of America" label, and one of them added: "Wallace in 1948."

Others included: "Seattle labor resents Taft's visit"; "Wall Street feeds Taft—who'll feed us"; and "Taft wrecked price control".

Numerous police were on duty at the crowded station.

TORRENTIAL FLOODS—Looking eastward along Bayshore Boulevard, Tampa, Florida's exclusive residential drive, can be seen one of the residents wading to higher ground. Auto traffic was banned after the streets were flooded by the three-and-one-half inches of rainfall in 24 hours.

Eisenhower Again Denies Presidential Aspirations

General Receives Honorary Degree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 23 — (AP) — General of the Army Dwight David Eisenhower bandied words about his alleged political aspirations, made a speech and received an honorary degree in a busy six hours at West Virginia University today.

He climaxed the day's activities, which included a press conference in which the general carefully reemphasized "I want nothing to do with politics and I want no political office," with a speech to a throng which crowded one oval of the 33,000 capacity Mountaineer stadium.

Declaring that "America has today a sharper need for her minute men than she did in 1775", the Army Chief of Staff told his quietly intent audience that Democracy was nothing more than co-operation.

Discusses Politics

At a morning press conference, when Eisenhower faced 30-odd newspaper and radio representatives, the famed World War II commander was led into a political discussion of the possibilities of his becoming a presidential factor next year despite a prefacing, "please lay off me for once on anything that involves politics".

Editor Herman Gieske of the Parkersburg News, meticulously explained to Eisenhower that the Presidential question had never before been presented in exactly the right words, asked and received the general's permission to state it a new way.

"General," Gieske said, "next year, you will become a civilian, and when you have become a civilian would you refuse the Republican nomination for President?"

"Honestly" Eisenhower countered with a grin amid widespread merriment among his questioners, "I don't see how I can answer that."

Without pausing for effect, he continued:

"It is, of course, true that I will become a civilian next year and assume a job (president of Columbia University) that frankly terrifies me.

Answers Questions

"People can change. They change their religion. But I can say that I want nothing to do with politics and I want no political office. I honestly mean that. I actually want nothing to do with it (politics)."

Eisenhower, answering a follow-up question from Editor Walter E. (Bill) Hart of the Morgantown Dominion News, said he had not discussed any personal politics either orally or by mail with Alf M. Landon, a fellow Kansan who was the Republican Presidential nominee in 1936.

A warm September sun bathed the Mountaineer oval as Eisenhower

Second Tropical Storm From Gulf Hits Florida

70 Mile Squalls Moving Inland

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP) — The second tropical storm to cross the Florida coastline in a week moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico late today and at 8:30 p. m. (EST) was centered 75 miles southwest of Jacksonville, moving north-northwestward with highest winds about 60 miles an hour.

Wind squalls up to 70 miles an hour over open water were felt as the storm moved inland. The squall area extended 200 miles outward to the north and east.

Increasing winds along the Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina coasts were predicted as the center advanced. Strong winds continued over North Florida, but were dying down in the southern part of the peninsula.

High tides threatened the state's West Coast as the storm was felt and one stretch of gulf beaches was ordered evacuated and high tides claimed two houses on another stretch.

Caution Warning Issued

At Tampa, Meteorologist W. W. Talbott said persons liing in "unusually" low areas along the coast should be cautioned. He said some properties near the shore line would be endangered by high waters.

George Dunn, chairman of the St. Petersburg Disaster Relief Committee, advised residents of the beach area from Blind Pass to Indian Rocks—a 15-mile stretch—in Pinellas County to evacuate because of heavy waves.

Flood waters mounted in the rich farmlands around Lake Okeechobee but a change in the wind lessened pressure on a single dike holding back thousands of tons of water. One town, La Belle, was cut off when a bridge gave way and the Red Cross carried food to its residents by speedboat.

Storm warnings were displayed on the Florida West Coast from Apalachicola south and on the East Coast from Palm Beach to Charleston, S. C.

Causes Anxious Moments

Not of sufficient velocity to be in the same league with last week's hurricane, the Caribbean-born storm nevertheless gave Florida some anxious moments as it wallowed around in the gulf after earlier indication that it would cross the Recovery Money For Europe Must Come From U. S.

World Bank Makes Its Position Plain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The financial task confronting the United States under the 16-nation proposal for putting Western Europe on its feet loomed even greater today. For the World Bank made plain that any money it puts into the plan must come from American investors.

This means that virtually all the funds requested by Europe—a total of $22,440,000,000 in a four-year period—must come from the United States if they are provided.

Look To World Bank

The 16 nations, declaring their needs for economic recovery under the Marshall Plan, looked to the American continent for $19,330,000,000 and to the World Bank for $3,110,000,000 in loans.

Canada and Latin American Nations are not expected to provide much of the $19,330,000,000 because they are already dipping into their gold reserves and dollar holdings to help pay for what they buy from the United States.

And Robert L. Garner, vice president of the World Bank, told a news conference today that at present the bank has only about $500,000,000 for lending. The only way it can get more money in the foreseeable future, he said, is to sell bonds to American investors.

Garner said the European conferees had not consulted the bank, that it couldn't raise $3,110,000,000 all at once, and that it would have to "feel its way." Besides, the institution set up by 45 nations wants to help Latin America and other countries some time and can't "look only at Europe," he said. The European recovery report "assumes" that $3,110,000,000 for machinery and the like will be loaned by the bank and other credit sources. This figure closely parallels the $3,175,000,000 total which this government subscribed to the bank's $8,000,000,000 capital. Not all of it has been called in, however..

Take Inventory

The Western Europeans arrived at the $22,440,000,000 estimate after an inventory of their needs and their own ability to help themselves. They acted at the suggestion of Secretary of State Marshall.

While American officials prepared to give the analysis of Europe's plight a long, hard look before taking it up with Congress, the 20,000-word report received praise in London and on the continent—except from the Communists. Russia boycotted the whole idea and contends it is intended to give the United States control of Western Europe.

Maryland Reverts To EST Saturday

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP) — Just as most citizens have gotten used to the results of a lost hour, the game is off again—or will be Saturday night, when sections of Maryland still on daylight saving time revert to standard.

Times will once more be the same all over Maryland and vicinity. Subtractions from or additions to hours given on railroad time tables will no longer be necessary.

Setting their clocks back an hour Saturday will give the daylight timers the pleasure of a slightly longer weekend. The effect of the switch-back on added sleep will be minimized, however, by the fact that it will be followed by a Sunday, when an extra hour in bed is not at a premium.

State Sales Tax Average Is Low

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23. (AP)—Collectors of the state's new two per cent sales tax estimated today it costs Marylanders less than 80 cents a month apiece—on the average.

They reached the figure on the basis of $1,683,000 collected from the sales tax in July, its first month of operation, and the state's population of slightly more than 2,000,000.

The average Marylander, they calculated, pays less than the 80-cent individual tax produced by their mathematical maneuver—buys less than $40 worth of taxable goods monthly.

Money paid on the sales tax is deductible from both federal and state income tax computations, but the collectors cautioned tax payers not to estimate their deductions too high.

Big Majorities Vote To Deal With Crises In Greece, Korea

Trieste Work Stoppage Is Laid To Reds

Russia Is Accused Of "Discrediting"

TRIESTE, FREE TERRITORY, Sept. 23 — (AP) — Radio Trieste announced that Sindicati Uniti had called a general strike in Trieste this afternoon and the British-American Military Government promptly declared the action was "the first Communist attempt to hamper the essential life of Trieste and bring discredit" to the week-old free territory.

In order to combat the tactics of the Communist-dominated union the military government said it would take "all steps necessary to ensure that every man and woman wishing to work will be given the fullest protection."

Previous Strikes Called

Sindicati Uniti had called strikes previously in the shipyards and gas works. The latter strike left the city without gas for heating and cooking and brought the number of idle to approximately 5,000.

The military government statement said "it is obvious that agreement is being prevented by certain outside elements who for their own selfish political reasons are attempting to spread the strike."

The statement did not identify the "outside elements," but added:

"The Allied Military Government will take definite action against those present who are found intimidating or threatening peaceful citizens xxx".

Radio Trieste did not elaborate on what prompted the call for the general strike.

Supporters of the Communist-Led Shipyard Workers Union have been on strike since the inception of the free territory. They went out first in protest against the killing of a 11-year-old girl in a machinegun attack on a Communist Club, and later to protest AMG's suspension of six workmen who tried to take over a struck shipyard in the name of the workers by raising a Red flag.

The strike action was extended today by the Municipal Gas Works and the AMG said it was done for "political reasons."

Nationalist Union Opposes

Throughout the strikes the Italian Nationalist Union has opposed the Communist action.

Meanwhile United States Army Headquarters in Trieste awaited a reply from the Yugoslavs on the demand for return of an American officer and two enlisted men who the United States Army said were taken captive by the Yugoslavs yesterday while on mounted patrol duty on the border.

Pfc. Edison L. Lenhart, 20, Southbury, Conn., who said he witnessed the capture of the three while he watched from behind a rock, said the Americans had approached the Yugoslavs for a "friendly chat," and were subsequently taken away at gunpoint.

The three were First Lt. William Van Atten, East Orange, N. J.; Pfc. Earl G. Hendrick, Jr., Arlington, Va.; Pfc. Glen A. Meyer, Edgeley, N. D.

To Consider New Veto-Free Agency

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) —Heavy United Nations majorities steamrollered Russian opposition today and approved American proposals to deal with the Greek and Korean crises and consider creation of a new veto-free security agency.

Over the persistent objection of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, the 55-nation assembly also approved an American-supported Argentine proposal that it debate and suggest revision of the new Italian Peace Treaty. This issue brought a split among the Western powers as well as between them and Russia.

The six votes of the Slav Bloc held solid in the minority throughout on all East-West issues.

Agree On Palestine

Russia and the United States showed upon the same side of the voting on only one issue—creation of a special 55-nation committee on Palestine—and on this the Arab bloc was an adamant minority in opposition.

The air of contest and bitter controversy which marked the assembly's week-long general debate prevailed throughout the voting on 61-item agenda. Finally this was adopted without change from the form in which it had been submitted to the assembly by the 14-nation Steering Committee.

As the debate closed and discussion of the agenda opened, Secretary General Trygve Lie made an impassioned plea for harmony and compromise among the battling great powers. He was applauded unanimously but otherwise got no immediate observable result.

Vishinsky ignored the appeal. Immediately afterward he began a point-by-point attack on American policies. This campaign is expected to continue through the rest of the session as specific issues come up first in committees and then again in the assembly itself. Committee work begins tomorrow at Lake Success.

Here is how the voting went today:

On the American proposal that the General Assembly try to restore Korean independence in view of the deadlock between the United States and Russia—for 41, against 6, not voting 7. The six against were the Slav bloc countries—Russia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Soviet White Russia, Soviet Ukraine and Czechoslovakia.

Britain, France Abstain

On the Argentine proposal for revision of the Italian peace treaty—for 22, against 8, not voting 19. In this case both Britain and France had announced they would abstain and had questioned whether it was wise to seek revision of a treaty so quickly.

On the Greek Balkan row—for 38, against 6, not voting 9.

On the Yugoslav proposal to switch from the Legal Committee to the Political Committee a proposed resolution on returning war criminals to their homelands — for 8, against 33, not voting 4.

On a proposal made by Lie to set up a special committee to seek a solution of the Palestine problem—for 29, against 11, not voting 6. In this case the big five nations— America, Britain, France, Russia and China—all voted for the committee.

The assembly reached its decisions by a majority of the members present and voting.

The American proposal that the assembly consider setting up a 55-nation special security agency was not specifically voted upon. Yugoslavia had objected to this procedure in a speech but Assembly President Oswaldo of Brazil ruled that no formal objection had been made to it. It thus was approved as part of the whole agenda.

Styles Cause Order To Repair Sidewalks

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP) — City Councilman E. J. Leonard has long urged that something be done about defective sidewalks but nothing happened until he brought up the matter of the new long skirts for women.

The long skirts, coupled with the usual high heels, are going to increase the probability of turned angles and falls because of broken or crumbling paving, Leonard explained.

Council immediately passed a motion that all property owners be ordered to repair their walks.

NLRB Issues First Complaint Of Taft-Hartley Act Violation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — (AP) — The Office of the General Counsel National Labor Relations Board issued its first complaint under the Taft-Hartley Act today, accusing an International Typographical Union local in Baltimore of refusing to bargain with an employer.

Ross M. Madden, NLRB Regional Director, issued the complaint. It charged the Baltimore Typographical Union Number 12 with refusal to bargain with 22 companies in the Graphic Arts League of Baltimore by imposing conditions of employment instead of negotiating a contract.

The Baltimore printers followed the policy adopted by the ITU convention in Cleveland at which printers decided to make no more contracts with newspapers or with commercial printing establishments. Such a policy would circumvent the ban on closed shops under the Taft-Hartley Act.

A hearing was scheduled for October 6 in Baltimore before a trial examiner. Meanwhile, the ITU and the Graphic Arts League will have opportunity to answer the complaint.

Madden said the union has been "engaging in unfair labor practices" with the meaning of the Act.

He also said the union "restrained and coerced" the companies in the exercise of rights kuaranteed under the Act.

"Automatic Airplane" May Try Another Record Run In 2 Weeks

BRIZE NORTON, ENGLAND, Sept. 23 (AP) — Col James M. Gillespie said today the United States Army Air Forces' "automatic airplane" may try another record run in about two weeks flying homeward via the Azores.

Gillespie, commander of the four-engine Skymaster that flew the Atlantic and landed in England without a pilot's hand at the controls, was scheduled to return October 6. The plane set a record in its 2,400-mile flight to a Royal Air Force field here yesterday controlled only by a complicated "electric brain."

Gillespie said he hoped to return by the longer Azores route and was awaiting instructions from Washington as to whether another test of the Skymaster's trail-blazing control gadgets would be conducted.

The Skymaster, named the Robert E. Lee by its Texan commander and Alabama-born test pilot, Capt. Thomas J. Wells, will be demonstrated for the next two weeks to the RAF.

RAF pilots and technicians will be shown the intricacies of the "electronic brain" that controls the plane on the take-off, "reads" the flight instruments, follow the prescribed courses, clicks off the miles and lands the plane automatically.

"We just sat around, drinking coffee and the 'brain' did the rest," Gillespie said in describing the 12-hour and five minute flight from Stephensville, Nfld.

Truman Studies Voluntary Food Rationing Plan

Hopes To Reach "Decision Soon"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—(AP)—President Truman said today he is giving "every consideration" to the problem of soaring prices and hopes to reach a decision soon on "the best manner of approach."

Confronted with multi-billion dollar appeals for help from Europe, the President was reported considering the possibility of a voluntary food rationing system in this country.

Meantime Secretary of the Interior Krug urged Americans to eat more fish.

Krug Recommends Fish

Krug's statement said that with meat and egg prices soaring, the nation's housewives, hotels and restaurants should turn to fish "for an increasing part of their protein food needs."

Senator Morse (R-Ore) urged President Truman to call a special session of Congress as soon as possible to cope with the interlocked problems of rocketing prices at home and calls for relief abroad.

Declaring that "the greatest domestic issue is the high cost of living," Morse told reporters that Republicans and Democrats alike should "lay aside politics" and merge their forces to "check the ravages of inflation."

Mr. Truman's remarks were made in a letter to Rep. O'Toole (D-NY), replying to a letter O'Toole wrote the President September 8 while Mr. Truman was in Brazil.

While the President gave no indication of calling Congress back for a special session, O'Toole told a newsman that if Mr. Truman "gives the problem the consideration I know he will, a special session is practically inevitable."

"The danger from high costs is becoming increasingly serious every day," O'Toole said.

Senator Connally (D-Tex) similarly termed the control of upward spiralling prices "a very difficult and troublesome problem," but declared he is "not prepared to say at this time whether a special session of Congress to control prices would be justified."

Connally said he plans to talk to Mr. Truman soon about the price situation.

Defends Truman

The Texas Senator commented that Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who recently blamed high prices on the Truman administration, seems to think Mr. Truman "might raise or lower prices by waving a magic wand."

"The Republicans are now in control of both Houses of Congress and have been since January 3, 1947. What has that party done to prevent high prices?" Connally asked at a news conference. The Democratic National Committee released a statement saying that Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) was ready to debate Senator Taft (R-Ohio) over the radio on the question "who is to blame for high prices?" Taft, during his western tour, had said he "welcomed debate."

Adequate Fuel Stock Predicted For Winter

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (INS)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce reported today that, barring abnormal weather conditions or strikes, overall fuel supplies this winter will be adequate to meet requirements.

The report, made in cooperation with the coal, petroleum and natural gas industries, conceded that there may be temporary local shortages.

The report said the coal industry was expected to meet internal demands for coal and abnormal European requirements as well.

Domestic coal consumers were advised, however, to stock up early and not to be too demanding in ordering certain types of coal.

Stassen (left), of Minnesota, is shown with Howard Selby, president of the Eastern Exposition at Springfield, Mass., where Stassen made an address urging a buyers strike in food. He said he was in favor of a 20 per cent drop in food consumption and 15 per cent cut in food prices.

Petkov's Hanging Branded Violation Of Justice By U. S.

Communist Foe Is Executed In Sofia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The United States accused Bulgaria today of violating "elementary principles of justice and the rights of man" in hanging Nikola Petkov, a leading foe of its Communist-controlled government.

The 54-year-old head of the Agrarian Party was executed this morning in Sofia prison on charges that he plotted against Prime Minister Georgi Dmitrov's Government.

Condemn Trial

The State Department said in a formal statement that his trial and conviction was a "travesty on justice." It said the trial was only one of "a series of measures undertaken by the Communist-dominated Fatherland front government to remove from the Bulgarian scene all save a purely nominal opposition and to consolidate, despite its professions to the contrary, a totalitarian form of government."

This denunciation, read to reporters by a State Department official, underlined again basic differences repeatedly springing up between the United States and Russia and her satellites over Communist tactics to seize and cement control over Central European Governments.

There were no immediate signs whether the United States would join Britain in a formal diplomatic protest of Petkov's hanging or in some form of retaliatory measures.

Time after time, in appeals both to Russia and Bulgaria, this country and Britain tried to save Petkov. They took the position that the campaign to eliminate opposition to the Bulgarian regime broke the Yalta agreement with Russia. This pact provided that postwar governments of former Axis partners must be freely chosen and represent all democratic elements.

But every appeal was rejected. Russia, in effect, told the U. S. and Britain to mind their own business and not to interfere in Bulgaria's internal affairs.

British Plan Protest

A formal protest now could do little more than write a final chapter to the record the western powers have been making in the Petkov case. A foreign office spokesman said in London that Britain plans a protest, to be handled personally by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Diplomatic officials here told re-

Show Displeasure On Division Plan

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — The Arab countries today threatened counter-measures against the United States and Syria predicted a complete rupture of relations with any members that support the plan before the United Nations assembly for partition of Palestine.

The Middle East bloc said the Arab world would "take all necessary measures to oppose the United States both inside and outside the United Nations" if Secretary of State Marshall supports the plan for Arab-Jewish partition.

Threatens "To Break"

Syrian Chief Delegate Faris El Khoury said the Arab counties would "break off all relations" with members supporting partition.

He also said "money, men and arms" would be thrown into the battle to have a free Palestine with its present Arab population majority kept intact.

These threats and maneuvers — all made off the assembly floor — came as warnings that the Arab bloc had decided finally on the line to be taken in opposition to Zionist aims in the long committee debates beginning tomorrow at Lake Success.

The Arab group formed a six-man committee including the heads of the five delegations (Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia) to call on Secretary Marshall personally to reverse what they deemed to be American support of the partition plan.

The sixth member of the group is Jamal Husseini, deputy chairman of the Arab Higher Committee for Palestine.

The Arab bloc pointed to Marshall's statement of last week in general debate that the partition plan embodied in the majority report of the U. N. Assembly's Special Committee on Palestine should be given consideration. Members of all the Arab delegations have expressed open displeasure with what they term "the American attitude on Palestine."

The Soviet Union has refrained from committing itself finally on this issue.

Demonstrate Unity

An Arab delegation source said that on the Palestine question the Arab Nations were "demonstrating once again to the world that they are solidly united."

El Khoury said he could not see how the United States could support the Palestine partition plan and predicted that if the plan is approved "it will lead to the most horrible bloodshed."

These Arab declarations coincided with the initial setback suffered by the Arab world at this session of the General Assembly. El Khoury described the U. N. decision to estab-

Taft Is Injured In Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, Sept. 23 — (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) suffered a badly crushed left hand when the driver of his car slammed the door on it in the confusion of a vociferous and tumultuous reception here late today.

Morris Plummer, member of the reception committee, said the accident occurred after something was tossed at the car. Plummer said it was "an egg or a tomato or something."

A booing crowd bearing placards was massed before the station when Senator and Mrs. Taft arrived here from Reno, Nev., to make a major speech tonight on the labor issue as part of his Western Presidential sounding trip.

Taft's aides said the Senator's hand was badly torn across the palm and fingers and that the wound might require several stitches.

They said, pending a more thorough examination, that apparently no bones were broken.

The Senator was smiling and seemingly unperturbed when he arrived at his hotel. However, his hand was wrapped in a bloody handkerchief.

Plummer's version of the accident was:

"Something was thrown into the car. I don't exactly know what it was. The driver stepped out to flick it out and when he stepped back in he closed the door on the Senator's hand. It was purely an accident."

A chorus of boos greeted the Taft party when it emerged from the train shed. This was liberally sprinkled, however, with cheers and handclapping from those greeting the Republican leader.

The railroad station hecklers were led by former Congressman Hugh DeLacy, defeated Seattle Democrat. He said the crowd included several hundred persons from 13 unions who wanted to give vent to their disapproval of the Senator.

Several of their placards bore the "Progressive Citizens of America" label, and one of them added: "Wallace in 1948."

Others included: "Seattle labor resents Taft's visit"; "Wall Street feeds Taft—who'll feed us"; and "Taft wrecked price control".

Numerous police were on duty at the crowded station.

TORRENTIAL FLOODS—Looking eastward along Bayshore Boulevard, Tampa, Florida's exclusive residential drive, can be seen one of the residents wading to higher ground. Auto traffic was banned after the streets were flooded by the three-and-one-half inches of rainfall in 24 hours.

Eisenhower Again Denies Presidential Aspirations

General Receives Honorary Degree

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 23 — (AP) — General of the Army Dwight David Eisenhower bandied words about his alleged political aspirations, made a speech and received an honorary degree in a busy six hours at West Virginia University today.

He climaxed the day's activities, which included a press conference in which the general carefully reemphasized "I want nothing to do with politics and I want no political office," with a speech to a throng which crowded one oval of the 33,000 capacity Mountaineer stadium.

Declaring that "America has today a sharper need for her minute men than she did in 1775", the Army Chief of Staff told his quietly intent audience that Democracy was nothing more than co-operation.

Discusses Politics

At a morning press conference, when Eisenhower faced 30-odd newspaper and radio representatives, the famed World War II commander was led into a political discussion of the possibilities of his becoming a presidential factor next year despite a prefacing, "please lay off me for once on anything that involves politics".

Editor Herman Gieske of the Parkersburg News, meticulously explained to Eisenhower that the Presidential question had never before been presented in exactly the right words, asked and received the general's permission to state it a new way.

"General," Gieske said, "next year, you will become a civilian, and when you have become a civilian would you refuse the Republican nomination for President?"

"Honestly" Eisenhower countered with a grin amid widespread merriment among his questioners, "I don't see how I can answer that."

Without pausing for effect, he continued:

"It is, of course, true that I will become a civilian next year and assume a job (president of Columbia University) that frankly terrifies me.

Answers Questions

"People can change. They change their religion. But I can say that I want nothing to do with politics and I want no political office. I honestly mean that. I actually want nothing to do with it (politics)."

Eisenhower, answering a follow-up question from Editor Walter E. (Bill) Hart of the Morgantown Dominion News, said he had not discussed any personal politics either orally or by mail with Alf M. Landon, a fellow Kansan who was the Republican Presidential nominee in 1936.

A warm September sun bathed the Mountaineer oval as Eisenhower

70 Mile Squalls Moving Inland

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 23 (AP) — The second tropical storm to cross the Florida coastline in a week moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico late today and at 8:30 p. m. (EST) was centered 75 miles southwest of Jacksonville, moving north-northwestward with highest winds about 60 miles an hour.

Wind squalls up to 70 miles an hour over open water were felt as the storm moved inland. The squall area extended 200 miles outward to the north and east.

Increasing winds along the Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina coasts were predicted as the center advanced. Strong winds continued over North Florida, but were dying down in the southern part of the peninsula.

High tides threatened the state's West Coast as the storm was felt and one stretch of gulf beaches was ordered evacuated and high tides claimed two houses on another stretch.

Caution Warning Issued

At Tampa, Meteorologist W. W. Talbott said persons living in "unusually" low areas along the coast should be cautioned. He said some properties near the shore line would be endangered by high waters.

George Dunn, chairman of the St. Petersburg Disaster Relief Committee, advised residents of the beach area from Blind Pass to Indian Rocks—a 15-mile stretch—in Pinellas County to evacuate because of heavy waves.

Flood waters mounted in the rich farmlands around Lake Okeechobee but a change in the wind lessened pressure on a single dike holding back thousands of tons of water. One town, La Belle, was cut off when a bridge gave way and the Red Cross carried food to its residents by speedboat.

Storm warnings were displayed on the Florida West Coast from Apalachicola south and on the East Coast from Palm Beach to Charleston, S. C.

Causes Anxious Moments

Not of sufficient velocity to be in the same league with last week's hurricane, the Caribbean-born storm nevertheless gave Florida some anxious moments as it wallowed around in the gulf after earlier indication that it would cross the Recovery Money For Europe Must Come From U. S.

World Bank Makes Its Position Plain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The financial task confronting the United States under the 16-nation proposal for putting Western Europe on its feet loomed even greater today. For the World Bank made plain that any money it puts into the plan must come from American investors.

This means that virtually all the funds requested by Europe—a total of $22,440,000,000 in a four-year period—must come from the United States if they are provided.

Look To World Bank

The 16 nations, declaring their needs for economic recovery under the Marshall Plan, looked to the American continent for $19,330,000,000 and to the World Bank for $3,110,000,000 in loans.

Canada and Latin American Nations are not expected to provide much of the $19,330,000,000 because they are already dipping into their gold reserves and dollar holdings to help pay for what they buy from the United States.

And Robert L. Garner, vice president of the World Bank, told a news conference today that at present the bank has only about $500,000,000 for lending. The only way it can get more money in the foreseeable future, he said, is to sell bonds to American investors.

Garner said the European conferees had not consulted the bank, that it couldn't raise $3,110,000,000 all at once, and that it would have to "feel its way." Besides, the institution set up by 45 nations wants to help Latin America and other countries some time and can't "look only at Europe," he said. The European recovery report "assumes" that $3,110,000,000 for machinery and the like will be loaned by the bank and other credit sources. This figure closely parallels the $3,175,000,000 total which this government subscribed to the bank's $8,000,000,000 capital. Not all of it has been called in, however.

Take Inventory

The Western Europeans arrived at the $22,440,000,000 estimate after an inventory of their needs and their own ability to help themselves. They acted at the suggestion of Secretary of State Marshall.

While American officials prepared to give the analysis of Europe's plight a long, hard look before taking it up with Congress, the 20,000-word report received praise in London and on the continent—except from the Communists. Russia boycotted the whole idea and contends it is intended to give the United States control of Western Europe.

State Sales Tax Average Is Low

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23. (AP)—Collectors of the state's new two per cent sales tax estimated today it costs Marylanders less than 80 cents a month apiece—on the average.

They reached the figure on the basis of $1,683,000 collected from the sales tax in July, its first month of operation, and the state's population of slightly more than 2,000,000.

The average Marylander, they calculated, pays less than the 80-cent individual tax produced by their mathematical maneuver—buys less than $40 worth of taxable goods monthly.

Money paid on the sales tax is deductible from both federal and state income tax computations, but the collectors cautioned tax payers not to estimate their deductions too high.

Big Majorities Vote To Deal With Crises In Greece, Korea

Russia Is Accused Of "Discrediting"

TRIESTE, FREE TERRITORY, Sept. 23 — (AP) — Radio Trieste announced that Sindicati Uniti had called a general strike in Trieste this afternoon and the British-American Military Government promptly declared the action was "the first Communist attempt to hamper the essential life of Trieste and bring discredit" to the week-old free territory.

In order to combat the tactics of the Communist-dominated union the military government said it would take "all steps necessary to ensure that every man and woman wishing to work will be given the fullest protection."

Previous Strikes Called

Sindicati Uniti had called strikes previously in the shipyards and gas works. The latter strike left the city without gas for heating and cooking and brought the number of idle to approximately 5,000.

The military government statement said "it is obvious that agreement is being prevented by certain outside elements who for their own selfish political reasons are attempting to spread the strike."

The statement did not identify the "outside elements," but added:

"The Allied Military Government will take definite action against those present who are found intimidating or threatening peaceful citizens xxx".

Radio Trieste did not elaborate on what prompted the call for the general strike.

Supporters of the Communist-Led Shipyard Workers Union have been on strike since the inception of the free territory. They went out first in protest against the killing of a 11-year-old girl in a machinegun attack on a Communist Club, and later to protest AMG's suspension of six workmen who tried to take over a struck shipyard in the name of the workers by raising a Red flag.

The strike action was extended today by the Municipal Gas Works and the AMG said it was done for "political reasons."

Nationalist Union Opposes

Throughout the strikes the Italian Nationalist Union has opposed the Communist action.

Meanwhile United States Army Headquarters in Trieste awaited a reply from the Yugoslavs on the demand for return of an American officer and two enlisted men who the United States Army said were taken captive by the Yugoslavs yesterday while on mounted patrol duty on the border.

Pfc. Edison L. Lenhart, 20, Southbury, Conn., who said he witnessed the capture of the three while he watched from behind a rock, said the Americans had approached the Yugoslavs for a "friendly chat," and were subsequently taken away at gunpoint.

The three were First Lt. William Van Atten, East Orange, N. J.; Pfc. Earl G. Hendrick, Jr., Arlington, Va.; Pfc. Glen A. Meyer, Edgeley, N. D.

Maryland Reverts To EST Saturday

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP) — Just as most citizens have gotten used to the results of a lost hour, the game is off again—or will be Saturday night, when sections of Maryland still on daylight saving time revert to standard.

Times will once more be the same all over Maryland and vicinity. Subtractions from or additions to hours given on railroad time tables will no longer be necessary.

Setting their clocks back an hour Saturday will give the daylight timers the pleasure of a slightly longer weekend. The effect of the switch-back on added sleep will be minimized, however, by the fact that it will be followed by a Sunday, when an extra hour in bed is not at a premium.

To Consider New Veto-Free Agency

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) —Heavy United Nations majorities steamrollered Russian opposition today and approved American proposals to deal with the Greek and Korean crises and consider creation of a new veto-free security agency.

Over the persistent objection of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, the 55-nation assembly also approved an American-supported Argentine proposal that it debate and suggest revision of the new Italian Peace Treaty. This issue brought a split among the Western powers as well as between them and Russia.

The six votes of the Slav Bloc held solid in the minority throughout on all East-West issues.

Agree On Palestine

Russia and the United States showed upon the same side of the voting on only one issue—creation of a special 55-nation committee on Palestine—and on this the Arab bloc was an adamant minority in opposition.

The air of contest and bitter controversy which marked the assembly's week-long general debate prevailed throughout the voting on 61-item agenda. Finally this was adopted without change from the form in which it had been submitted to the assembly by the 14-nation Steering Committee.

As the debate closed and discussion of the agenda opened, Secretary General Trygve Lie made an impassioned plea for harmony and compromise among the battling great powers. He was applauded unanimously but otherwise got no immediate observable result.

Vishinsky ignored the appeal. Immediately afterward he began a point-by-point attack on American policies. This campaign is expected to continue through the rest of the session as specific issues come up first in committees and then again in the assembly itself. Committee work begins tomorrow at Lake Success.

Here is how the voting went today:

On the American proposal that the General Assembly try to restore Korean independence in view of the deadlock between the United States and Russia—for 41, against 6, not voting 7. The six against were the Slav bloc countries—Russia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Soviet White Russia, Soviet Ukraine and Czechoslovakia.

Britain, France Abstain

On the Argentine proposal for revision of the Italian peace treaty—for 22, against 8, not voting 19. In this case both Britain and France had announced they would abstain and had questioned whether it was wise to seek revision of a treaty so quickly.

On the Greek Balkan row—for 38, against 6, not voting 9.

On the Yugoslav proposal to switch from the Legal Committee to the Political Committee a proposed resolution on returning war criminals to their homelands — for 8, against 33, not voting 4.

On a proposal made by Lie to set up a special committee to seek a solution of the Palestine problem—for 29, against 11, not voting 6. In this case the big five nations— America, Britain, France, Russia and China—all voted for the committee.

The assembly reached its decisions by a majority of the members present and voting.

The American proposal that the assembly consider setting up a 55-nation special security agency was not specifically voted upon. Yugoslavia had objected to this procedure in a speech but Assembly President Oswaldo of Brazil ruled that no formal objection had been made to it. It thus was approved as part of the whole agenda.

Styles Cause Order To Repair Sidewalks

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP) — City Councilman E. J. Leonard has long urged that something be done about defective sidewalks but nothing happened until he brought up the matter of the new long skirts for women.

The long skirts, coupled with the usual high heels, are going to increase the probability of turned angles and falls because of broken or crumbling paving, Leonard explained.

Council immediately passed a motion that all property owners be ordered to repair their walks.

NLRB Issues First Complaint Of Taft-Hartley Act Violation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 — (AP) — The Office of the General Counsel National Labor Relations Board issued its first complaint under the Taft-Hartley Act today, accusing an International Typographical Union local in Baltimore of refusing to bargain with an employer.

Ross M. Madden, NLRB Regional Director, issued the complaint. It charged the Baltimore Typographical Union Number 12 with refusal to bargain with 22 companies in the Graphic Arts League of Baltimore by imposing conditions of employment instead of negotiating a contract.

The Baltimore printers followed the policy adopted by the ITU convention in Cleveland at which printers decided to make no more contracts with newspapers or with commercial printing establishments. Such a policy would circumvent the ban on closed shops under the Taft-Hartley Act.

A hearing was scheduled for October 6 in Baltimore before a trial examiner. Meanwhile, the ITU and the Graphic Arts League will have opportunity to answer the complaint.

Madden said the union has been "engaging in unfair labor practices" with the meaning of the Act.

He also said the union "restrained and coerced" the companies in the exercise of rights kuaranteed under the Act.

"Automatic Airplane" May Try Another Record Run In 2 Weeks

BRIZE NORTON, ENGLAND, Sept. 23 (AP) — Col James M. Gillespie said today the United States Army Air Forces' "automatic airplane" may try another record run in about two weeks flying homeward via the Azores.

Gillespie, commander of the four-engine Skymaster that flew the Atlantic and landed in England without a pilot's hand at the controls, was scheduled to return October 6. The plane set a record in its 2,400-mile flight to a Royal Air Force field here yesterday controlled only by a complicated "electric brain."

Gillespie said he hoped to return by the longer Azores route and was awaiting instructions from Washington as to whether another test of the Skymaster's trail-blazing control gadgets would be conducted.

The Skymaster, named the Robert E. Lee by its Texan commander and Alabama-born test pilot, Capt. Thomas J. Wells, will be demonstrated for the next two weeks to the RAF.

RAF pilots and technicians will be shown the intricacies of the "electronic brain" that controls the plane on the take-off, "reads" the flight instruments, follow the prescribed courses, clicks off the miles and lands the plane automatically.

"We just sat around, drinking coffee and the 'brain' did the rest," Gillespie said in describing the 12-hour and five minute flight from Stephensville, Nfld.

Dr. Rudolf Paul Escapes To West Zone Of Germany

Reported Carrying Soviet Plan Papers

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP) — The French-licensed newspaper Kurier said today that Dr. Rudolf Paul, former Minister President of Soviet-occupied Thuringia, had escaped to a Western Zone with all his documents, including a projected constitution for a Soviet Socialist Republic of East Germany.

The constitution, said the Kurier, had been prepared for presentation to German voters of the Russian Zone in the event the London Foreign Ministers Council fails to iron out differences on the German Peace Treaty in November.

"These documents which the former government head of Thuringia brought with him are now in a safe place in a western zone," Der Kurier said, adding that this explained the discretion in some quarters which were "prepared to explode it when it pleases them."

Earlier today the British-licensed Telegraf reported that Paul, who vanished from his capital at Weimar on Sept. 1, leaving his automobile near the American and British borders, was living near Bad Nauheim in the American Zone. The newspaper quoted him as saying he had fled because of demands on him which "conflicted with conscientious sense of responsibility."

American Army Intelligence Officials at Frankfurt denied any knowledge of him, saying, "that's a hot potato and we have no part of it. It is a political matter."

Dispatches from Frankfurt said another German official from the Soviet Zone, Heinrich Mertens, former Mayor of Jena, who disappeared a few days after Paul, had arrived in Frankfurt. His friends quoted him as saying he had fled because he feared arrest by the Russians.

His friends quoted him as saying that as a member of the Liberal Democratic Party he had been bitterly attacked by the Soviet-Sponsored Socialist Unity Party until he received a tip he was to be arrested. He then sent his wife, five children and a servant by different routes to the American Zone where he joined them.

American officials had no comment on his status.

20 Gambling Cases Removed For Trial

LEONARDTOWN, Sept. 23 (AP) — Twenty gambling cases were transferred tonight for trial in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, after State's Attorney C. Henry Camalier said he could not obtain "fair and impartial trials" in the St. Mary's County Court here.

Judge John B. Gray Jr., announced the transfer after remarking:

"It appears that some members of the jury are simply not willing to convict on the most incontrovertible proof of violations."

Most of the cases involved charges of illegal possession of slot machines, brought against St. Mary's County residents.

The only conviction in three cases heard out of 25 gambling indictments was approved tonight when Judge Gray imposed a $300 fine against John King of Lexington Park, convicted by the jury last week.

Masons Urged To Study Democracy And Its Principles

Johnson Says Russia Outlaws Freemasonry

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23 (AP)—Masons of the world were urged today by Dr. Melvin M. Johnson of Boston, to study how Communism, Fascism, and Socialism compare with Democracy and then to "awake into activitiy to recognize, disseminate and vindicate those fundamental principles of human relationships upon which rest liberty, justice, neighborliness and peace."

Johnson, Sovereign Grand Commander, Supreme Council, 33rd Degree Masons, told the 135th annual meeting of the order that "Free Masonry of the 18th century was the most potent single factor in bringing Democracy to the fore as a basis of government."

He said that unless Masons "awake into activity x x x we shall degenerate into a society of spectators who sit by the side of the road and watch the world go by," and asked: "Is free masonry a society of sitters?"

Johnson declared the impression that the English Grand Lodge constitutions of 225 years ago "forbade and still forbids consideration of and participation by our fraternity in public affairs" was wrong.

He said that while the fraternity renounced "the use of pressure and even discussion where honest differences of opinion as to the best form of particular legislation exist to make the principle effective, that should not be interpreted as to silence our voice x x x to defeat those which tend to destroy the happiness and welfare of mankind."

The Supreme Council of the Northern Jurisdiction now has a membership of 323,216 Thirty-Second Degree Masons in the 15 northeastern states, a record number, Johnson said.

The grand commander added that freemasonry had been outlawed in Russia and crushed in Spain and Portugal.

Benton Submits His Resignation To Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (WEDNESDAY) (INS — The Washington Post said today that Assistant Secretary of State William Benton has submitted his resignation to President Truman.

The State Department had no immediate comment.

Taft Says Labor Act Supporters Deserve Gratitude

Delivers Address In Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23 (AP)—Answering the challenge of organized labor, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asserted tonight that every member of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act—Democrat and Republican alike—deserves the "gratitude" of the nation.

In a bristling answer to what he characterized as a labor campaign of "propaganda and vituperation," Taft brought his presidential pulse-taking tour to the Pacific Northwest by declaring in a speech prepared for delivery before a Republican audience:

"Every man who voted for the law is entitled to the gratitude of those who wish to maintain a government without special privilege, and with liberty and justice to all."

As originally released to reporters, the statement said the act's backers in Congress were entitled to "popular support." This was amended to "gratitude" because Taft's aides said the political implications went beyond Taft's meaning.

The Senator, they said, did not feel political support, over and beyond party lines, should hinge on any single issue. Taft himself has repeatedly urged the election of a Republican Congress.

In a major address before the combined Republican clubs of King County, Taft recailed the bi-partisan majority in Congress which over-rode the presidential veto of the Taft-Hartley Act.

"More than half of all the Democratic members of Congress voted to override," he said.

"There would have been no such vote if Congressmen and Senators had not known that their constituents were insisting upon a labor bill.

"The violent propaganda of the labor unions shows that either they do not know what is in the bill or they are deliberately deceiving their members.

Taft said the act constituted a "bill or rights" for union members, and that the right to strike was prohibited only where the welfare of the nation itself was at stake.

Dr. Rudolf Paul Escapes To West Zone Of Germany

Reported Carrying Soviet Plan Papers

BERLIN, Sept. 23 (AP) — The French-licensed newspaper Kurier said today that Dr. Rudolf Paul, former Minister President of Soviet-occupied Thuringia, had escaped to a Western Zone with all his documents, including a projected constitution for a Soviet Socialist Republic of East Germany.

The constitution, said the Kurier, had been prepared for presentation to German voters of the Russian Zone in the event the London Foreign Ministers Council fails to iron out differences on the German Peace Treaty in November.

"These documents which the former government head of Thuringia brought with him are now in a safe place in a western zone," Der Kurier said, adding that this explained the discretion in some quarters which were "prepared to explode it when it pleases them."

Earlier today the British-licensed Telegraf reported that Paul, who vanished from his capital at Weimar on Sept. 1, leaving his automobile near the American and British borders, was living near Bad Nauheim in the American Zone. The newspaper quoted him as saying he had fled because of demands on him which "conflicted with conscientious sense of responsibility."

American Army Intelligence Officials at Frankfurt denied any knowledge of him, saying, "that's a hot potato and we have no part of it. It is a political matter."

Dispatches from Frankfurt said another German official from the Soviet Zone, Heinrich Mertens, former Mayor of Jena, who disappeared a few days after Paul, had arrived in Frankfurt. His friends quoted him as saying he had fled because he feared arrest by the Russians.

His friends quoted him as saying that as a member of the Liberal Democratic Party he had been bitterly attacked by the Soviet-Sponsored Socialist Unity Party until he received a tip he was to be arrested. He then sent his wife, five children and a servant by different routes to the American Zone where he joined them.

American officials had no comment on his status.

20 Gambling Cases Removed For Trial

LEONARDTOWN, Sept. 23 (AP) — Twenty gambling cases were transferred tonight for trial in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, after State's Attorney C. Henry Camalier said he could not obtain "fair and impartial trials" in the St. Mary's County Court here.

Judge John B. Gray Jr., announced the transfer after remarking:

"It appears that some members of the jury are simply not willing to convict on the most incontrovertible proof of violations."

Most of the cases involved charges of illegal possession of slot machines, brought against St. Mary's County residents.

The only conviction in three cases heard out of 25 gambling indictments was approved tonight when Judge Gray imposed a $300 fine against John King of Lexington Park, convicted by the jury last week.

Injured In Explosion

EDGEWOOD, Md., Sept. 23 (AP) — Two civilian employes were injured today in an explosion in one of the plants of the Army's Chemical Center here.

Public relations officers listed the two as Philip Luongo of Edgewood and Lester H. Blevins of Darlington, Md.

Masons Urged To Study Democracy And Its Principles

Johnson Says Russia Outlaws Freemasonry

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23 (AP)—Masons of the world were urged today by Dr. Melvin M. Johnson of Boston, to study how Communism, Fascism, and Socialism compare with Democracy and then to "awake into activity to recognize, disseminate and vindicate those fundamental principles of human relationships upon which rest liberty, justice, neighborliness and peace."

Johnson, Sovereign Grand Commander, Supreme Council, 33rd Degree Masons, told the 135th annual meeting of the order that "Free Masonry of the 18th century was the most potent single factor in bringing Democracy to the fore as a basis of government."

He said that unless Masons "awake into activity x x x we shall degenerate into a society of spectators who sit by the side of the road and watch the world go by," and asked: "Is free masonry a society of sitters?"

Johnson declared the impression that the English Grand Lodge constitutions of 225 years ago "forbade and still forbids consideration of and participation by our fraternity in public affairs" was wrong.

He said that while the fraternity renounced "the use of pressure and even discussion where honest differences of opinion as to the best form of particular legislation exist to make the principle effective, that should not be interpreted as to silence our voice x x x to defeat those which tend to destroy the happiness and welfare of mankind."

The Supreme Council of the Northern Jurisdiction now has a membership of 323,216 Thirty-Second Degree Masons in the 15 northeastern states, a record number, Johnson said.

The grand commander added that freemasonry had been outlawed in Russia and crushed in Spain and Portugal.

Benton Submits His Resignation To Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (WEDNESDAY) (INS — The Washington Post said today that Assistant Secretary of State William Benton has submitted his resignation to President Truman.

The State Department had no immediate comment.

The newspaper, in a front page story, said Benton's resignation probably would be announced later in the day and that no successor has yet been chosen.

Benton heads the state department's foreign information program, including the controversial "Voice of America" broadcasts.

The United States blocked one Bulgarian bid for admission to the U. N. on grounds her government ignored human rights and international obligations.

Today's State Department blast reviewed United States attempts in the past three months to see that Petkov got just treatment.

But it said the presiding judge took part in the prosecution, the militia seized two defense attorneys, and many defense witnesses were barred.

Taft Says Labor Act Supporters Deserve Gratitude

Delivers Address In Seattle, Wash.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23 (AP)—Answering the challenge of organized labor, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asserted tonight that every member of Congress who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act—Democrat and Republican alike—deserves the "gratitude" of the nation.

In a bristling answer to what he characterized as a labor campaign of "propaganda and vituperation," Taft brought his presidential pulse-taking tour to the Pacific Northwest by declaring in a speech prepared for delivery before a Republican audience:

"Every man who voted for the law is entitled to the gratitude of those who wish to maintain a government without special privilege, and with liberty and justice to all."

As originally released to reporters, the statement said the act's backers in Congress were entitled to "popular support." This was amended to "gratitude" because Taft's aides said the political implications went beyond Taft's meaning.

The Senator, they said, did not feel political support, over and beyond party lines, should hinge on any single issue. Taft himself has repeatedly urged the election of a Republican Congress.

In a major address before the combined Republican clubs of King County, Taft recalled the bi-partisan majority in Congress which over-rode the presidential veto of the Taft-Hartley Act.

"More than half of all the Democratic members of Congress voted to override," he said.

"There would have been no such vote if Congressmen and Senators had not known that their constituents were insisting upon a labor bill.

"The violent propaganda of the labor unions shows that either they do not know what is in the bill or they are deliberately deceiving their members.

Taft said the act constituted a "bill or rights" for union members, and that the right to strike was prohibited only where the welfare of the nation itself was at stake.

PCA Asks Boycott Of Expensive Meat Cuts

A boycott of all cuts of meat which cost more than 55 cents a pound is being advocated by the consumers committee of the local chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America in its county-wide campaign to reduce the cost of living.

Measures advocated at a meeting of the group Monday night include:

The boycott against expensive cuts of meat, to be publicized through telephone conversations.

Circulation of petitions asking President Truman to call a special session of Congress to deal with the problem of high prices.

Advocated the immediate organization of a co-operative non-profit grocery store to deal directly with farmers and eliminate profit to middlemen. The group named a sub-committee to work on the problem.

Approved in principle a one day a week general buyers strike.

Dr. Robert T. Kerlin, chairman, said the activity is not aimed against the independent merchant who, he asserted, is "victimized by the wholesaler." The next meeting of the consumers group will be held October 3.

Dairymen can eliminate a great deal of their trouble with "off-year" cows by providing their high-producing cows with a sufficient rest period, in the opinion of Ralph Porterfield, Extension Dairyman.

Boy Struck By Car Improves In Hospital

Marshall Earl Iser, 6-year-old son of Marshall P. Iser, Rawlings, who was badly injured Monday afternoon when he was struck by a car after alighting from a school bus near his home, was reported in good condition yesterday in Allegany Hospital.

X-rays taken to determine the extent of injuries were negative, it was reported. The lad suffered possible head injuries and lacerations and abrasions of the head, face and neck when he was struck by a car operated by John O. Maiden, 30, Keyser, as he started to cross the highway to his home. Maiden, a Potomac State instructor, was charged with reckless driving and operating with inadequate brakes.

Production Is Goal And Cure For Europe's Ailments

The 16-nation conference at Paris has completed its report on European needs under the Marshall Plan, and an agreement reached calls for $19,300,000,000 from the United States to keep those 16 European countries going during the next four years.

The Paris group scaled down its original and astronomic estimate of $29,000,000,000 in needs. The scaling dropped the figure, first, to $17,000,000,000. Official Washington believed the $17,000,000,000 was too high; that it took for granted a permanent deficit in European payments of around $2,000,000,000—and who would meet that?—and that it largely neglected the vital problem of European production. What Washington will think of the increase of $2,300,000,000 over that sum remains to be learned.

There is no doubt that Western Europe needs more help. At varying rates of speed, Britain, France and Italy are moving toward financial collapse. The food outlook abroad, thanks to floods and prolonged drought, is dark. There is grave danger, especially on the Continent, that economic collapse will topple over relatively moderate governments and lead to Communism. Americans, who support the Truman Doctrine, would regard that as a crucial threat to their own future.

But the United States has serious problems of its own. Our food supply will be smaller next year, owing to the shorter corn crop. Food prices are skyrocketing (or were until grain exports were slashed). In these conditions no American Congress would authorize sending four or five billion in food to Europe for the next four years. Americans approve the Truman Doctrine of opposing the Soviet drive to the west. But they would not go along with any Harry Hopkins type of schemes to throw billions into "world betterment." The European relief cloth must be cut to fit the pattern of a reduced American food supply and our very real price inflation.

This country has a right to demand something else. There has been too much talk about dollar shortage. The basic problem in Europe is lagging production of food, coal and industrial products. Any future American aid to Europe must require the maximum of effort to raise production. We cannot afford to finance social experiments, like the British reduction of the work-week for miners. We cannot be expected to export coal to a country whose Labor government cannot prevent a wildcat strike of miners, which has robbed the British people of 500,000 tons of coal. We cannot send food to countries whose farmers hoard grain and pour it into black markets.

In other words, any future American aid, must have strings attached to it, all leading toward greater European productivity and European self-efficiency. The threat of Communism following economic collapse is real. But that threat does not require an American policy of pouring millions endlessly down a rat-hole.

Countries of North and South America have agreed on a mutual defense pact, which should deter you-know-who from trying to take in too much territory.

There Is More To Be Done, Mr. President

President Truman reported the other day, in a letter drafted in connection with the thirtieth anniversary celebration of the National Federation of Federal Employes—yep, there is one—that 1,680,000 government employes have been separated from their jobs since V-J Day. He estimated that there are now 2,088,000 persons on the public payroll, compared to a wartime peak of 3,770,000.

It was with considerable pride that the President cited these statistics, for he pointed out that "never before in the history of this or any other nation has a single employer, within such a short period of time been called upon to discharge 1,680,000 persons. He added that on the whole the job had been done "in a fair and orderly manner."

Perhaps the President is right in his belief that his administration accomplished something unprecedented. It may also be true that on the whole the discharges have been handled as well as could reasonably be expected. But the fact remains that there are still more than 2,000,000 federal jobholders which is more than double the prewar total, and it is hard to believe that they are all needed in peacetime.

Granted that the government is performing more services now than it was before the war, it is fair to ask if it is performing twice as many. On this point the letter had nothing to say. Neither did the President so much as mention further efforts to cut down the payroll. Instead it talked of returning career employes to duty.

Congress, it is evident, will be compelled to take a bit in its teeth if it wants the federal establishment whittled down to somewhere near its former size.

More than 800 persons received salaries of $75,000 and upwards in the past year. The old gentleman smiling broadly is their Uncle Sammy.

The Soil Counts

The long-standing argument over whether heredity or environment counts most in shaping the human being still goes on. Probably it will not soon be settled to everybody's satisfaction. But evidence continues to accumulate on the side of those who hold that a good environment can go a long way toward offsetting a bad heredity.

Another exhibit pointing toward this general conclusion has now been added to the record. At Detroit, in a paper read before the American Psychological Association, two psychologists named Marie Skodak and Harold M. Steele reported on the results of an interesting piece of research.

They had made intelligence tests of 100 children, born of parents who "did poorly in school" but reared by adoptive parents described as "above average educationally, economically, socially, and culturally." These tests were carried out over a period of years, extending from the babyhood of the children through adolescence.

The investigators discovered that the intellectual level of these children "has remained consistently higher than would have been predicted from the intellectual, educational, or social-economic level of their true parents."

That says a lot for a good environment.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SUBSTITUTE KIDNEYS

SCIENTISTS have long toyed with the idea of developing an artificial kidney for treating patients with uremia. Attempts along this line have been made since 1913 but there were so many technical difficulties to overcome that the theory never became a reality. The announcement recently by Kolff of Holland that he had devised such a contrivance is encouraging and should stimulate further research in this field.

Whenever the kidneys become incompetent, certain poisons begin to accumulate in the blood. The complication may occur when the structures have been impaired seriously thru Bright's disease, high blood pressure, or as a result of an accident or longstanding obstruction of the prostrate gland. Once the disorder (uremia) appears, it is difficult to control but physicians do everything in their power to eliminate the toxins by stimulating the renal organs to function more efficiently. This is not easy, especially if the damage is irreparable.

More than 30 years ago, Abel tried to combat the situation by removing a portion of the blood, separating the cells from the liquid, and then returning them to the circulation. This procedure was logical inasmuch as the harmful substances were contained in the fluid portion. But the process was not practicable and soon was abandoned. One of the greatest handicaps to the plan was the fact that the blood clotted but with the discovery of heparin and later, dicumarol, this obstacle was overcome.

Thalhimer performed some experiments on animals that demonstrated another method of eliminating the noxious products. He removed the kidneys of a dog and then connected the blood stream of the animal with that of a healthy dog. Ordinarily, uremia would have occurred but in this instance the kidneys of the well animal did the work of both and eradicated the poisons successfully. This led to the first studies with artificial organs and, instead of using another animal, the circulation was allowed to pass throu a cellophone tube that was immersed in a weak salt solution. Enough toxins seeped thru the cellophane to demonstrate the possibilities of the plan.

Kolff's apparatus is an improvement. Here too blood from an artery is directed into a cellophane tube 1 to 2 inches in diameter and 30 to 45 yards long. At one end, it is wrapped around a rotary disk which helps to move along the vital fluid; at the other, a pumping apparatus is placed that brings the blood back into the veins. The tubing is immersed in a special rinsing fluid that contains sodium and potassium chloride, sodium bicarbonate, and glucose (sugar).

To date, the instrument has been used in 25 cases of uremia. Four recovered. Blood studies taken before and after showed that considerable poison is removed. The blood urea level in one instance fell from 704 to 192; in another, from 263 to 89. Since various toxins are responsible, it is conceivable that in the future a machine will be invented that will handle all types and thus cure a higher percentage.

Export-Import Head Against Financing Europe; Defense Boss Favors Navy; Speaker Martin Ponders Presidential Possibilities

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—A red hot battle is being staged behind the scenes between the State and Treasury Departments on one hand and the Export-Import Bank over loans to Europe.

While the State and Treasury Departments have been scraping the bottom of the appropriations barrel looking for a few million here and there to stop revolution in Europe, William McChesney Martin, head of the Export-Import Bank, has been sitting on $800,000,000 already appropriated by Congress.

However, Martin considers Europe a bad financial risk, says that if Congress wants to give away money it should say so.

Army-Navy Still Jealous

Now that he is boss of all the land, sea, and air forces, Defense Secretary James Forrestal already is showing favoritism for his old friends in the Navy.

Forrestal is keeping only his naval and marine aides — Capt. Charles Buchanan, USN, and Capt. Edward Elder, USMC. The Army and Air Corps will not be represented.

Forrestal's public relations post has also been assigned to a Navy man, Capt. Robert Berry, who, himself, thinks the job should go to a civilian, not a man trained to fight.

Finally Forrestal plans to take his navy office staff with him to the Pentagon building, thus surrounding himself entirely with naval personnel, except for a couple of Army enlisted men.

Speaker Martin Muses

Stocky, scowling Speaker Joe Martin bluntly admitted to close friends recently that the "Eisenhower boom has politicians worried." Darkly he added that "an undercurrent for MacArthur" also is rustling across the country and might burst into presidential fireworks. Joe didn't seem too happy about this either.

"What if MacArthur should suddenly step off the boat at San Francisco?" blurted out the earthy, plain-spoken speaker. "Next he would be riding down Fifth avenue. What then? Can't you visualize it? The idea of MacArthur for President could take the country by storm."

"Let me tell you," continued the little man from Massachusetts, "if things get worse in Europe, the people may turn to a military man like Eisenhower or MacArthur."

The Eisenhower boom already has penetrated the grass roots and is gaining strength, Martin continued, citing as his source ex-GOP candidate Alf Landon. "I don't think Alf would kid me," he added.

"I am a politician, and I know how these booms can pick up momentum," explained the Speaker. The Eisenhower boom was not starting too early, he said, and hinted the Chief of Staff might not be so reticent about politics once out of uniform. Eisenhower, Martin agreed, was more popular than MacArthur, but "if chaos should develop," he warned, "the people will look for an iron hand. Then they may turn to MacArthur."

"But what about the bonus march?" asked one friend. "I can't forget how MacArthur ejected those veterans from the capital."

Is MacArthur Too Old?

"The public has a short memory," shrugged Martin. "That was 15 years ago."

"You mustn't forget MacArthur is getting along in age," pointed out another of Martin's friends. "He's 67, if I remember right. Isn't that a little old to be running for President?"

The speaker shook his head: "Some people are 60 years old when they are 90, and others are 90 years old at 60. A man is as young as he feels, and MacArthur must feel young or how could he run Japan so vigorously?"

As for Martin's own designs on the Republican nomination, the man who would be heir to the presidency if Truman should die, had little to say. He admitted that he had outlined a speaking tour which would cross the paths of other presidential candidates, but claimed it was no presidential-scouting trip.

"I started out with two," he explained apologetically as he fumbled down a list of speaking engagements. Then he added: "It would be nice to make this trip a junket. We could stop to shoot pheasants in South Dakota."

La Guardia's Last Visit

In his declining years, Fiorella La Guardia never lost a nostalgia for Capitol Hill, where he began his amazing public career and where, as a fledgling House member, he once astounded his colleagues during prohibition by reading a recipe for home brew into the Congressional Record.

Last time La Guardia visited Congress was just before adjournment in July, when his failing health was sadly apparent. He looked worn and haggard. Representative John Dingell of Michigan, an old friend, urged La Guardia to "take it easy."

"Look here, Little Flower," warned Dingell, "You've been blossoming over too much terrain and your petals are beginning to droop a little. The rugged La Guardia I once knew is getting pretty frail. You need a rest. You ought to slow down."

"I guess you're right, John," the New Yorker grinned palely. "But I can't take time to slow down as long as there's work to do."

End Of Morganthauism; Blunder Keeps Taxes At Wartime Levels

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Morgenthau Plan for Germany proposed, among other things, that "all equipment should be removed from the Ruhr coal mines and then the mines should be closed."! It is to the credit of President Truman that he has partially repudiated this colossal stupidity.

Elliott Roosevelt in his book, "As He Saw It," says: "Father was a proponent of what was known as the Morgenthau Plan, the terms of which called for striking at the heart of the industrial potential without which no modern nation can make war. He found a ready listener to the plan in Marshal Stalin. It is the fault of neither of these two men that these stringent terms have not been followed out."

Well, at untold cost to us in dollars and good will, the recovery of Europe has been prevented for two years by the Morgenthau-Roosevelt-Stalin policy which Mr. Truman, himself, substantially endorsed at Potsdam in July 1945.

Revision of Plan a Necessity

But now "experience has shown the necessity for revision of the plan," as the new directive of August 29 puts it. As General Clay's assistant, Major General William H. Draper, says: "This directive recognizes that a prosperous, stable Germany is essential to the economic life of Europe and is a step away from Potsdam which envisioned a pastoral Germany and a Carthaginian peace policy."

The policy of vengeance, designed to reduce Germany to a "potato patch,' simply collapsed as should have been foreseen by anyone familiar with a similar policy of terrorism toward the South following the Civil War. Without permitting German industry to re-arm for future aggression, and after hanging her war criminals, the level of German production is to be raised, probably not enough, but raised nevertheless. France objects. But American public opinion will not forever pour food and money into both Germany and France because France would forbid Germans to produce the food and goods necessary for their existence.

Writing in the UNITED NATIONS WORLD, Fred Smith, wartime assistant Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, says that General Dwight D. Eisenhower first sold the "Carthaginian' peace policy to Morgenthau who then sold it to Roosevelt over the bitter opposition of Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of War Stimson. According to Smith, Churchill was lukewarm to the plan but was so dependent on Roosevelt that he went along. Mr. Smith says further that Morgenthau wanted to "stop all industrial production and convert them (the Germans) into small agricultural land holders." Roosevelt wanted to "divide Germany into from three to fifteen parts," and said: "If I had my way I would keep Germany on a bread-line for the next twenty-five years." Mr. Roosevelt did not say that either we, or Russia, would have to furnish the bread.

Russia Keeping Us Busy

Eisenhower is also quoted as saying he did not think Russia would want anything "because she now has all she can digest, and she has problems of her own which will keep her busy until long after we are dead." If Eisenhower said this, it shows him to be a poor prophet. Russia is not only keeping herself busy, but keeping us busy, as witness $400,000,000 worth of supplies we are now pouring into Greece and Italy to check Russian expansion.

Churchill, too, wanted to attack Germany via the Balkans — the "soft under-belly" of Europe—rather than across France, but was overridden by Eisenhower and Roosevelt. Many believe that Churchhill foresaw present events more clearly than General Eisenhower and Commander-in-Chief Roosevelt. He wanted to get into eastern Europe ahead of Stalin. Was he right or wrong?

It is not only to Truman's credit that he is abandoning the Morgenthau Plan but that he was big enough to send former President Hoover to Europe to get the facts of its colossal failure. Hoover, upon his return, told Truman: "We can keep Germany in these economic chains, but it will also keep Europe in rags." And us, too. To pay for these blunders, your taxes remain at wartime levels!

European Governments Will Be Lucky To Get Half Of Sum Asked

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The 16 European governments asking for help under the Marshall Plan will be lucky if Congress appropriates fifty per cent of the sums requested.

Likewise, it is unrealistic to assume that Congress is going to adopt any four-year plan. Under the American constitutional system, Congress is in session for no longer than two years and no Conress can bind a successor Congress.

This means that nobdy can make such a commitment by a majority vote of both houses. Even if the Marshall Plan is embodied in the form of a treaty, requiring two-thirds vote of the Senate for ratification, it would require a majority vote of both Houses to appropriate any money for this purpose and, again, no Congress can make a four-year commitment.

The fact that President Truman and Secretary Marshall promise American aid for four years might weigh considerably with succeeding officials but if circumstances change and it appears that the European countries are not fulfilling their part of the program, the decision with respect to continuance of appropriations would rest with each session of Congress.

No Issue of "Isolationism"

The trend of American opinion, of course, is towards granting aid to Europe for rehabilitation and relief. There is a substantial majority of Republicans and Democrats in Congress who favor the principle of American aid to Europe. No issue of "isolationism" has appeared as yet and is not likely to color the debate in any important aspect.

But on the basis of information available thus far, the Marshall program will have hard sledding. The days of "lend-lease" and "blank checks," when all that Europe had to do was ask and the administration handed out billions of dollars, would appear to be over. Such laxity was considered justified in wartime. It is not so readily justified in peacetime—at least not to the satisfaction of a Congress which wants to see facts and figures.

Many members of Congress are in Europe investigating the situation. They will have much to do with influencing the decision of their colleagues. Judging from the rumblings heard in Washington in recent weeks, there is much skepticism about the extent of the aid to be forthcoming.

It is not doubted that the European countries could use up to $22,000,00,000 and even more, but it is doubted whether this amount is necessary and whether more of the total sum cannot be furnished in the way of production of goods by the Europeans themselves.

The hysteria and cries of alarm which have been set up in dispatches from abroad have been harmful to the Marshall Plan. Those who think they can high-pressure the American Congress into appropriating billions just on the say-so of a round table conference in Paris or anywhere else will be disillusioned when the debate starts.

The fears repeatedly expressed in a series of alarms that America must hurry or aid will be "too late," will not accelerate action here. It may stampede the department of state, which shows an inclination to rush the plan through by creating a wartime emergency atmosphere, but it will not stampede Congress.

Special Session for December 1

President Truman will call a special session of Congress for December 1 at the latest, but it is highly probable that the debate will last at least two or three months anyway. There may be stop-gap aid in the form of food relief, but when it comes to direct loans for rehabilitation on anything like the scale of the preliminary report received from the conference at Paris, it is a safe bet that Congress isn't going to be hurried in discussing the report or in taking comprehensive testimony on the subject.

The big obstacle to the adoption of the Marshall Plan may be the inability of Europe to furnish assurances as to what will be done with the money. It will be charged that this is a violation of sovereignty and so on, but the banker who lends money without knowing what the borrower will do with it, or without some method of checking on its subsequent use, is not very careful of his depositors' money. There are some members of Congress— strange as it may seem to the spenders in our midst—who feel about the taxpayers' money a degree of trust quite similar to that which the banker feels about the deposits in his bank. So the European countries might better not start spending the Marshall-Plan billions just yet.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

International Manners

DIPLOMACY used to be the gentle art of saying whatever needed to be said without giving direct offense. The assumption was that wars can as easily be made by words as by deeds and the hope was that wars might be avoided in spite of the human habit of settling a difference by knocking out the opponent's teeth, by the urbanities of language, social intercourse and fine manners. When those who do not understand criticized the "tea-drinkers" of diplomacy, they did not realize what an important function they performed.

Just as international law has been abandoned by the proletarians who currently pass as statesmen, so have they completely discarded diplomacy. Instead of gathering about a table to find a way to peace, they have adopted the rostrum for a breast-beating exhibition of brutal rudeness, not to find a road to peace but to exhibit forensic skill in loud-mouthed ill-manners.

Diplomacy has gone by the board and it is place has come the raucous shoutings of a bar-room argument. No treaty of peace ever came out of that kind of table-beating, although many wars were started by boasting and strutting.

The most perfect exponent of the new method is Vishinsky, who achieved his high position in Russian affairs by managing the liquidation of Stalin's political opponents through legalized murders called purges. He was the prosecutor who drove the greatest heroes of the Russian revolution to make revolting confessions against themselves in the hope of satisfying Stalin's insistence upon personal despotism without opposition, they might save their families.

It is the same Vishinsky who, casting aside even the semblance of public decency, rose in the United Nations forum and let loose flying attacks upon this country, its leading men, its newspapers, its people. Fortunate, he lied without glibness, he shouted without purpose, so that his intellectual dishonesty destroyed him.

For instance, among the American war-mongers this advocate, who has done anything for his sole client, includes John Foster Dulles, an American devoted to peace, whose service to his country, and the author and manager of its bi-partisan foreign policy, saved Soviet Russia in those days when that country was literally eating our bread and using our arms of war to save itself. Had the war been a campaign issue in 1944, had what was then known by specialists been disclosed to the whole American people in the course of a political campaign, the crimes committed in our name which gave Russia its opportunities to dominate so much of Europe, would have been impossible. It was Dulles, as Tom Dewey will admit, who took all discussion of the war out of the 1944 campaign.

My criticism of the bi-partisan policy is that it saved Soviet Russia so that such a person as Vishinsky can come to New York to insult us. The defense of that policy is that it gave this country the opportunity to labor for peace at the San Francisco Conference, at the United Nations, and at the various Councils of Foreign Ministers.

When Vishinsky attacks Dulles, he bites the hand that protected his country in the hour of her greatest need—a peace-loving hand.

Similarly, he attacked the "New York Herald Tribune," a newspaper that while ostensibly Republican has given Soviet Russia all the breaks—even to the extent of bringing upon itself attacks by the American opponents of Soviet Russia who accuse this paper of being excessively friendly to Russia.

And no one could ever suspect that newspaper of seeking a war with Soviet Russia, particularly as its columns have for years been available to those who have steadily sought to appease Soviet Russia.

Yet, it is this newspaper that Vishinsky selects to call a war-monger, to attack and denounce. But that is what he has usually done to his friends, most of whom lie in traitors' graves, put there by the ruthlesssess of a police state whose prosecutor he was. It is a lesson for all those in this country who continue blindly and wishfully to believe that it is possible to continue to do business with a government that has made crass boorishness an ideal of life.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

My Wild Flower Friends

I have always loved flowers, but more so since I have had the opportunity of walking over the same ground from day to day, during the Summer months, and have watched them grow under my very feet. Wild flowers that know just where to grow—and why.

For many years I have tried to compete some domestic varieties with these wild flowers at my Summer camp, but have never had much success. My flowers will die, no matter how painstaking I may be in my care and love for them. But the wild ones bud, bloom and prosper. There are varieties that I have never heard of before. Tiny little yellow flowers, the size of forget-me-nots, little blue flowers that grow up from a blade of grass and brighten the shore of the lake. Then there are small yellow ones, that are related to the orchid family—and most delicate and beautiful they are.

All over these wooded acres are my wild flowered friends. Even the wintergreen that is like a carpet over great areas, has a delicate wax-like flower. And there is another flower that springs up in patches, like a colorful rug, near the shore. It is called Pogonia, snake-mouth; though I would rather have had it given another name, for it is a beautiful pink flower that looks like a miniature orchid. It has a delicate frangrace, with a stem about 12 inches in length. Its pollen is showered on the back of guest insects as they back out of the flower. How very wonderful!

For years I have walked the rocky shores of Weskawenaak, searching for new varieties of flowers and am all the time discovering a new one. I wonder why they were all planted as they are. Each is such a gem in itself. Under the miscroscope they thrill one! Each is a perfect specimen of construction, in form and color. I wonder what this earth would seem like with no flowers in it any place? How they would be missed—yet how few ever give them the consideration they should have—especially the wild varieties.

Only when we are deprived of beauty and things of wonder, do we wish for them. Yet all about us are miracles, and many of them we tread under foot, either not caring, or not knowing. But there is a God-purpose in the heart of every flower—no matter how insignificant!

Production Is Goal And Cure For Europe's Ailments

The 16-nation conference at Paris has completed its report on European needs under the Marshall Plan, and an agreement reached calls for $19,300,000,000 from the United States to keep those 16 European countries going during the next four years.

The Paris group scaled down its original and astronomic estimate of $29,000,000,000 in needs. The scaling dropped the figure, first, to $17,000,000,000. Official Washington believed the $17,000,000,000 was too high; that it took for granted a permanent deficit in European payments of around $2,000,000,000—and who would meet that?—and that it largely neglected the vital problem of European production. What Washington will think of the increase of $2,300,000,000 over that sum remains to be learned.

There is no doubt that Western Europe needs more help. At varying rates of speed, Britain, France and Italy are moving toward financial collapse. The food outlook abroad, thanks to floods and prolonged drought, is dark. There is grave danger, especially on the Continent, that economic collapse will topple over relatively moderate governments and lead to Communism. Americans, who support the Truman Doctrine, would regard that as a crucial threat to their own future.

But the United States has serious problems of its own. Our food supply will be smaller next year, owing to the shorter corn crop. Food prices are skyrocketing (or were until grain exports were slashed). In these conditions no American Congress would authorize sending four or five billion in food to Europe for the next four years. Americans approve the Truman Doctrine of opposing the Soviet drive to the west. But they would not go along with any Harry Hopkins type of schemes to throw billions into "world betterment." The European relief cloth must be cut to fit the pattern of a reduced American food supply and our very real price inflation.

This country has a right to demand something else. There has been too much talk about dollar shortage. The basic problem in Europe is lagging production of food, coal and industrial products. Any future American aid to Europe must require the maximum of effort to raise production. We cannot afford to finance social experiments, like the British reduction of the work-week for miners. We cannot be expected to export coal to a country whose Labor government cannot prevent a wildcat strike of miners, which has robbed the British people of 500,000 tons of coal. We cannot send food to countries whose farmers hoard grain and pour it into black markets.

In other words, any future American aid, must have strings attached to it, all leading toward greater European productivity and European self-efficiency. The threat of Communism following economic collapse is real. But that threat does not require an American policy of pouring millions endlessly down a rat-hole.

Countries of North and South America have agreed on a mutual defense pact, which should deter you-know-who from trying to take in too much territory.

There Is More To Be Done, Mr. President

President Truman reported the other day, in a letter drafted in connection with the thirtieth anniversary celebration of the National Federation of Federal Employes—yep, there is one—that 1,680,000 government employes have been separated from their jobs since V-J Day. He estimated that there are now 2,088,000 persons on the public payroll, compared to a wartime peak of 3,770,000.

It was with considerable pride that the President cited these statistics, for he pointed out that "never before in the history of this or any other nation has a single employer, within such a short period of time been called upon to discharge 1,680,000 persons. He added that on the whole the job had been done "in a fair and orderly manner."

Perhaps the President is right in his belief that his administration accomplished something unprecedented. It may also be true that on the whole the discharges have been handled as well as could reasonably be expected. But the fact remains that there are still more than 2,000,000 federal jobholders which is more than double the prewar total, and it is hard to believe that they are all needed in peacetime.

Granted that the government is performing more services now than it was before the war, it is fair to ask if it is performing twice as many. On this point the letter had nothing to say. Neither did the President so much as mention further efforts to cut down the payroll. Instead it talked of returning career employes to duty.

Congress, it is evident, will be compelled to take a bit in its teeth if it wants the federal establishment whittled down to somewhere near its former size.

More than 800 persons received salaries of $75,000 and upwards in the past year. The old gentleman smiling broadly is their Uncle Sammy.

The Soil Counts

The long-standing argument over whether heredity or environment counts most in shaping the human being still goes on. Probably it will not soon be settled to everybody's satisfaction. But evidence continues to accumulate on the side of those who hold that a good environment can go a long way toward offsetting a bad heredity.

Another exhibit pointing toward this general conclusion has now been added to the record. At Detroit, in a paper read before the American Psychological Association, two psychologists named Marie Skodak and Harold M. Steele reported on the results of an interesting piece of research.

They had made intelligence tests of 100 children, born of parents who "did poorly in school" but reared by adoptive parents described as "above average educationally, economically, socially, and culturally." These tests were carried out over a period of years, extending from the babyhood of the children through adolescence.

The investigators discovered that the intellectual level of these children "has remained consistently higher than would have been predicted from the intellectual, educational, or social-economic level of their true parents."

That says a lot for a good environment.

SUBSTITUTE KIDNEYS

SCIENTISTS have long toyed with the idea of developing an artificial kidney for treating patients with uremia. Attempts along this line have been made since 1913 but there were so many technical difficulties to overcome that the theory never became a reality. The announcement recently by Koiff of Holland that he had devised such a contrivance is encouraging and should stimulate further research in this field.

Whenever the kidneys become incompetent, certain poisons begin to accumulate in the blood. The complication may occur when the structures have been impaired seriously thru Bright's disease, high blood pressure, or as a result of an accident or longstanding obstruction of the prostrate gland. Once the disorder (uremia) appears, it is difficult to control but physicians do everything in their power to eliminate the toxins by stimulating the renal organs to function more efficiently. This is not easy, especially if the damage is irreparable.

More than 30 years ago, Abel tried to combat the situation by removing a portion of the blood, separating the cells from the liquid, and then returning them to the circulation. This procedure was logical inasmuch as the harmful substances were contained in the fluid portion. But the process was not practicable and soon was abandoned. One of the greatest handicaps to the plan was the fact that the blood clotted but with the discovery of heparin and later, dicumarol, this obstacle was overcome.

Thalhimer performed some experiments on animals that demonstrated another method of eliminating the noxious products. He removed the kidneys of a dog and then connected the blood stream of the animal with that of a healthy dog. Ordinarily, uremia would have occurred but in this instance the kidneys of the well animal did the work of both and eradicated the poisons successfully. This led to the first studies with artificial organs and, instead of using another animal, the circulation was allowed to pass throu a cellophone tube that was immersed in a weak salt solution. Enough toxins seeped thru the cellophane to demonstrate the possibilities of the plan.

Kolff's apparatus is an improvement. Here too blood from an artery is directed into a cellophane tube 1 to 2 inches in diameter and 30 to 45 yards long. At one end, it is wrapped around a rotary disk which helps to move along the vital fluid; at the other, a pumping apparatus is placed that brings the blood back into the veins. The tubing is immersed in a special rinsing fluid that contains sodium and potassium chloride, sodium bicarbonate, and glucose (sugar).

To date, the instrument has been used in 25 cases of uremia. Four recovered. Blood studies taken before and after showed that considerable poison is removed. The blood urea level in one instance fell from 704 to 192; in another, from 263 to 89. Since various toxins are responsible, it is conceivable that in the future a machine will be invented that will handle all types and thus cure a higher percentage.

And it's a little embarrassing on a windy day.

You know something . . . I never realized that men had knees too.

But you'll have to excuse me now . . . I have to run down to the tailor and have my pedal pushers shortened.

Export-Import Head Against Financing Europe; Defense Boss Favors Navy; Speaker Martin Ponders Presidential Possibilities

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23—A red hot battle is being staged behind the scenes between the State and Treasury Departments on one hand and the Export-Import Bank over loans to Europe.

While the State and Treasury Departments have been scraping the bottom of the appropriations barrel looking for a few million here and there to stop revolution in Europe, William McChesney Martin, head of the Export-Import Bank, has been sitting on $800,000,000 already appropriated by Congress.

However, Martin considers Europe a bad financial risk, says that if Congress wants to give away money it should say so.

Army-Navy Still Jealous

Now that he is boss of all the land, sea, and air forces, Defense Secretary James Forrestal already is showing favoritism for his old friends in the Navy.

Forrestal is keeping only his naval and marine aides — Capt. Charles Buchanan, USN, and Capt. Edward Elder, USMC. The Army and Air Corps will not be represented.

Forrestal's public relations post has also been assigned to a Navy man, Capt. Robert Berry, who, himself, thinks the job should go to a civilian, not a man trained to fight.

Finally Forrestal plans to take his navy office staff with him to the Pentagon building, thus surrounding himself entirely with naval personnel, except for a couple of Army enlisted men.

Speaker Martin Muses

Stocky, scowling Speaker Joe Martin bluntly admitted to close friends recently that the "Eisenhower boom has politicians worried." Darkly he added that "an undercurrent for MacArthur" also is rustling across the country and might burst into presidential fireworks. Joe didn't seem too happy about this either.

"What if MacArthur should suddenly step off the boat at San Francisco?" blurted out the earthy, plain-spoken speaker. "Next he would be riding down Fifth avenue. What then? Can't you visualize it? The idea of MacArthur for President could take the country by storm."

"Let me tell you," continued the little man from Massachusetts, "if things get worse in Europe, the people may turn to a military man like Eisenhower or MacArthur."

The Eisenhower boom already has penetrated the grass roots and is gaining strength, Martin continued, citing as his source ex-GOP candidate Alf Landon. "I don't think Alf would kid me," he added.

"I am a politician, and I know how these booms can pick up momentum," explained the Speaker. The Eisenhower boom was not starting too early, he said, and hinted the Chief of Staff might not be so reticent about politics once out of uniform. Eisenhower, Martin agreed, was more popular than MacArthur, but "if chaos should develop," he warned, "the people will look for an iron hand. Then they may turn to MacArthur."

"But what about the bonus march?" asked one friend. "I can't forget how MacArthur ejected those veterans from the capital."

Is MacArthur Too Old?

"The public has a short memory," shrugged Martin. "That was 15 years ago."

"You mustn't forget MacArthur is getting along in age," pointed out another of Martin's friends. "He's 67, if I remember right. Isn't that a little old to be running for President?"

The speaker shook his head: "Some people are 60 years old when they are 90, and others are 90 years old at 60. A man is as young as he feels, and MacArthur must feel young or how could he run Japan so vigorously?"

As for Martin's own designs on the Republican nomination, the man who would be heir to the presidency if Truman should die, had little to say. He admitted that he had outlined a speaking tour which would cross the paths of other presidential candidates, but claimed it was no presidential-scouting trip.

"I started out with two," he explained apologetically as he fumbled down a list of speaking engagements. Then he added: "It would be nice to make this trip a junket. We could stop to shoot pheasants in South Dakota."

La Guardia's Last Visit

In his declining years, Fiorella La Guardia never lost a nostalgia for Capitol Hill, where he began his amazing public career and where, as a fledgling House member, he once astounded his colleagues during prohibition by reading a recipe for home brew into the Congressional Record.

Last time La Guardia visited Congress was just before adjournment in July, when his failing health was sadly apparent. He looked worn and haggard. Representative John Dingell of Michigan, an old friend, urged La Guardia to "take it easy."

"Look here, Little Flower," warned Dingell, "You've been blossoming over too much terrain and your petals are beginning to droop a little. The rugged La Guardia I once knew is getting pretty frail. You need a rest. You ought to slow down."

"I guess you're right, John," the New Yorker grinned palely. "But I can't take time to slow down as long as there's work to do."

End Of Morganthauism; Blunder Keeps Taxes At Wartime Levels

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The Morgenthau Plan for Germany proposed, among other things, that "all equipment should be removed from the Ruhr coal mines and then the mines should be closed."! It is to the credit of President Truman that he has partially repudiated this colossal stupidity.

Elliott Roosevelt in his book, "As He Saw It," says: "Father was a proponent of what was known as the Morgenthau Plan, the terms of which called for striking at the heart of the industrial potential without which no modern nation can make war. He found a ready listener to the plan in Marshal Stalin. It is the fault of neither of these two men that these stringent terms have not been followed out."

Well, at untold cost to us in dollars and good will, the recovery of Europe has been prevented for two years by the Morgenthau-Roosevelt-Stalin policy which Mr. Truman, himself, substantially endorsed at Potsdam in July 1945.

Revision of Plan a Necessity

But now "experience has shown the necessity for revision of the plan," as the new directive of August 29 puts it. As General Clay's assistant, Major General William H. Draper, says: "This directive recognizes that a prosperous, stable Germany is essential to the economic life of Europe and is a step away from Potsdam which envisioned a pastoral Germany and a Carthaginian peace policy."

The policy of vengeance, designed to reduce Germany to a "potato patch,' simply collapsed as should have been foreseen by anyone familiar with a similar policy of terrorism toward the South following the Civil War. Without permitting German industry to re-arm for future aggression, and after hanging her war criminals, the level of German production is to be raised, probably not enough, but raised nevertheless. France objects. But American public opinion will not forever pour food and money into both Germany and France because France would forbid Germans to produce the food and goods necessary for their existence.

Writing in the UNITED NATIONS WORLD, Fred Smith, wartime assistant Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, says that General Dwight D. Eisenhower first sold the "Carthaginian' peace policy to Morgenthau who then sold it to Roosevelt over the bitter opposition of Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of War Stimson. According to Smith, Churchill was lukewarm to the plan but was so dependent on Roosevelt that he went along. Mr. Smith says further that Morgenthau wanted to "stop all industrial production and convert them (the Germans) into small agricultural land holders." Roosevelt wanted to "divide Germany into from three to fifteen parts," and said: "If I had my way I would keep Germany on a bread-line for the next twenty-five years." Mr. Roosevelt did not say that either we, or Russia, would have to furnish the bread.

Russia Keeping Us Busy

Eisenhower is also quoted as saying he did not think Russia would want anything "because she now has all she can digest, and she has problems of her own which will keep her busy until long after we are dead." If Eisenhower said this, it shows him to be a poor prophet. Russia is not only keeping herself busy, but keeping us busy, as witness $400,000,000 worth of supplies we are now pouring into Greece and Italy to check Russian expansion.

Churchill, too, wanted to attack Germany via the Balkans — the "soft under-belly" of Europe—rather than across France, but was overridden by Eisenhower and Roosevelt. Many believe that Churchhill foresaw present events more clearly than General Eisenhower and Commander-in-Chief Roosevelt. He wanted to get into eastern Europe ahead of Stalin. Was he right or wrong?

It is not only to Truman's credit that he is abandoning the Morgenthau Plan but that he was big enough to send former President Hoover to Europe to get the facts of its colossal failure. Hoover, upon his return, told Truman: "We can keep Germany in these economic chains, but it will also keep Europe in rags." And us, too. To pay for these blunders, your taxes remain at wartime levels!

European Governments Will Be Lucky To Get Half Of Sum Asked

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The 16 European governments asking for help under the Marshall Plan will be lucky if Congress appropriates fifty per cent of the sums requested.

Likewise, it is unrealistic to assume that Congress is going to adopt any four-year plan. Under the American constitutional system, Congress is in session for no longer than two years and no Conress can bind a successor Congress.

This means that nobdy can make such a commitment by a majority vote of both houses. Even if the Marshall Plan is embodied in the form of a treaty, requiring two-thirds vote of the Senate for ratification, it would require a majority vote of both Houses to appropriate any money for this purpose and, again, no Congress can make a four-year commitment.

The fact that President Truman and Secretary Marshall promise American aid for four years might weigh considerably with succeeding officials but if circumstances change and it appears that the European countries are not fulfilling their part of the program, the decision with respect to continuance of appropriations would rest with each session of Congress.

No Issue of "Isolationism"

The trend of American opinion, of course, is towards granting aid to Europe for rehabilitation and relief. There is a substantial majority of Republicans and Democrats in Congress who favor the principle of American aid to Europe. No issue of "isolationism" has appeared as yet and is not likely to color the debate in any important aspect.

But on the basis of information available thus far, the Marshall program will have hard sledding. The days of "lend-lease" and "blank checks," when all that Europe had to do was ask and the administration handed out billions of dollars, would appear to be over. Such laxity was considered justified in wartime. It is not so readily justified in peacetime—at least not to the satisfaction of a Congress which wants to see facts and figures.

Many members of Congress are in Europe investigating the situation. They will have much to do with influencing the decision of their colleagues. Judging from the rumblings heard in Washington in recent weeks, there is much skepticism about the extent of the aid to be forthcoming.

It is not doubted that the European countries could use up to $22,000,00,000 and even more, but it is doubted whether this amount is necessary and whether more of the total sum cannot be furnished in the way of production of goods by the Europeans themselves.

The hysteria and cries of alarm which have been set up in dispatches from abroad have been harmful to the Marshall Plan. Those who think they can high-pressure the American Congress into appropriating billions just on the say-so of a round table conference in Paris or anywhere else will be disillusioned when the debate starts.

The fears repeatedly expressed in a series of alarms that America must hurry or aid will be "too late," will not accelerate action here. It may stampede the department of state, which shows an inclination to rush the plan through by creating a wartime emergency atmosphere, but it will not stampede Congress.

Special Session for December 1

President Truman will call a special session of Congress for December 1 at the latest, but it is highly probable that the debate will last at least two or three months anyway. There may be stop-gap aid in the form of food relief, but when it comes to direct loans for rehabilitation on anything like the scale of the preliminary report received from the conference at Paris, it is a safe bet that Congress isn't going to be hurried in discussing the report or in taking comprehensive testimony on the subject.

The big obstacle to the adoption of the Marshall Plan may be the inability of Europe to furnish assurances as to what will be done with the money. It will be charged that this is a violation of sovereignty and so on, but the banker who lends money without knowing what the borrower will do with it, or without some method of checking on its subsequent use, is not very careful of his depositors' money. There are some members of Congress— strange as it may seem to the spenders in our midst—who feel about the taxpayers' money a degree of trust quite similar to that which the banker feels about the deposits in his bank. So the European countries might better not start spending the Marshall-Plan billions just yet.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

International Manners

DIPLOMACY used to be the gentle art of saying whatever needed to be said without giving direct offense. The assumption was that wars can as easily be made by words as by deeds and the hope was that wars might be avoided in spite of the human habit of settling a difference by knocking out the opponent's teeth, by the urbanities of language, social intercourse and fine manners. When those who do not understand criticized the "tea-drinkers" of diplomacy, they did not realize what an important function they performed.

Just as international law has been abandoned by the proletarians who currently pass as statesmen, so have they completely discarded diplomacy. Instead of gathering about a table to find a way to peace, they have adopted the rostrum for a breast-beating exhibition of brutal rudeness, not to find a road to peace but to exhibit forensic skill in loud-mouthed ill-manners.

Diplomacy has gone by the board and it is place has come the raucous shoutings of a barroom argument. No treaty of peace ever came out of that kind of table-beating, although many wars were started by boasting and strutting.

The most perfect exponent of the new method is Vishinsky, who achieved his high position in Russian affairs by managing the liquidation of Stalin's political opponents through legalized murders called purges. He was the prosecutor who drove the greatest heroes of the Russian revolution to make revolting confessions against themselves in the hope of satisfying Stalin's insistence upon personal despotism without opposition, they might save their families.

It is the same Vishinsky who, casting aside even the semblance of public decency, rose in the United Nations forum and let loose flying attacks upon this country, its leading men, its newspapers, its people. Fortunate, he lied without glibness, he shouted without purpose, so that his intellectual dishonesty destroyed him.

For instance, among the American war-mongers this advocate, who has done anything for his sole client, includes John Foster Dulles, an American devoted to peace, whose service to his country, and the author and manager of its bi-partisan foreign policy, saved Soviet Russia in those days when that country was literally eating our bread and using our arms of war to save itself. Had the war been a campaign issue in 1944, had what was then known by specialists been disclosed to the whole American people in the course of a political campaign, the crimes committed in our name which gave Russia its opportunities to dominate so much of Europe, would have been impossible. It was Dulles, as Tom Dewey will admit, who took all discussion of the war out of the 1944 campaign.

My criticism of the bi-partisan policy is that it saved Soviet Russia so that such a person as Vishinsky can come to New York to insult us. The defense of that policy is that it gave this country the opportunity to labor for peace at the San Francisco Conference, at the United Nations, and at the various Councils of Foreign Ministers.

When Vishinsky attacks Dulles, he bites the hand that protected his country in the hour of her greatest need—a peace-loving hand.

Similarly, he attacked the "New York Herald Tribune," a newspaper that while ostensibly Republican has given Soviet Russia all the breaks—even to the extent of bringing upon itself attacks by the American opponents of Soviet Russia who accuse this paper of being excessively friendly to Russia.

And no one could ever suspect that newspaper of seeking a war with Soviet Russia, particularly as its columns have for years been available to those who have steadily sought to appease Soviet Russia.

Yet, it is this newspaper that Vishinsky selects to call a war-monger, to attack and denounce. But that is what he has usually done to his friends, most of whom lie in traitors' graves, put there by the ruthlesssess of a police state whose prosecutor he was. It is a lesson for all those in this country who continue blindly and wishfully to believe that it is possible to continue to do business with a government that has made crass boorishness an ideal of life.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

My Wild Flower Friends

I have always loved flowers, but more so since I have had the opportunity of walking over the same ground from day to day, during the Summer months, and have watched them grow under my very feet. Wild flowers that know just where to grow—and why.

For many years I have tried to compete some domestic varieties with these wild flowers at my Summer camp, but have never had much success. My flowers will die, no matter how painstaking I may be in my care and love for them. But the wild ones bud, bloom and prosper. There are varieties that I have never heard of before. Tiny little yellow flowers, the size of forget-me-nots, little blue flowers that grow up from a blade of grass and brighten the shore of the lake. Then there are small yellow ones, that are related to the orchid family—and most delicate and beautiful they are.

All over these wooded acres are my wild flowered friends. Even the wintergreen that is like a carpet over great areas, has a delicate wax-like flower. And there is another flower that springs up in patches, like a colorful rug, near the shore. It is called Pogonia, snake-mouth; though I would rather have had it given another name, for it is a beautiful pink flower that looks like a miniature orchid. It has a delicate frangrace, with a stem about 12 inches in length. Its pollen is showered on the back of guest insects as they back out of the flower. How very wonderful!

For years I have walked the rocky shores of Weskawenaak, searching for new varieties of flowers and am all the time discovering a new one. I wonder why they were all planted as they are. Each is such a gem in itself. Under the miscroscope they thrill one! Each is a perfect specimen of construction, in form and color. I wonder what this earth would seem like with no flowers in it any place? How they would be missed—yet how few ever give them the consideration they should have—especially the wild varieties.

Only when we are deprived of beauty and things of wonder, do we wish for them. Yet all about us are miracles, and many of them we tread under foot, either not caring, or not knowing. But there is a God-purpose in the heart of every flower—no matter how insignificant!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Back in the Twenties, there was a playboy around Broadway we called Matt "Clothes" Howard. Matt was one of the few men I've known who could wear tails without looking like the male half of a dance team.

Billy Rose

His hobby was collecting show girls. The kids today would call him a wolf. But Matt wasn't a wolf. He was a Stage Door Johnny. And there's a difference. A wolf thinks he's showing a girl a big time when he blows her to a movie and a hamburger. A Stage Door Johnny wooed his lady with the knickknacks Mr. Cartier kept in his private vault. And Matt was one of Mr. Cartier's better customers.

Every season half a dozen of the top gals on Broadway would be wearing one of Matt's diamond bracelets, one of Matt's sapphire clips, one of Matt's emerald pendants. Everything but one of Matt's wedding rings.

Then came that Black Friday in October, 1929, when 16,000,000 shares were thrown overboard between 10:00 and 3:00. For days it wasn't safe to walk around Broad and Wall because it was raining brokers, and a fellow might get hurt.

Matt Howard didn't jump, but when he counted up he had darn near one leg over the windowsill. But nobody on Broadway knew. When one of the girls asked him if he had been hurt in the crash, Matt winked and asked her if she had ever heard about "selling short."

For several months, he continued pursuing his hobby—but he collected cuties with the glitter of his reputation, rather than that of precious stones. The gals he squired missed his lavish gifts, but put it down to some lack in themselves.

In April of 1930, Matt got a crush on an auburn-haired dancer who did a little specialty in the second act of the current Ziegfeld show. When he took her to supper the next night, Matt sensed she wasn't very much impressed with him. When he was in the chips he had overcome such sales resistance with a fistful of the blue-white stuff. Now he had to do it with charm. But after a week of the charm treatment, Miss Auburn Hair broke a date with him and went out with a member of the show's male quartet.

This was a sharp knife in Matt's fat ego. He took the last hundred dollars he had been saving for his tailor and bought a diamond necklace. It was the kind of diamond necklace you buy for a hundred dollars—paste. But in an old Cartier box, presented by a fellow with Matt's reputation, it wasn't paste. Miss Auburn Hair thought she was slipping $20,000 around her neck. For the next three months, Matt didn't have to worry about the baritone in the quartet.

Then, one day, their little romance ended. Somebody thought of giving Miss Auburn Hair a screen test, and a few weeks later she was on the Chief with a Hollywood contract in her valise.

On the West Coast, the lady did very well. A writer-director took a shine to her, and cast her in one of the fat parts of the year. She hit like Jean Harlow, and in the next five years Miss Auburn Hair became one of the great box-office attractions of the industry. I'm not mentioning her name out of deference to her present husband.

During those five years, Matt Howard was taking the elevator down. Having been a front-runner for so long, he couldn't stand being an also-ran. He dropped out of sight.

I didn't hear his name again until last Fall, when I was sitting around with some newspapermen who had covered the Broadway beat in the Twenties. We got to chinning about the big spenders of that era, and somebody asked, "What ever happened to Matt Howard?"

"I saw him a couple of weeks ago," said a columnist. "He's living in a flea bag of a hotel down on West 11th Street. Looks as if he has put away a lot of whiskey since we saw him last."

The day before Christmas, I bumped into Miss Auburn Hair at one of those cocktail parties which movie companies are always giving. The big star was in town to see some shows.

We got to talking about old times and I told her what I'd heard about her old beau.

"That's too bad," she said. "In a way, Matt gave me my start. Maybe I can do something to help him."

She wrote me from the Coast a few weeks later. "Dear Billy," the note read. "Remember our talk about Matt? I got to brooding about him after the party that night. I decided to do something to help him make a comeback. As a Christmas present, I sent him back the diamond necklace he once gave me."

B And P Women To Attend Garrett County Meeting

An invitation to the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club from the Garrett County B and P Women was read at the dinner meeting of the former, held last night at Central YMCA, with Miss Anne Tennant presiding. The invitation is for October 9, which will be during National Business and Professional Women's Week. The theme for the program is to be, "We Face the Future," and will be treated under spiritual, political, religious and economic aspects. Members voted to attend.

Last night's program was held in the form of a symposium, with five members presenting international affairs and discusing the United Nations. Participating were Miss Mary G. Walsh, who told of the mechanisms of the United Nations; Miss Margaret Baker, who gave a resume of when she attended the Security Council meeting this summer; Mrs. Mary Stangel told of the Greek problems; Miss Dorothy Shires presented the Palestine problems and Mrs. Cora Perry told what may be expected from the Council.

Miss Walsh explained that 55 nations constitute the United Nations organization, which, she pointed out, is a political effort by political people to do right things by the people of the world. She pointed out that it is the first time the world has ever sat around a table to discuss world problems; that it is a chance to help the world. She stressed the fact that it is not the place of the UN to create public opinion but rather to hear public opinion and both sides of the question.

She also explained that the UN is composed of security council with 11 members; the International Court of Justice, 15 members; and Trusteeship Council. In summing up the talk, she declared that the UN must mean "My World" to the people of the world, and "My Human Race" to the people of the world if the UN is to stand.

Miss Baker, in speaking of her visit to the Security Council, said that the decline of public confidence in the UN is the most serious problem in the United States today. She gave a little of the set-up of the council, and how the representatives sit around a horseshoe-shaped table with the president rotating. The day she was there the Assyrian representative was president and the discussion was the Egyptian problem. The outstanding impression was how the Egyptian representative declared the agreement of 1936 is no longer valid in their country. The British representative responded by saying the agreement would stand. She stressed the hope for mutual agreement.

She next discussed the veto and pointed out how it has kept the Security Council from accomplishing a great deal of good. Three plans are being presented for changing the veto power, and the United States is is favor of limiting it. Her greatest impressions, she said, are the seriousness of members and how small or large nations can present problems and both small and large explain their stand.

Discussing the Greek problem, Mrs. Stangel said the Security Council had more sessions on the Greek problem than on any other problem. The lack of progress was blamed for Greece's greatest trouble, and to illustrate her point she explained that old 12th century methods of farming are still used in Greece.

Miss Shires also visited the Security Council during the summer and spoke on the Palestine problem. The main feature of this problem, she said, was the Declaration of 1917, when Jews were promised homes in Palestine. Their problem now is trying to secure a national Jewish homeland, and declare the act valid. The Jewish people pointed out, she said, that they are asking for a right of self government and the last uprising was due to their trying to establish homes in Palestine again. The Palestine progress and method in agriculture and industry is growing, she said, and the diamond industry is growing by leaps and bounds, with living conditions and standards of living high.

Mrs. Perry made two statements in discussing what may be expected of the United Nations. She said whether it is going to fail or not must not be considered for it must be a success. The people expect too much of the UN, but the main thing the UN is doing and is expected to do is to establish humanitarian agencies and a committee working on an international bill of rights.

She said one cannot expect them to impose a peace, but to expect them to provide a means whereby world opinion will influence nations for peace and thus promote harmony. In closing she pointed out the UN is striving to be a Town Meeting of the World, and it is carrying the world through the first hard steps towards harmony and peace of the world.

The next meeting of the club will be October 7 and will be under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Flora Blackwell and Mrs. Miriam Mirkin, Public Affairs.

Choral Club Reaches Membership Limit

With the enrollment of 45 new and the former members of the Cumberland Choral Society the limit of 100 members has been reached, Jack E. Platt, founder-director, announces. The goal was reached at the rehearsal Monday night.

Practice was begun for the Christmas program. The usual March and May programs will be given this year.

Shirly Jaynes, cellist, a newcomer to the field of professional "concertizing" also attended the American Conservatory and Chicago Musical College.

The Ambassador Quintet will be here January 13. Hand bell ringers and singers of merit the Ambassador quintet is recognized as a group of highly accomplished musicians, each member being a solo artist as well as a master of harmony in ensemble singing. They will present a program consisting of classics and pieces of lighter vein. Their repertoire ranges from Brahm's "Mount Your Horses," Schubert's "Ave Maria," Kerns, "Old Man River," Youmans, "Without a Song," Doles, "Fireflies," James, "Moanin Lord," Barthalomew's "Battle of Jericho," and "Swiss Bells," other selections which never failed to please are "Bells of St. Mary's" and "Sunday Morning in London."

The final program of the year will be April 5, when Robert T. Edgar, presents, "Cyclops of Palomar," a unique non-technical lecture demonstration of the wonder of the world, the great 200 inch telescope on Mount Palomar, Calif. The exciting dramatic story of man's greatest scientific achievement, illustrated with giant models of telescope and mirror is to be presented in forceful dynamic manner by a master story teller. Edgar brings first hand information of the great telescope, through the invention and contributions which his father has made in connection with mounting of the great instrument.

School Program Is Topic At Elementary Principals Meeting

Requisites for a good school were stressed by Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools of Allegany county, in addressing members of the Elementary Principals Association of Allegany County at it's opening dinner meeting, Monday night, at Guntertown. He pointed out that a good community is needed first of all to make a good school and secondly, good teachers and emphasized the need to go beyond the school room activities to develop a progressive educational program.

Speaking on the background or philosophy of elementary school programs, Mr. Kopp stressed that programs today should reach out through the community further than ever before and the need of a dominating thought to make the one stand for things important in education.

Miss Bernice Winner presided at the business session and appointed Mrs. Gertrude Collins chairman for the November meeting and Llewyn Davis, chairman for the January one. Discussing programs for the year, it was decided to share school programs and to devote the November meeting to outstanding points in each school's program. Guidance in the elementary schools will be the topic for the January meeting.

WSCS Plans Activities

Plans for the joint meeting of the Union and Centenary WSCS and a rummage sale by the two groups, were formulated at the meeting of the latter group earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Carl Bennett, Rine Ridge Road. The meeting is to be held November 19, at which time the Nominating committee will report. The sale is to be held next month with Miss Nyna Fey and Mrs. Fred Purnell in charge.

On October 17, the societies will sponsor the showing of two moving pictures at the church, for the women of the circuit. Mrs. Carl Bennett and Mrs. Homer Nelson were enrolled in the society; and announcement was made of the district meeting, Friday at First Methodist Church and of the meeting of the Centenary group, October 10 at the home of Mrs. C. C. Boor.

Bernard L. Loar, 10-months-old son of Bernard and Lora M. Loar, 604 North Mechanic Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for cuts about the face and head after a car operated by his mother crashed against a truck at the intersection of Barrelville and Mt. Savage Roads.

KAISER-FRAZER NOW WORLD'S FOURTH LARGEST PRODUCER of AUTOMOBILES!

More Than 87,000 Kaiser and Frazer Owners— as Production Records Soar at Willow Run!

MORE THAN A CAR A MINUTE

UNITED PRESS NEWS STORY

KAISER-FRAZER RANKS FOURTH IN PRODUCTION

Detroit, Aug. 16 (UP)—The Kaiser-Fraser Corp., banking on a war-born boom in new cars, has amazed automotive experts by turning up as the industry's fourth largest producer.

A little more than a year ago Kaiser and Frazer cars did not exist except on paper. A little more than six months ago the company borrowed $12,000,000 to keep its head above financial waters.

Today production figures show K-F is grinding out some 2,500 passenger cars a week, better than any of the independents and runner-up to the "Big Three"—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

And the company is making money.

Viewed as Miracle

Some observers call it a "miracle" that Kaiser-Frazer has been able to do what few fledgling manufacturers could accomplish—crash into the highly-competitive automobile business and stay there.

Admittedly the company cashed in on an opportune moment—a time which public clamor for new cars was at its highest. In part it disappointed the public by promising to build cars that would compete in the low-priced market and is offering now three models that are listed at the factory at $1,917, $2,152 and $2,550.

But what amazes the experts is that K-F has been able to build autos in volume at all in the face of material shortages that have hamstrung the production schedules of even the long-established manufacturers. It hasn't been easy, but the result is another tribute to canny Henry Kaiser, the production miracle man of the war.

Kaiser seldom comes in direct contact with the clanging production lines at the huge Willow Run plant, but wields power behind the scenes, especially in financial matters, and is consulted on all major moves.

His partner, Joseph W. Frazer, concerns himself mainly with sales of the new product.

Son Captains Production Team

On the scene at Willow Run the destinies of the company are guided by Edgar F. Kaiser, 39-year-old son of the "old man," who has gathered about him a smart production team. The team has come a long way since June of last year when a total of seven cars was turned out.

This June—a year later—the company passed other independents with an output of 12,039 units and is shooting for a goal of 14,000 in August.

Its labor force, containing a high percentage of young war veterans, has grown from a few thousand to 9,000 at the Willow Run plant.

RANKS PREPAR... TELLS HOW JAPS

(REPRINTED BY SPECIAL PERMISSION OF UNITED PRESS)

and production is still being increased as rapidly as highest quality standards will permit!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, 'round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts.

How Kaiser-Frazer Maintains the Quality of Its Products and Services

★ K-F has substantial investments in sources supplying many raw materials.

★ K-F operates its own high-production engine plant.

★ K-F makes its own bodies complete at Willow Run.

Baby Is Injured In Car-Truck Crash

Bernard L. Loar, 10-months-old son of Bernard and Lora M. Loar, 604 North Mechanic Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for cuts about the face and head after a car operated by his mother crashed against a truck at the intersection of Barrelville and Mt. Savage Roads.

Trooper G. M. Rotruck said the baby's head struck and broke the windshield of the car when the vehicle collided with a truck operated by Kenneth R. Bittner, 37, Route 2, Sand Patch, Pa., who stopped at the intersection.

Mrs. Loar, who told state police she was unable to see the truck because of frost on the windshield, was traveling east on Mt. Savage Road and attempted to turn when she hit the truck broadside. She was charged with reckless driving and summoned for a hearing in trial magistrates court tomorrow.

An 8-year-old Borden Shaft girl has been admitted to Allegany Hospital, authorities said, but diagnosis is not complete.

So lovely was her music that an angel descended from the skies to listen to her. She is the patron saint of sacred music.

Flood Control Project To Be Discussed Today

A discussion of whether or not to renew Cumberland's application for federal aid in the local flood control program will feature a meeting of the flood control committee of the Chamber of Commerce with the Mayor and City Council today at 10 a. m.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth District will attend to determine the city's stand on the program, with the view in mind of appearing before the House Appropriations Committee to renew the city's request for aid.

One of the main problems to be discussed with be the status of Ridgeley, W. Va., in the flood control program. Ridgeley's share in the project is estimated at $450,000, while Cumberland's share in the $8,000,000 cost would be approximately 15 per cent.

KAISER-FRAZER NOW WORLD'S FOURTH LARGEST PRODUCER of AUTOMOBILES!

More Than 87,000 Kaiser and Frazer Owners— as Production Records Soar at Willow Run!

MORE THAN A CAR A MINUTE

UNITED PRESS NEWS STORY

KAISER-FRAZER RANKS FOURTH IN PRODUCTION

Detroit, Aug. 26 (UP)—The Kaiser-Frazer Corp., banking on a war-born boom in new cars, has amazed automotive experts by turning up as the industry's fourth largest producer.

A little more than a year ago Kaiser and Frazer cars did not exist except on paper. A little more than six months ago the company borrowed $12,000,000 to keep its head above financial waters.

Today production figures show K-F is grinding out some 2,500 passenger cars a week, better than any of the independents and runner-up to the "Big Three"—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

And the company is making money.

Viewed as Miracle

Some observers call it a "miracle" that Kaiser-Frazer has been able to do what few fledgling manufacturers could accomplish—crash into the highly-competitive automobile business and stay there.

Admittedly the company cashed in on an oppertune moment—a time which public clamor for new cars was at its highest. In part it disappointed the public by promising to build cars that would compete in the low-priced market and is offering now three models that are listed at the factory at $1,917, $2,182 and $2,550.

But what amazes the experts is that K-F has been able to build autos in volume at all in the face of material shortages that have hamstrung the production schedules of even the long-established manufacturers. It hasn't been easy, but the result is another tribute to canny Henry Kaiser, the production miracle man of the war.

Kaiser seldom comes in direct contact with the clanging production lines at the huge Willow Run plant, but wields power behind the scenes, especially in financial matters, and is consulted on all major moves.

His partner, Joseph W. Frazer, concerns himself mainly with sales of the new product.

Son Captains Production Team

On the scene at Willow Run the destinies of the company are guided by Edgar F. Kaiser, 30-year-old son of the "old man," who has gathered about him a smart production team. The team has come a long way since June of last year when a total of seven cars was turned out.

This June—a year later—the company passed other independents with an output of 12,039 units and is shooting for a goal of 14,000 in August.

Its labor force, containing a high percentage of young war veterans, has grown from a few thousand to 9,000 at the Willow Run plant.

(REPRINTED BY SPECIAL PERMISSION OF UNITED PRESS)

and production is still being increased as rapidly as highest quality standards will permit!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, 'round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts.

How Kaiser-Frazer Maintains the Quality of Its Products and Services

★ K-F has substantial investments in sources supplying many raw materials.
★ K-F operates its own high-production engine plant.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Younger Generation Speaks On Most Difficult Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Leslie B., who is 18 and soon to graduate from high school, is struggling with a problem that seems increasingly to confront the younger generation. While it is one of the most difficult problems that young people have to solve, the very fact that it presents itself so much more frequently these days than it did in former years is a hopeful sign of the times, for it means that the most thoughtful boys and girls of today are trying to work their way toward a happier tomorrow.

This problem, which she is trying to solve and which is such a very significant one, she explains as follows:

"I have known D. since I was a child and we always liked one another and got along very well together. As we grew older, our relations with each other changed, too, and now we find that we like each other in a different way. I go out with him a lot and he is very sweet to me. I have known quite a few boys, but none as polite and as nice as D. It is not that we are serious about each other—at least not yet—for we both plan careers, but we want to remain friends and maybe some day, when we are older, we may find we are in love."

And now here's the crux of the problem.

"My parents are against our being friends now that we are older, for D. is of a different nationality and religion from mine. His parents like me and never said anything against my religion or nationality, and I don't like my parents to find fault with him just because of this difference. My two cousins had the same trouble that I am having now. They fell in love with girls of different religions and when they wanted to get married everyone said it wouldn't work out. Both of them have been married two years now and are parents. I think they are the happiest-married in the whole family.

"Maybe I am wrong, but D. and I are the future generation, and I think peace with other nations will only come when we learn to respect one another on equal terms, no matter what our faith or race may be. Do you think I am right in this matter between D. and myself and what is your advice to us both?"

I think, Leslie, that you are very right indeed, and hope you will be able to spread that very fine viewpoint of yours, not only in your own family, but among all the young people with whom you come in contact. If you make it part of your purpose in life invariably to act in accordance with the philosophy you have expressed, you will make an important contribution to the cause of tolerance.

It is perfectly natural for your parents to have doubts about the wisdom of marriage between two young people whose fundamental training has been along very different lines, for such a situation does present its own peculiar difficulties. Such difficulties are not by any means insuperable, however, and you yourself are particularly fortunate in having two examples in your own family of successful marriages under just these circumstances. No doubt these cousins of yours can give you some very helpful suggestions along these lines, if and when you and D. decide you would like to marry.

For the time being try to understand your parents' viewpoint, but, at the same time, stick quietly to your own way of thinking in this matter. If you handle things tactfully, it is quite likely that you can win them over in the end.

Unions Seek Election For Railway Employes

An election may be held in Baltimore soon to determine the bargaining agent for some 600 employes of the Western Maryland Railway who have been represented by District 50, United Mine Workers, AFL, for several years.

District 50, the UMW catch-all union, has "decided to reli ,uish" its rights to represent the firemen, engineers and hostlers of the railway, according to a National Mediation Board announcement yesterday.

The board added it is considering petitions from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Railroad Industrial Union, both independents, to represent the workers.

An examiner has been sent to Baltimore to investigate, the board said, adding that an election would probably be held next week if justified.

RUPTURE
Expert Coming Here Again
GEO. L. HOWE
Well-known expert, of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Port Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Friday, Sept. 26th from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.
The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.
Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.
Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address P. O. Box 5233 E. Michigan St. Station, Indianapolis 1, Ind.

Navy Recruiters Assigned To Area

Two recruiters from the Baltimore Navy recruiting station have been assigned to duty in this area, according to Chief Quartermaster Charles Drinkwater, local recruiter.

They are Melvin C. Marlin, aviation ordnanceman, who will remain here until the new sub-station at Keyser, W. Va., is opened next week, when he will begin recruiting duty there, and Robert G. Belknap, chief machinist's mate, who has been assigned to permanent recruiting duty in Cumberland after serving here on temporary duty last month.

Chief Drinkwater also announced that Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter, will spend the remainder of the week in Baltimore at conference sessions with other Navy recruiters from substations throughout the state.

Two area men acce ted for the regular Navy yesterday are Guddie Anthony Chucci, McCoole, re-enlisting for two years as aviation machinist's mate; and Joseph L. Smith, 171 North Centre Street, seaman first class, who enlisted for three years.

Two members of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division will leave Saturday for two weeks' training duty in Norfolk, Va., according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

They are Raymond Glenn Thomas, 121 East Main Street, Frostburg, and Paul Bridges, Mt. Savage, both apprentice seamen.

Phone Exchange Permit Granted

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, through Edgar D. Vandegrift, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a new exchange at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, with cost estimated at $250,000.

The new three-story building, to be constructed on the site of the old St. Paul's Lutheran Church parish house, will extend 63 feet on South Centre Street and 116 feet on Union Street. The foundation and floors will be of concrete, with brick walls supported by structural steel, and a built-up roof.

The contracting firm is the John I. Vandegrift Company. Taylor and Fisher, Baltimore architects, drew plans for the structure.

Two other building permits and one occupancy permit were also granted.

William Twigg secured a permit to build a one-room addition to a building at 409 Laing Avenue. The addition will measure 10 by 12 feet, with concrete block foundation and walls, and a composition roof. Cost is estimated at $100.

Paul D. Brown, by W. A. Brown, applied to build a one-room addition to the residence on Lafayette Avenue for use as a bathroom. The addition will have a stone foundation, of frame construction and covered with composition brick siding. Work will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $100.

Mrs. Fannie Mulligan, 413 Louisiana Avenue, received the occupancy permit. She is opening a part-time beauty shop in the basement of her home.

How Would You Like to Live in the "Good Old Days"?

★ Back in grandfather's time; during the final quarter of the last century, things were quite different. There were no movies; no airplanes; no automobiles, few bathrooms; practically no efficient electrical appliances. If you contracted diabetes or pernicious anemia, your days were numbered. Your blood just "changed to sugar" in the former, "no water" in the latter.
There was little protection against virulent epidemics. Smallpox vaccine was the only biological on the market. When diphtheria or typhoid ravaged a community, there was nothing to do but wait it out in hope and dread.
Yes, a return to the "good old days" would mean, among other things, the sacrifice of the major portion of the contribution of medicine and pharmacy to your health and well-being.

Unions Seek Election For Railway Employes

An election may be held in Baltimore soon to determine the bargaining agent for some 600 employes of the Western Maryland Railway who have been represented by District 50, United Mine Workers, AFL, for several years.

District 50, the UMW catch-all union, has "decided to reli ,uish" its rights to represent the firemen, engineers and hostlers of the railway, according to a National Mediation Board announcement yesterday.

The board added it is considering petitions from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Railroad Industrial Union, both independents, to represent the workers.

An examiner has been sent to Baltimore to investigate, the board said, adding that an election would probably be held next week if justified.

RUPTURE
GEO. L. HOWE
Well-known expert, of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Friday, Sept. 26th from 1 P. M. to 6 P. M.
Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.
The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap; waterproof, sanitary, practically indestructible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.
Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.
Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address P. O. Box 5233 E. Michigan St. Station, Indianapolis 1, Ind.

Navy Recruiters Assigned To Area

Two recruiters from the Baltimore Navy recruiting station have been assigned to duty in this area, according to Chief Quartermaster Charles Drinkwater, local recruiter.

They are Melvin C. Marlin, aviation ordnanceman, who will remain here until the new sub-station at Keyser, W. Va., is opened next week, when he will begin recruiting duty there, and Robert G. Belknap, chief machinist's mate, who has been assigned to permanent recruiting duty in Cumberland after serving here on temporary duty last month.

Chief Drinkwater also announced that Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter, will spend the remainder of the week in Baltimore at conference sessions with other Navy recruiters from substations throughout the state.

Two area men acce ted for the regular Navy yesterday are Guddie Anthony Chucci, McCoole, re-enlisting for two years as aviation machinist's mate; and Joseph L. Smith, 171 North Centre Street, seaman first class, who enlisted for three years.

Two members of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division will leave Saturday for two weeks' training duty in Norfolk, Va., according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

They are Raymond Glenn Thomas, 121 East Main Street, Frostburg, and Paul Bridges, Mt. Savage, both apprentice seamen.

Phone Exchange Permit Granted

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, through Edgar D. Vandegrift, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a new exchange at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, with cost estimated at $250,000.

The new three-story building, to be constructed on the site of the old St. Paul's Lutheran Church parish house, will extend 63 feet on South Centre Street and 116 feet on Union Street. The foundation and floors will be of concrete, with brick walls supported by structural steel, and a built-up roof.

The contracting firm is the John I. Vandegrift Company. Taylor and Fisher, Baltimore architects, drew plans for the structure.

Two other building permits and one occupancy permit were also granted.

William Twigg secured a permit to build a one-room addition to a building at 409 Laing Avenue. The addition will measure 10 by 12 feet, with concrete block foundation and walls, and a composition roof. Cost is estimated at $100.

Paul D. Brown, by W. A. Brown, applied to build a one-room addition to the residence on Lafayette Avenue for use as a bathroom. The addition will have a stone foundation, of frame construction and covered with composition brick siding. Work will be done by the owner at an estimated cost of $100.

Mrs. Fannie Mulligan, 413 Louisiana Avenue, received the occupancy permit. She is opening a part-time beauty shop in the basement of her home.

How Would You Like to Live in the "Good Old Days"?
★ Back in grandfather's time; during the final quarter of the last century, things were quite different. There were no movies; no airplanes; no automobiles, few bathrooms, practically no efficient electrical appliances. If you contracted diabetes or pernicious anemia, your days were numbered. Your blood just "changed to sugar" in the former; "no water" in the latter.
There was little protection against virulent epidemics. Smallpox vaccine was the only biological on the market. When diphtheria or typhoid ravaged a community, there was nothing to do but wait it out in hope and dread.
Yes, a return to the "good old days" would mean, among other things, the sacrifice of the major portion of the contribution of medicine and pharmacy to your health and well-being.

FISCAL RECORDS GROUP APPOINTED BY LANE

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 23—(AP)—Gov. Lane has appointed the Commission on Uniform Accounts Authorized by the General Assembly to assist in letting the people know where their tax dollars are going.

In naming the commission, the Governor issued a statement saying he was happy his administration was "able to take a step forward in setting up throughout the administrative governmental units of the state—county, municipal and town—sound business practices in the preparation and keeping of fiscal records."

Under the law, the group must meet no later than October 1 and by the same date next year have prepared the necessary forms to be used by all governmental units. These will set up records similar throughout the state.

Those named to the commission were Comptrolled James J. Lacy, State Auditor Daniel L. Clayland III; Deputy State Auditor Carl Wannen; Herbert Fallin, budget director of Baltimore; Charles W. Hatter and Herbert L. Langrall, both of Baltimore, recommended by the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants; Christian H. Kahl, president of the Baltimore County Board of Commissioners; J. Edward Helbig, Oakland, head of the Garrett board, and William F. Messick, Salisbury, head of the Wicomico County Commissioners.

Ashton Hall is supposedly the original of Washington Irving's novel, "Bracebridge Hall." It was built of red brick in the Elizabethan style, by Sir Thomas Holte, in 1618-35. For some time before its purchase by the city of Birmingham, England, in 1864, when it was turned into an art gallery and museum, it was in the possession of Charles Holt Bracebridge, of that city.

Fishing Boats Freed From Greek Red Tape

ATHENS — (AP) — Thirteen American-made refrigerated fishing boats which have been idle for months because of jurisdictional bickering between government agencies will be put into service shortly to supplement the Greek fishing fleet which now is able to provide only 50 per cent. of fish consumed in the country.

The well-equipped modern 70-ton vessels were provided by UNRRA, but it took intervention by the American Aid Mission to get them released from a snarl of red tape that had kept them idle.

Greece has been importing 20,000 tons of fish annually primarily from Turkey.

'Walrus And Carpenter' Debate In Portugal

LISBON—(AP)—A commission has been appointed to go into the question of the edibility of Portuguese oysters. This "Walrus and Carpenter Commission" of experts will study the possibility of improving the oyster beds of the Tagus and Sado river estuaries, the cleansing of the waters which at the moment often render shellfish inedible, and the exploitation of the riches which the oyster trade may bring into the country.

Snakes Eat Flowers, Naturalist Avers

Poland Divides 14,000,000 Acres

WARSAW—(AP)—More than 14,000,000 acres of farmlands which once were included in great estates, have been parcelled out to peasants under the agrarian reform law in the last three years, says the Gazeta Ludowa.

Approximately 10,000,000 acres were split up among 350,000 repatriates and settlers who have made their homes in the western territories. Allotments have varied from 12 to about 30 acres.

Soviet Pushes Tree Plantings

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Soviet Ministry of Afforestation has announced that it is going to plant over two billion trees in central areas of the U.S.S.R. this year.

Varieties include: pine, oak, firs, poplars and limes. Thirty thousand 15-year-old limes are being sent to Moscow from forest preserves to beautify the Capital in connection with its eight hundred years of age.

Certified sed is the only kind of seed from which good yields of potatoes, of superior quality, may be expected, warns R. A. Jehle, State Plant Pathologist. Uncertified seed is never safe to plant. Grade-two pncertified seed is particularly hazardous, since diseased plants usually produce a large proportion of small tubers.

'Walrus And Carpenter' Debate In Portugal

LISBON—(AP)—A commission has been appointed to go into the question of the edibility of Portuguese oysters. This "Walrus and Carpenter Commission" of experts will study the possibility of improving the oyster beds of the Tagus and Sado river estuaries, the cleansing of the waters which at the moment often render shellfish inedible, and the exploitation of the riches which the oyster trade may bring into the country.

Snakes Eat Flowers, Naturalist Avers

SYDNEY—(AP)—Naturalist R. F. Bellchambers of South Australia says snakes will eat anything, including flowers. He says he came upon a black snake that was eating dandelions just as though they were a regular item in snake diets.

Poland Divides 14,000,000 Acres

WARSAW—(AP)—More than 14,000,000 acres of farmlands which once were included in great estates, have been parcelled out to peasants under the agrarian reform law in the last three years, says the Gazeta Ludowa.

Approximately 10,000,000 acres were split up among 350,000 repatriates and settlers who have made their homes in the western territories. Allotments have varied from 12 to about 30 acres.

Soviet Pushes Tree Plantings

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Soviet Ministry of Afforestation has announced that it is going to plant over two billion trees in central areas of the U.S.S.R. this year.

Varieties include: pine, oak, firs, poplars and limes. Thirty thousand 15-year-old limes are being sent to Moscow from forest preserves to beautify the Capital in connection with its eight hundred years of age.

Certified sed is the only kind of seed from which good yields of potatoes, of superior quality, may be expected, warns R. A. Jehle, State Plant Pathologist. Uncertified seed is never safe to plant. Grade-two pncertified seed is particularly hazardous, since diseased plants usually produce a large proportion of small tubers.

Chicago Hurler Settles Suit With Waitress

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP) — The incident of CUB pitcher Russ Meyer's bitten nose was closed today with the settlement of a $50,000 damage suit against Meyer and the dismissal of his $10,000 suit against a blonde waitress.

The settlement was announced by Attorney Sol R. Friedman, representing the waitress, Miss Kay Gidd, 26. He did not state the amount of the settlement.

Miss Gidd had charged the 23-year-old hurler with striking up a conversation with her in a hotel bar, then pulling her hair and causing her arrest when she refused to go out with him. He counter-charged that for no reason she bit his nose.

A disorderly conduct charge against the woman, brought on complaint of the hotel detective, is to be heard Sept. 29. Friedman predicted it would be dismissed.

Colgate Grid Captain Declared Ineligible

HAMILTON, N. Y., Sept. 23—(INS)—James Smyth, Colgate football captain, was declared ineligible tonight for further intercollegiate competition by Athletic Director William A. Reid.

It was interpreted by the university athletic department that the 15 games in which Smyth has already competed during an interrupted college career are spread over four eligibility-counting seasons.

In making the announcement, Reid stated that last year was Smyth's first full season. But he had participated in a war curtailed 1944 season plus brief appearances in 1943 and a few seconds in 1942 as a freshman J-V.

The 200-pound center left for service with the Marines midway in the 1944 season.

Glen Treicheler, halfback was named to succeed Smyth in an election called by Coach Paul Bixler immediately upon learning of Smyth's ineligibility.

Jackie Robinson Gets Many Gifts As Dodgers Win

Joe Hatten Masters New York Giants, 6-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22 — (AP) — Brooklyn celebrated its newly-clinched National League championship before the home run folks today, clubbing the New York Giants, 6-1, on Jackie Robinson day. St. Louis had eliminated itself from any mathematical chance last night by bowing to Chicago.

With the pressure off, the Dodgers had little trouble snapping their three-game losing streak as Joe Hatten warmed up in impressive style with a five-inning stint during which he allowed only three hits including Bobby Thomson's first-inning homer, his 28th, running the Giants' consecutive game homer streak to 19. Dan Bankhead finished up the game for the Brooks.

Robinson, who was given a new automobile, a television set, a $500 watch, an inter-racial goodwill plaque and cash gifts before the game, went hitless in two trips before he was replaced by Ed Stevens, a rookie from Montreal. Box:

CINCINNATI, Sept. 23 (AP)—Scoring all their runs in the fourth inning, the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 7-2, before 1,311 fans today as Hank Wyse turned in a six-hitter for his sixth victory of the year. Cincinnati needs one victory to clinch fifth place in the standings.

Bill Nicholson started off the Cubs' seven-hit splurge in the fourth with his 25th homer of the year into the right field bleachers. Andy Pafko drove in three runs with a base cleaning double to center.

The losing pitcher was Johnny Vander Meer, whose three-game winning streak was snapped as the Cubs pounded him for 12 hits in 3⅓ innings he toiled. Box:

By PAT ROBINSON

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—(INS)—There will be no shortage of beef among most of our leading college football teams in the east this season.

This is especially true among the independents — as distinguished from the so-called IVY leaguers. Here and there it is possible to find a linesman under 200 pounds but for the most part these midgets are tossed back until they get a chance to reach their full growth.

Holy Cross, for example, has a line that averages 220 from wing to wing and these lads are mobile as well as hefty. John Di Gangi, a guard, scales an even 260.

But Holy Cross is by no means the only team boasting a set of behemoths. Boston College, Penn State, Villanova, Temple and others all run strongly to beef on the hoof.

Some of these are looking forward to unbeaten seasons and it may be that one or more of them could beat the best of the IVY leaguers, Penn and Navy included.

With the football season just starting it is, of course, too early to get a real line on their respective merits. But advance dope indicates that the leading powerhouses will be Penn State, Holy Cross, Boston College and Villanova.

Villanova expects to knock off Army and any team with confidence in such an ambitious undertaking must have something better than fair.

We hear that Pittsburgh, Temple, Syracuse, Georgetown, Rutgers, Boston University, Colgate and Duquesne belong in a second group. However, we don't know yet just how good some of these may be and perhaps one or more of them belong to the top flight.

Behind these come N.Y.U. and Fordham, once listed among the gridiron great, Bucknell, Rochester, Lafayette, Lehigh and teams of similar caliber.

I hope nobody will take these as arbitrary listings. Far from it. They are merely an indication of what the teams have as learned from various coaches and campuses.

Some of these teams are building for the future and already have shown distinct power. This is especially true of Rutgers and Boston University which are trying to make the big time.

Rutgers has a veteran squad headed by Frank Burns, a fine quarterback. The Jerseyites are not backward about predicting a victory over a very strong Co-

Southern Quints To Cancel Games With American U.

Hillock, Crockett Transfer Is Reason

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 23—(AP)—The transfer to American University of Donald Hillock and Reggie Crockett, star performers on last season's Washington and Lee basketball team, has led to the cancellation of a cage contest scheduled for Dec. 6 between American U. and the college of William and Mary.

W. & M. Athletic Director R. N. McCray said today that the December tilt was called off "several weeks ago" when it was learned at Williamsburg that A. U. planned to use Crockett and Hillock, both of whom would be ineligible to play against William and Mary under Southern Conference rules.

"I feel like we don't want to play boys at one school one year and at another the next," McCray declared, adding:

"Why, we like to have Charlie Justice play football for us this year."

Two other Old Dominion "big six" colleges—the University of Virginia and Virginia Tech—indicated today that games listed with the A. U. quint would be cancelled.

West Virginia Golfers Beat Virginia, 47-40

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 23 (AP)—For the first time since 1936, linksmen from West Virginia defeated Virginia here today 47 to 40 in inter-state match play held over the 18-hole route as a part of the 15th annual Virginias Seniors Golf tournament.

The deciding points in the heated competition for those over 50 years of age were counted by a team of Federal Judge Ben Moore of Charleston and P. H. Koblegard of Clarksburg in the next to last match.

lumbia team in the opener Saturday.

Boston University is coming along fast with high hopes for John Toner, a sophomore back, who is said to be a ball of fire.

Syracuse is something of a dark-horse and one that could surprise. The line is big but green and the backs on the small side.

The first game or two will go far to decide the fate of all of them. But as of now it would appear that the big shots are Penn State, Holy Cross, Boston College and Villanova.

Dodgers Won Pennant At Midnight, Both Winners Backed Into Series

Flock Of Unofficial Records Established

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—The world series won't start until 1:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 30, in New York's Yankee Stadium but already a flock of unofficial records have been established.

It is the first time that both contestants—in the this case, the Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers—have backed into the series.

The Yanks clinched their American League pennant on Sept. 15 while seated in their locker room as the Chicago White Sox trounced the Red Sox, eliminating the Boston club from the race.

Last night the Dodgers became National League Champions as the Chicago Cubs stopped the St. Louis Cardinals.

In each case, the newly crowned champions were idle on their coronation day, the Sept. 15 rain washing out the Yanks' game with the St. Louis Browns and the schedule giving the Brooklyns a vacation.

The schedule, which had the Cardinals and Cubs playing a night contest, also made the Dodgers the first pennant winner to be crowned at midnight.

The series also is the first since Kid Gleason and his Chicago White Sox clashed with Pat Moran's Cincinnati Reds in 1919 in which a pair of freshman managers will oppose each other. Stanley (Bucky) Harris was drafted from the Yank business office to direct the field play of the team last winter. Burt Shotton was drafted from his Florida front porch by Branch Rickey at the start of the season to direct the Dodgers after Commissioner A. B. Chandler had suspended Leo Durocher, erstwhile Brooklyn boss.

It is the first series in which a negro, the Dodgers' Jackie Robinson, will participate.

And it also is the first series since 1940 that is scheduled for seven consecutive days without a break for either traveling or ticket selling. The subway series, with the two parks separated only by the price of a nickel, made travel dates unnecessary.

And it probably is the first series for which one club is returning $3,000,000 in cash to its followers. The Brooklyn officials estimate that the mailed requests for series tickets exceeded the supply by that amount.

Reynolds, Shea Chalk Up Double Win For Yanks

Turn Back Senators By 2-0, 3-1 Scores

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—New York Yankee world series stock soared today as Allie Reynolds and Frank Shea turned in a pair of brilliant pitching jobs in a double win over the Washington Senators, 2-0 and 3-1.

Joe Page, warming up for his customary late-inning job, worked the ninth inning of both games to tie a Yankee pitching mark set by Jack Chesbro in 1904 when he appeared in 55 games.

Reynolds, one of the men under consideration for the opening game role against the Dodgers, allowed six hits in his eight-inning sting, for win No. 19. He walked three and struck out five while blanking the Senators in the opener. Box:

BOSOX SPLIT WITH A'S

BOSTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—After being held to five hits by Phil Marchildon for a 9-3 setback in the opener, the dethroned Boston Red Sox said their 1947 farewells with a 6-5 victory today while splitting a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Athletics.

One of the Boston first-game hits was Ted Williams' 31st homer with none on in the fifth inning.

Lefty Earl Johnson gained credit for his 12th win in the nightcap, although he was yanked in the eighth when Herman Franks set off a four-run explosion with a triple. Box:

RETAINS TITLE—Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, above, retained the title she won last year by defeating Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, 4 and 2, yesterday in the finals of the championship flight in the fall golf tournament of the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Hodges posted a 91 and Mrs. Bowie 98.

Mrs. W. R. Hodges Wins Golf Title

Beats Mrs. G. L. Bowie In CCC Finals, 4 And 2

Mrs. W. Royce Hodges is the fall golf champion of the Cumberland Country Club.

Winner of the same title last year, Mrs. Hodges repeated yesterday by defeating Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie in the finals of the championship flight, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Bowie played badly on the first nine and was five down when the halfway mark was reached. The first hole in the match won by Mrs. Bowie was the 11th. At the conclusion of 13 holes of play, the runner-up was five down and five to go. Rallying, Mrs. Bowie won the 14th and 15th holes but she got into trouble on the 16th and there the match ended.

The champion's score for the match was 91 while the loser posted a 98.

Eight golfers started play in the championship tournament two weeks ago.

In a second flight consolation match, Mrs. C. Griggs defeated Mrs. A. T. Smith, 6 and 5.

Chicago Hurler Settles Suit With Waitress

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP) — The incident of CUB pitcher Russ Meyer's bitten nose was closed today with the settlement of a $50,000 damage suit against Meyer and the dismissal of his $10,000 suit against a blonde waitress.

The settlement was announced by Attorney Sol R. Friedman, representing the waitress, Miss Kay Gidd, 26. He did not state the amount of the settlement.

Miss Gidd had charged the 23-year-old hurler with striking up a conversation with her in a hotel bar, then pulling her hair and causing her arrest when she refused to go out with him. He counter-charged that for no reason she bit his nose.

A disorderly conduct charge against the woman, brought on complaint of the hotel detective, is to be heard Sept. 29. Friedman predicted it would be dismissed.

Colgate Grid Captain Declared Ineligible

HAMILTON, N. Y., Sept. 23—(INS)—James Smyth, Colgate football captain, was declared ineligible tonight for further intercollegiate competition by Athletic Director William A. Reid.

It was interpreted by the university athletic department that the 15 games in which Smyth has already competed during an interrupted college career are spread over four eligibility-counting seasons.

In making the announcement, Reid stated that last year was Smyth's first full season. But he had participated in a war curtailed 1944 season plus brief appearances in 1943 and a few seconds in 1942 as a freshman J-V.

The 200-pound center left for service with the Marines midway in the 1944 season.

Glen Treicheler, halfback was named to succeed Smyth in an election called by Coach Paul Bixler immediately upon learning of Smyth's ineligibility.

Jackie Robinson Gets Many Gifts As Dodgers Win

Joe Hatten Masters New York Giants, 6-1

BROOKLYN, Sept. 22 — (AP) — Brooklyn celebrated its newly-clinched National League championship before the home run folks today, clubbing the New York Giants, 6-1, on Jackie Robinson day. St. Louis had eliminated itself from any mathematical chance last night by bowing to Chicago.

With the pressure off, the Dodgers had little trouble snapping their three-game losing streak as Joe Hatten warmed up in impressive style with a five-inning stint during which he allowed only three hits including Bobby Thomson's first-inning homer, his 28th, running the Giants' consecutive game homer streak to 19. Dan Bankhead finished up the game for the Brooks.

Robinson, who was given a new automobile, a television set, a $500 watch, an inter-racial goodwill plaque and cash gifts before the game, went hitless in two trips before he was replaced by Ed Stevens, a rookie from Montreal. Box:

Bill Nicholson started off the Cubs' seven-hit splurge in the fourth with his 25th homer of the year into the right field bleachers. Andy Pafko drove in three runs with a base cleaning double to center.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—(INS)—There will be no shortage of beef among most of our leading college football teams in the east this season.

This is especially true among the independents — as distinguished from the so-called IVY leaguers. Here and there it is possible to find a linesman under 200 pounds but for the most part these midgets are tossed back until they get a chance to reach their full growth.

Holy Cross, for example, has a line that averages 220 from wing to wing and these lads are mobile as well as hefty. John Di Gangi, a guard, scales an even 260.

But Holy Cross is by no means the only team boasting a set of behemoths. Boston College, Penn State, Villanova, Temple and others all run strongly to beef on the hoof.

Some of these are looking forward to unbeaten seasons and it may be that one or more of them could beat the best of the IVY leaguers, Penn and Navy included.

With the football season just starting it is, of course, too early to get a real line on their respective merits. But advance dope indicates that the leading powerhouses will be Penn State, Holy Cross, Boston College and Villanova.

Villanova expects to knock off Army and any team with confidence in such an ambitious undertaking must have something better than fair.

We hear that Pittsburgh, Temple, Syracuse, Georgetown, Rutgers, Boston University, Colgate and Duquesne belong in a second group. However, we don't know yet just how good some of these may be and perhaps one or more of them belong to the top flight.

Behind these come N.Y.U. and Fordham, once listed among the gridiron great, Bucknell, Rochester, Lafayette, Lehigh and teams of similar caliber.

I hope nobody will take these as arbitrary listings. Far from it. They are merely an indication of what the teams have as learned from various coaches and campuses.

Some of these teams are building for the future and already have shown distinct power. This is especially true of Rutgers and Boston University which are trying to make the big time.

Rutgers has a veteran squad headed by Frank Burns, a fine quarterback. The Jerseyites are not backward about predicting a victory over a very strong Columbia team in the opener Saturday.

Boston University is coming along fast with high hopes for John Toner, a sophomore back, who is said to be a ball of fire.

Syracuse is something of a dark-horse and one that could surprise. The line is big but green and the backs on the small side.

The first game or two will go far to decide the fate of all of them. But as of now it would appear that the big shots are Penn State, Holy Cross, Boston College and Villanova.

Southern Quints To Cancel Games With American U.

Hillock, Crockett Transfer Is Reason

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 23—(AP)—The transfer to American University of Donald Hillock and Reggie Crockett, star performers on last season's Washington and Lee basketball team, has led to the cancellation of a cage contest scheduled for Dec. 6 between American U. and the college of William and Mary.

W. & M. Athletic Director R. N. McCray said today that the December tilt was called off "several weeks ago" when it was learned at Williamsburg that A. U. planned to use Crockett and Hillock, both of whom would be ineligible to play against William and Mary under Southern Conference rules.

"I feel like we don't want to play boys at one school one year and at another the next," McCray declared, adding:

"Why, we like to have Charlie Justice play football for us this year."

Two other Old Dominion "big six" colleges—the University of Virginia and Virginia Tech—indicated today that games listed with the A. U. quint would be cancelled.

West Virginia Golfers Beat Virginia, 47-40

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 23 (AP)—For the first time since 1936, linksmen from West Virginia defeated Virginia here today 47 to 40 in inter-state match play held over the 18-hole route as a part of the 15th annual Virginias Seniors Golf tournament.

The deciding points in the heated competition for those over 50 years of age were counted by a team of Federal Judge Ben Moore of Charleston and P. H. Koblegard of Clarksburg in the next to last match.

Dodgers Won Pennant At Midnight, Both Winners Backed Into Series

Flock Of Unofficial Records Established

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—The world series won't start until 1:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 30, in New York's Yankee Stadium but already a flock of unofficial records have been established.

It is the first time that both contestants—in the this case, the Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers—have backed into the series.

The Yanks clinched their American League pennant on Sept. 15 while seated in their locker room as the Chicago White Sox trounced the Red Sox, eliminating the Boston club from the race.

Last night the Dodgers became National League Champions as the Chicago Cubs stopped the St. Louis Cardinals.

In each case, the newly crowned champions were idle on their coronation day, the Sept. 15 rain washing out the Yanks' game with the St. Louis Browns and the schedule giving the Brooklyns a vacation.

The schedule, which had the Cardinals and Cubs playing a night contest, also made the Dodgers the first pennant winner to be crowned at midnight.

The series also is the first since Kid Gleason and his Chicago White Sox clashed with Pat Moran's Cincinnati Reds in 1919 in which a pair of freshman managers will oppose each other. Stanley (Bucky) Harris was drafted from the Yank business office to direct the field play of the team last winter. Burt Shotton was drafted from his Florida front porch by Branch Rickey at the start of the season to direct the Dodgers after Commissioner A. B. Chandler had suspended Leo Durocher, erstwhile Brooklyn boss.

It is the first series in which a negro, the Dodgers' Jackie Robinson, will participate.

And it also is the first series since 1940 that is scheduled for seven consecutive days without a break for either traveling or ticket selling. The subway series, with the two parks separated only by the price of a nickel, made travel dates unnecessary.

And it probably is the first series for which one club is returning $3,000,000 in cash to its followers. The Brooklyn officials estimate that the mailed requests for series tickets exceeded the supply by that amount.

Lacy's Delicatets Make Series Sweep

Lacy's Delicatets walloped the Century Athletic Club of Frostburg in the final game of a home-and-home softball series yesterday at Taylor Field by the score of 14-8.

The local City League champions jumped away to a 4-2 lead in the first inning but the visitors tied it up at 4-4 in the second and forged to the front at 5-4 in the third. Then the Cumberland team made ten runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth frames to put the game on ice.

Vernon Penner had a perfect day at bat for the Delicatets with four hits, one being a circuit drive. Jackson and R. Middleton topped the Frostburg attack with a homer and two singles each.

Lacy's won the opener in Frostburg Sunday by the score of 6-2. Score:

Reynolds, Shea Chalk Up Double Win For Yanks

Turn Back Senators By 2-0, 3-1 Scores

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—New York Yankee world series stock soared today as Allie Reynolds and Frank Shea turned in a pair of brilliant pitching jobs in a double win over the Washington Senators, 2-0 and 3-1.

Joe Page, warming up for his customary late-inning job, worked the ninth inning of both games to tie a Yankee pitching mark set by Jack Chesbro in 1904 when he appeared in 55 games.

Reynolds, one of the men under consideration for the opening game role against the Dodgers, allowed six hits in his eight-inning sting, for win No. 19. He walked three and struck out five while blanking the Senators in the opener. Box:

Miss Suggs drew Michigan's Sally Sessions, former state champion from Muskegon, for tomorrow's second round pairings.

Western Maryland Points For Harvard

WESTMINSTER, Md., Sept. 23—(AP)—Passing and kicking under pressure got top billing on the practice field today for Western Maryland College football players, who have only two days' scrimmage to go before their game against Harvard Saturday at Cambridge, Mass.

Carlo Ortenzi, 185-lb. guard from Baltimore who was sidelined with leg injuries last week, was in uniform for today's workout but took no part in hard contact.

Still fighting for the two guard positions and showing nearly equal ability were four lettermen and newcomer Tilo Margarita of Medford, Mass. The lettermen included Bill Anderson and Ortenzi of Baltimore; George Tiavis, Glen Lyon, Pa., and John Sgariglio, Camden N. J.

Stymie Is Assigned 132 Pounds For Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Stymie, the world's leading money-winning horse, today was assigned 132 pounds for Saturday's mile-and-a-half Manhattan Handicap at Belmont Park.

Pitt To Play Big Ten Teams In '48

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 — (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh will play football games with Purdue, Indiana and Ohio State of the Western Conference next year, Athletic Director James Hagan announced today.

Bucs May Not Amputate Herman From Payroll To Effect Cure

Billy May Get Chance To Finish 2-Year Job

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP)—The surgeons began probing the Pittsburgh Pirate ills today but temporarily kept mum on whether amputation of Manager Bill Herman from the payroll will be deemed necessary to effect a cure.

The men who must decide to wield the knife or give Herman a chance to finish his two-year contract are the Bucco owners, gathered here today for a week-long diagnosis. They already have spent more than a million dollars in an unsuccessful effort to improve the standing of the seventh-place club they took over last year.

Club President Frank E. McKinney said:

"There's no indication of Herman's status being in jeopardy until a full examination of the causes for the club's poor showing is made. Then, wherever the chips fall, there's where they will lie."

He reiterated his recent announcement that he was "bitterly disappointed" in the Bucs' seventh place position but added:

"We didn't expect a pennant winner of a first division club this year. We served warning (to the public) that it would require three or four years to rebuild. You can't build a ball club overnight."

The primary order of business in the current meeting is a review of the farm system, McKinney said, indicating that Herman's case is only incidental.

"I'll talk to Billy sometime during the week," he said.

Koslo, who was to have pitched against the Dodgers today, came up with a spur on his pitching elbow. Rigney, hurt in a collision at second base last Sunday, has an incomplete separation of the right shoulder.

Stymie Is Assigned 132 Pounds For Race

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Stymie, the world's leading money-winning horse, today was assigned 132 pounds for Saturday's mile-and-a-half Manhattan Handicap at Belmont Park.

He will give six pounds to the second-weighted Endeavour 2nd, champion of Argentina, a doubtful starter. He has not gone to the post since the Empire City International Gold Cup in July.

Pitt To Play Big Ten Teams In '48

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 — (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh will play football games with Purdue, Indiana and Ohio State of the Western Conference next year, Athletic Director James Hagan announced today.

Pitt, which is meeting six Conference teams this season, will also meet Western Reserve and Notre Dame in 1948. The rest of the schedule has not been completed although it is believed the Panthers agenda will include Penn State and West Virginia.

Bucs May Not Amputate Herman From Payroll To Effect Cure

Billy May Get Chance To Finish 2-Year Job

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23 (AP)—The surgeons began probing the Pittsburgh Pirate ills today but temporarily kept mum on whether amputation of Manager Bill Herman from the payroll will be deemed necessary to effect a cure.

The men who must decide to wield the knife or give Herman a chance to finish his two-year contract are the Bucco owners, gathered here today for a week-long diagnosis. They already have spent more than a million dollars in an unsuccessful effort to improve the standing of the seventh-place club they took over last year.

Club President Frank E. McKinney said:

"There's no indication of Herman's status being in jeopardy until a full examination of the causes for the club's poor showing is made. Then, wherever the chips fall, there's where they will lie."

He reiterated his recent announcement that he was "bitterly disappointed" in the Bucs' seventh place position but added:

"We didn't expect a pennant winner of a first division club this year. We served warning (to the public) that it would require three or four years to rebuild. You can't build a ball club overnight."

The primary order of business in the current meeting is a review of the farm system, McKinney said indicating that Herman's case is only incidental.

"I'll talk to Billy sometime during the week," he said.

Rodeo Opens Tonight

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP)—The world's championship rodeo, which annually gives a half a million New Yorkers a chance to glimpse what remains of the once wild west, begins its 22nd run at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with the first of 53 performances.

In addition to entry fees, a total of $138,330 will be awarded in prizes to the winners among 250 cowboys competing in bareback and saddle bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and wild horse racing.

Delaware Players Hurt

NEWARK, Del., Sept. 23—(AP)—The University of Delaware, its undefeated string of 31 games the longest in the nation, may not be at top strength for Saturday night's opener against Pennsylvania Military College.

Coach William D. Murray says a week of hard contact had sidelined 12 members of the 50-man squad, including half of the first-string backfield—Quarterback Jim Buchanan and Fullback Joe Coady.

Assault To Meet Armed In Special Race On Saturday

Hirsch Changes Mind About $100,000 Event

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Assault was frisking around Belmont like a young fellow feeling his oats today so Trainer Maxie Hirsch, who cast his vote overnight against running in Saturday's $100,000 match race against Armed, changed his mind again and decided to run.

It wasn't only that the Clubfoot Comet kicked around and acted up during his morning jog. Some of the boys dropped in on Max as well in the hopes of getting him to reverse his field about this race-of-the-year, which has been off and on more in the past month than a pair of socks. So the race is "on" again.

Maxie still was saying that he wasn't sure Assault would be at his peak for the mile-and-a-quarter, just as he said last night when he let the folks in on how disappointed he felt in the Texas Terror's semi-final workout yesterday.

But this morning one friend told Hirsch that if he called off his race for the second time in a month—he bowed out originally in Chicago in August the first time—some folks might get the idea he was afraid to meet Armed, especially since Maxie himself admitted there was nothing really wrong with Assault.

So Maxie agreed that if Warren Wright, the Chicago and Lexington, Ky., horseman who owns Armed, still wanted to race, he'd give the green light.

Numerous wild horses are to be found in Iceland. There horses formerly were shipped to England for use in the mines, but now are permitted to run wild and continue to multiply.

Navy And Maryland Grid Series Proposed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—The Annapolis Evening Capital today proposed in an editorial the resumption of football contests between Navy and the University of Maryland, which it said could "well develop into an annual classic."

The editorial said, "the University of Maryland now has 9,000 students and is moving into real big time in sports. Navy, with its national reputation, also holds the interest of a huge number of state fans. Fotball clashes between these two Maryland institutions would be one of the biggest drawing cards in sport circles.

"With two such popular favorites involved there should be no trouble in filling either the Thompson Stadium here, or the Baltimore Stadium x x x."

Assault To Meet Armed In Special Race On Saturday

Hirsch Changes Mind About $100,000 Event

NEW YORK, Sept. 23 (AP) — Assault was frisking around Belmont like a young fellow feeling his oats today so Trainer Maxie Hirsch, who cast his vote overnight against running in Saturday's $100,000 match race against Armed, changed his mind again and decided to run.

It wasn't only that the Clubfoot Comet kicked around and acted up during his morning jog. Some of the boys dropped in on Max as well in the hopes of getting him to reverse his field about this race-of-the-year, which has been off and on more in the past month than a pair of socks. So the race is "on" again.

Maxie still was saying that he wasn't sure Assault would be at his peak for the mile-and-a-quarter, just as he said last night when he let the folks in on how disappointed he felt in the Texas Terror's semi-final workout yesterday.

But this morning one friend told Hirsch that if he called off his race for the second time in a month—he bowed out originally in Chicago in August the first time—some folks might get the idea he was afraid to meet Armed, especially since Maxie himself admitted there was nothing really wrong with Assault.

So Maxie agreed that if Warren Wright, the Chicago and Lexington, Ky., horseman who owns Armed, still wanted to race, he'd give the green light.

Numerous wild horses are to be found in Iceland. There horses formerly were shipped to England for use in the mines, but now are permitted to run wild and continue to multiply.

Navy And Maryland Grid Series Proposed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 23 (AP)—The Annapolis Evening Capital today proposed in an editorial the resumption of football contests between Navy and the University of Maryland, which it said could "well develop into an annual classic."

The editorial said, "the University of Maryland now has 9,000 students and is moving into real big time in sports. Navy, with its national reputation, also holds the interest of a huge number of state fans. Fotball clashes between these two Maryland institutions would be one of the biggest drawing cards in sport circles.

"With two such popular favorites involved there should be no trouble in filling either the Thompson Stadium here, or the Baltimore Stadium x x x."

"SAY, COULD I BE SUED IF . . . Sally, the young girl who occasionally comes in to help with the housework 'by the day' has the ill luck to fall from our old rickety stepladder and get hurt?"

YES . . . BUT DON'T WORRY!

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23 (INS)—The story of Oklahoma City's far famed Reverend W. H. Alexander is to be screened.

Gale Storm, the Monogram actress, and her husband, Lee Bonnell, bought the story.

Helen Morgan

If it seems odd that a movie star should buy the story of a minister for an independent production, its probably because you have not heard that Gale and her husband are very active in church circles in private life.

Far be it from me to say that the Reverend Alexander's story is a sort of Protestant "Going My Way", but it has the same wholesome appeal.

Before Alexander entered the ministry he was a Golden Gloves champion. He believed that young people could be brought to religion if clean sports and social events could center around the church. His youth center now numbers 5000 teen-agers.

The producing Bonnells would like to get Ronald Reagan to play Alexander.

The life story of Helen Morgan, the girl whose singing of "My Bill" and whose piano-sitting habits were so familiar during her life time, is headed for the movies.

And here's a surprise. Leonard Hoffmann, who up to now has been known as Irving's little brother, made a deal with Helen's mother, Mrs. Lulu Morgan, and he has the screen play, "Don't Ever Leave Me," all written and ready for production.

Leonard is a writer at 20th, and it was he who authored "Northside 777." Whether he'll sell his Morgan story to a major company, or do a little indepednent producing on his own, he hasn't decided.

Couldn't believe my ears when I heard Ruth Gordon and Garson Kanin are paging Groucho Marx to co-star with Ruth in their new play—but it's on the level. If he doesn't accept he's crazy. Every show the Kanins write runs forever.

The comedy, scheduled for Broadway in March, is about a farmer's daughter (Ruth) and a kleptomaniac who shows up on the farm (Groucho). They would like to call it "The Farmer's Daughter," but that's out on account of the RKO movie by the same name.

It would be Groucho's first show since "Cocoanuts" in 1929 and his very first without his zany brothers.

Gene Tierney has had either boarders or gremlins living in her house during her absence, and she'd like to know their names.

When she came back from New York Sunday night, she found fresh milk in the ice box, butter, cabbage in the can, the daily newspapers, and other evidences that someone had been living in her house.

She had rented it, originally, to George Sanders, who moved out six weeks ago. But the food wasn't six weeks old, neither were the newspapers.

Gene, naturally, was terrified and informed her studio, with the result that there is now a 20th Century-Fox policeman there night and day, in case the phantom roomers decide to return.

Chatter in Hollywood: All the news Dolly O'Brien has been able to get from Florida is that all her trees have been blown down and her guest houses badly damaged.

She was with Clark Gable at a small dinner Buster and Stevie Collier gave a few nights ago. She told me that her housekeeper was away at the time of the hurricane and had been unable to get through, but that the damage is reported considerable.

Well, now we know what's going to happen to "Sainted Sisters." It isn't called off because Betty Hutton is going to have a baby and Stirling Hayden has not been dropped by Paramount.

Not only is Stirling still in the cast, but the new shuffle puts Veronica Lake in the Hutton role and Joan Caulfield as her blonde sidekick.

Also present is Barry Fitzgerald as a tombstone cutter, in this Mark Twalnish comedy about two big city blondes in a small town at the turn of the century.

Bob Hope has received the highest offer ever made to any actor for a week's engagement at the Capitod Theater—$40,000, and if that isn't a top price, I'll stand on my head until a better offer comes along.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:—Barbara Lawrence denies there is trouble in her month-old marriage to John Fontaine. The report was pretty widely circulated.

Renee Borzage, the former Mrs. Frank, is back from France looking very slim and chic. Jeff Gill, the singer, is still the man in her life.

Alcohol Made From Corn Cobs

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—Fermentation of a little-known type of sugar, xylos, or wood sugar, promises alcohol from corn cobs, straws, cottonseed hulls, cornstalks and other waste products, says the Northern Regional Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture here.

No use had previously been found for xylos when the laboratory found a method for fermenting it. The experiments were conducted on corn cobs from which the familiar glucose sugar was obtained in addition to the xylos. The glucose is easily fermented, but the laboratory reports success only with some batches of the xylos and is conducting further experiments to determine how the special strain of butyl alcohol bacteria works.

The xylos is harder to ferment because it has only five carbon atoms compared with six for better-known sugars. The laboratory says its process may develop important new sources for industrial solvents and even for motor fuels.

Alcohol Made From Corn Cobs

PEORIA, Ill.—(AP)—Fermentation of a little-known type of sugar, xylos, or wood sugar, promises alcohol from corn cobs, straws, cottonseed hulls, cornstalks and other waste products, says the Northern Regional Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture here.

No use had previously been found for xylos when the laboratory found a method for fermenting it. The experiments were conducted on corn cobs from which the familiar glucose sugar was obtained in addition to the xylos. The glucose is easily fermented, but the laboratory reports success only with some batches of the xylos and is conducting further experiments to determine how the special strain of butyl alcohol bacteria works.

The xylos is harder to ferment because it has only five carbon atoms compared with six for better-known sugars. The laboratory says its process may develop important new sources for industrial solvents and even for motor fuels.

County Board Discusses Liquor Commission Plan

Cites Difficulty In Making Appointments

County Commissioners, discussing a proposal to name a commission to study the advisability of setting up a wholesale liquor dispensary in the county, expressed the view yesterday that "there are few persons interested in serving on a committee touching such a controversial subject," however, the matter will be discussed again by the Board, it was indicated.

Appointment of such a commission is not mandatory, but was suggested by a joint House-Senate resolution passed at the last session of the General Assembly The resolution states that a committee named should be comprised of competent citizens not directly connected with the alcoholic business. The commission is to be named, according to the resolution before October 1.

The purpose of the commission is to provide a group of responsible and capable persons to serve as a fact finding committee and survey the idea from all angles. It would probably investigate the operation of similar county-owned dispensaries in counties of this, and other states.

Costs of setting up such a county-owned and operated enterprise, the county's ability to obtain liquor from manufacturers or distributors, cost of operation, and approximate amount that could be realized from such an operation, would all be part of the commission's task, it is believed. It would also be determined, as closely as possible, how much public money could be raised and how much such an amount would tend to reduce the tax load on real estate now the county's chief source of revenue.

The board's report on the survey would be submitted in writing, and whatever proposal the committee should make would be reviewed at a public hearing.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, and Commissioner William H. Lemmert both indicated they know of no one to name to such a commission, who could give it the great amount of time required, but each said they are pursuing the matter further.

A county dispensary bill, bearing the endorsement of the County Commissioners was defeated at the last legislature.

The funeral was attended by about 50 relatives and friends of the families. There was no untoward happening.

Earlier, in San Francisco, Nicholson told newsmen at press conference that he and Mrs. Nicholson had agreed to a divorce on Thursday—the day before she died.

Nicholson said he happened to be sitting in his automobile with Ann, parked across the street from his apartment, when Mrs. Nicholson was removed on a stretcher and taken to Emergency Hospital.

He said he called the hospital several times and was told his wife was all right.

When he learned the next morning of his wife's death, he told reporters, he and Ann "got married so quick it would make your head swim."

Ann, attired in a gray outfit, added: "We all agreed that I would marry Frank as soon as she (Mrs. Nicholson) withdrew from the scene. Well, she withdrew."

San Francisco Coroner John J. Kingston ordered a thorough examination of Mrs. Nicholson's vital organs and set October 7 for an inquest. He said both Nicholson and his bride would be subpoenaed as witnesses.

City toxicologist Joseph Swim said a preliminary examination disclosed Mrs. Nicholson had swallowed about 200 grains of headache tablets—a lethal dose.

Lane Orders Elgin To Correct Faults

BALTIMORE, Sept. 23 (AP) — Governor Lane today dispatched a letter to Commissioner of Motor Vehicles W. Lee Elgin directing his attention to a management consultant's survey critical of department operations and ordering "immediate action" on "deficiencies" disclosed by the analysts.

"I am determined that the operation of the business of the department shall be upon an efficient and business-like basis furnishing prompt and courteous service to the public," the chief executive wrote.

In the course of recommendations for improvement of the department the governor said the department's building and equipment "has been reported to me as 'filthy and untidy' and indicating 'sloppiness and carelessness.'"

"I am advised," he added, "there seems to be 'no organization and definitely no morale in the department.'"

"Some weeks ago, when a request was made by the Department of Motor Vehicles x x x for the acquisition of certain office machines, a controversy arose between the suppliers as to the necessity of doing so.

"This fact was reported by the director to the Board of Public Works, who, as you know, requested Mr. Kirkman (State Budget Director Walter N. Kirkman) to obtain the services of Griffenhagen and Associates, consultants in management, to make a survey of the operations of the department. xxx"

Then the governor cited the survey as disclosing the following deficiencies:

Lack of continuous planning to perfect working procedures; lack of supervision and direction, "resulting in poor utilization of personnel and a very low rate of production"; "inefficient procedure with respect to arrangements and facilities for counter service to the public," and "considerable backlog of work particularly in filing and purging files of dead material with the result that current work is hampered and unduly retarded."

The governor enclosed a copy of the consultant's report with the letter. He made both documents public at a board of Public Works Session in Baltimore today.

County Board Discusses Liquor Commission Plan

Cites Difficulty In Making Appointments

County Commissioners, discussing a proposal to name a commission to study the advisability of setting up a wholesale liquor dispensary in the county, expressed the view yesterday that "there are few persons interested in serving on a committee touching such a controversial subject," however, the matter will be discussed again by the Board, it was indicated.

Appointment of such a commission is not mandatory, but was suggested by a joint House-Senate resolution passed at the last session of the General Assembly The resolution states that a committee named should be comprised of competent citizens not directly connected with the alcoholic business. The commission is to be named, according to the resolution before October 1.

The purpose of the commission is to provide a group of responsible and capable persons to serve as a fact finding committee and survey the idea from all angles. It would probably investigate the operation of similar county-owned dispensaries in counties of this, and other states.

Costs of setting up such a county-owned and operated enterprise, the county's ability to obtain liquor from manufacturers or distributors, cost of operation, and approximate amount that could be realized from such an operation, would all be part of the commission's task, it is believed. It would also be determined, as closely as possible, how much public money could be raised and how much such an amount would tend to reduce the tax load on real estate now the county's chief source of revenue.

The board's report on the survey would be submitted in writing, and whatever proposal the committee should make would be reviewed at a public hearing.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., president of the Board, and Commissioner William H. Lemmert both indicated they know of no one to name to such a commission, who could give it the great amount of time required, but each said they are pursuing the matter further.

A county dispensary bill, bearing the endorsement of the County Commissioners was defeated at the last legislature.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Report Uncensored

Chicago broadcasting like Chicago journalism once had an animal vigor that could hardly be duplicated anywhere else. When radio was in short pants, broadcasters had to exercise monumental ingenuity to keep some sort of noise on the air all day, and much of the ingenuity came from Chicago. Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden started in radio here first on WGN as Sam 'n' Henry and later on WBBM under their more famous names—Amos 'n' Andy. Fibber McGee and Molly are another pair of Chicago alumni.

John Crosby

WGN claims the credit—if that's the right word—for originating the soap opera. In the mid-twenties, Quin Ryan, manager of WGN, stumbled on the soap opera formula while trying to transplant "The Chicago Tribune's" comics to radio. Ryan, who had virtually free reign at WGN, was bursting with ideas in those days, not all of them successful. When Calvin Coolidge chose not to run in 1928, Ryan immediately wired him an offer to read the Bible over the air for fifteen minutes every Sunday. Coolidge said no.

Today Chicago radio sounds much like radio anywhere else. The big names have gone to New York or Hollywood and have left no successors. However, a single spark of the old vitality glowed brightly all summer in a sustaining program on WBBM called "Report Uncensored" which set the town on its ears for thirteen weeks.

This was a series of documentary broadcasts presented by WBBM in co-operation with the Chicago Bar Association on Chicago juvenile delinquency. There is, of course, nothing unusual about documentary broadcasts on juvenile delinquency. (In fact, 1947 may go down as the year in which radio discovered there was such a thing.) However, this particular series carried an unusual wallop because it was, as its name boldly stated, an uncensored report straight from the kids themselves, because juvenile delinquency in Chicago appears to be worse than anywhere else and, most importantly, because the broadcasts brought immediate results.

For "Report Uncensored" WBBM sent a writer-producer, Ben Park, and a narrator, Fahey Flynn, into slum areas, reformatories and gang-ridden neighborhoods to interview some of the toughest youngsters in the world. The morning after the first broadcast a shudder ran down the spine of the entire Chicago police department. In one broadcast, the boys told about their juvenile gangs, about how they started and what kept them going. In another broadcast, the young toughs revealed how they made guns in the manual training classes of the public schools. The uproar in the public school system hasn't died down yet.

Another broadcast dealt the Police Department a sharp right to the jaw. The kids told how they were so tyrannized by police in certain negihborhoods, particularly if they had police records, that a life of crime was their only alternative. One lad spoke contemptuously of "two dollar cops"—meaning a cop who will look the other way for a couple of bucks. The police department started quietly investigating its "two dollar cops."

Perhaps the most shocking of the broadcasts dwelt on the Illinois State School for Boys, near St. Charles, Ill., known for short simply as St. Charles. A boy was killed at St. Charles in 1941 and this tragedy brought about a complete shake-up of the school. Since then, Chicagoans had maintained the illusion that St. Charles was a model school for delinquent boys. It isn't. The boys at St. Charles told the narrator about "the burlap," "the midnight line" and "the hose," all punishment devices of medieval savagery. (The hose is turned on boys at eighty-five pounds pressure from a distance of twelve inches, beating them up more effectively than the other kind of rubber hose.) A short time after this broadcast, the assistant superintendent of St. Charles resigned.

"Report Uncensored" has Chicago stamped all over it. It is expose journalism of a type that Chicago newspapers have specialized in for years. It has all the weaknesses of expose journalism. The story is too black to be quite true. The other side—and there is always another side—is not presented at all. Also, there is always the suspicion that radio is embracing reform less out of the goodness of its heart than as a device to get listeners, much as Hearst newspapers used to go on reform sprees in order to gain circulation.

Still, as expose journalism goes, radio can do a whale of a job. These recorded interviews with their authentic dialect and accents have a flavor that can't be reproduced in print. And, incidentally, this series is unusual in one other respect. It is far more popular with listeners than are most documentaries. "Report Uncensored" substituted during the summer for the immensely popular "Lux Theater" and its Hooper rating dropped only two points.

ZONOLITE
ZONOLITE granular fill is easily and quickly installed — Simply pour it in place. It is practical and efficient for almost any insulation need.

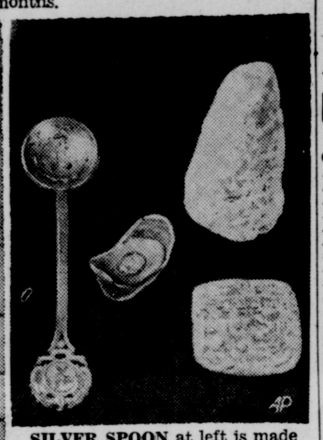
GOOD MONEY CAN BE QUEER

STRANGE answers to the question "What shall we use for money?" are found in coin collections. These examples are from the collection of J. M. Taylor of Buffalo.

POOR MAN'S FORTUNE—Hungarians issued this note for 100 quintillian pengos in June, 1946. It bought little more than a loaf of bread and was worthless in two months.

PIECES OF EIGHT, famous Spanish equivalent of dollars were often cut into "bits" as shown here. Hence "two bits."



SILVER SPOON at left is made from South African coins. Center is a Chinese Tael, or "shoe money." Right are cone-shaped Babylonian record and a clay due bill of Egypt.

LARGEST COIN is this German billion mark piece of 1923. Smallest is the 1-32 ducat.. (near horse's mouth) issued in a Bavarian town in 1700.

Stock Prices Take Sudden Skid In Final Hour Of Market Selling

NEW YORK, Sept. 23—(AP)—Stock prices skidded suddenly in the market's final hour today, many leaders losing one to more than two points.

The flurry of selling put the ticker tape a minute behind floor transactions for the first time since July 29. Total transfers expanded to 880,000 shares compared with 670,000 Monday.

Standard Oil (N.J.) dropped 2½ points, closing at 73; Texas Co. touched a new 1947 low and finished off 1¼ at 54⅝; U. S. Steel was down 2⅛ at 69, General Motors 1⅝ at 57⅜, Montgomery Ward 2 at 55; Goodrich 1½ at 53¾, American Smelting 1¼ at 61, Santa Fe 1⅝ at 81 and International Paper 1½ at 49¾. Other prominent losers included Schenley, American Woolen, American Can, Phelps Dodge, Owens-Illinois, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Western Union, Youngstown Sheet, Air Reduction, Chrysler and Goodyear. Anaconda Wire and Cable after reaching a new 1947 high dropped into losing territory but recovered to finish up 1¼ at 62⅞. Wilcox Oil at 8¾ was up a point.

Curb sliders were Humble Oil, Aluminum Co., Middle West Corp. and Fox (Peter) Brewing. Ayrshire Collieries improved on a stock split proposal. Turnover here was 220,000 shares against 190,000 Monday.

Sale at competitive bidding of more than $150,000,000 of new securities overshadowed price action in the bond market.

United States Governments lost 1-32 to 4-32 of a point in the over-the-counter market, with the victory loan 2½s of Dec. 1967-'72 down 3-32 at 102 24-32 bid.

Robert L. Walsh, vs. Betty Catherine Walsh. No. 20297 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of absolute divorce of the complainant from the defendant.
The bill states that the parties were married September, 15th, 1945 in Oakland, Maryland, and no children were born of the marriage. That the defendant deserted and abandoned the complainant on March 1st, 1946, and that such desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months. That the maiden name of the defendant was Betty Dean; that the complainant is a resident of the State of Maryland and the defendant a non resident of said State.
IT IS THEREUPON, this 16 day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, ordered that the Complainant by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper once in each of four successive weeks before the 17th day of October, 1947, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of November, 1947, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Dorothy Flynn vs. Thomas DeSales Flynn. No. 20319 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a Decree of Divorce "A VINCULO MATRIMONII," by the Complainant, Dorothy Flynn, against her husband, Thomas DeSales Flynn, the Respondent.
The Bill states, that on or about the 17th day of December, 1945, the said Dorothy Flynn and Thomas DeSales Flynn, were married, and they resided together in Allegany County, Maryland, until the 18th day of March, 1946. That, though the conduct of your Oratrix, the said Dorothy Flynn, towards her husband, Thomas DeSales Flynn, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Thomas DeSales Flynn, has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least eighteen months and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.
That there were no children born of this marriage and that the said Dorothy Flynn is a resident of the State of Maryland, and the said Thomas DeSales Flynn, is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.
It is thereupon, this 23rd day of September, 1947, ordered by the Circuit Court of Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Allegany County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 25th day of October, 1947, give notice to the said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 10th day of November, 1947, next, to show cause, if any he has, why a Decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

GOOD MONEY CAN BE QUEER

STRANGE answers to the question "What shall we use for money?" are found in coin collections. These examples are from the collection of J. M. Taylor of Buffalo.

POOR MAN'S FORTUNE—Hungarians issued this note for 100 quintillian pengos in June, 1946. It bought little more than a loaf of bread and was worthless in two months.

LARGEST COIN is this German billion mark piece of 1923. Smallest is the 1-32 ducat.. (near horse's mouth) issued in a Bavarian town in 1700.

PIECES OF EIGHT, famous Spanish equivalent of dollars were often cut into "bits" as shown here. Hence "two bits."

Hoover Found Guilty Of Murder In Second Degree

Given 12 Years For Death Of Layman

OAKLAND, Md.—James William Hoover, 28, of the Jennings section in Garrett county, was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to 12 years in the Maryland penitentiary, this afternoon in Circuit Court here.

Tried before a full bench, Hoover was indicted in connection with the death of Elzie F. Layman, 40, of Shade Mill, on U. S. Route 40, west of Frostburg, last July 30. Chief Judge William A. Huster, Associate Judge George Henderson, of Cumberland, and Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown, presided.

Hoover, father of four children, allegedly drove his truck into Layman and caused his death. When placed on the witness stand by his attorneys, Neil C. Fraley and Ernest Ray Jones, the man denied hitting Layman with his truck. He did admit, however, that he had stopped the truck, and said he hit Layman with a rock.

Authorities had considered the case a hit and run affair, when Layman's body was first reported found at the scene. However, William Payton, a service station operator said he saw the truck stop where the body was found, and State Police began an investigation.

FBI Expert Called

State's Attorney Walter W. Dawson called a succession of witnesses to the stand during the day-long case which opened the September criminal trials here.

Dawson introduced the victim's mother, as the trial got underway, for the purpose of identifying and determining Layman's age. He then called William Winterburg, mortician of Grantsville; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Garrett county deputy medical examiner; Payton; Lewis S. Jones, scoutmaster of Webster, Pa., who found Layman on the road; Warren Oster, Springs, who took Layman to the hospital; State Trooper Blair Buckle; State Trooper Glenn D. Folk; State Police Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, and an expert from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington. D. C.

The FBI man testified that hairs found on the front of the defendant's truck by State Police, were of the same type as the hair from the head of the defendant.

Police Describe Blood Spots

Buckle testified that he found blood on the headlight of the truck, hair on the radiator, and blood spots on the transmission housing is the rear. Folk and Sgt. O'Hara substantiated Buckle's testimony, although under cross examination, Buckle said he wasn't sure the spots were blood, but assumed they were blood, based on his experience as an officer.

Winterburg testified to receiving the body, and Dr. Baumgartner gave testimony concerning the extent and type of injuries he discovered. Payton's testimony concerned an altercation between Hoover and Layman at his tavern, and stated he later saw the Hoover truck stop at a point on the highway where the body was found. Jones testified to finding the body and Oster described his part in taking the body to the hospital.

Judge Henderson will remain in Oakland this week to hear a couple of minor cases to come befor e ajury. Judge Huster returned to Cumberland and Judge Mish returned to Hagerstown tonight.

Cold Weather Starts Demand For Coal Orders

Deliveries Locally Several Weeks Behind

Cold weather here this week has created a demand on the part of many consumers for coal, a survey of local retail dealers indicated last night, but some delay is being experienced by some distributors in filling rush orders.

Dealers explained they are about 60 days behind on deliveries of stoker coal, which has been in short supply for sometime, and there is little indication that the supply will increase. Several factors are believed to contribute to the shortage. Preparation and washing plants are insufficient in many localities to prepare enough stoker coal to meet demand, and a shortage of railroad coal cars has slowed production at many mines, it is claimed.

Local dealers declared that some grades of coal, mined in this county and suitable for furnace and stove heating units, can be obtained on fairly short notice as there are a number of haulers making local deliveries from the mines.

It is the prepared or graded coal, such as stoker coal, which is on short supply, together with Pennsylvania and West Virginia run of mine coal, shipped here by rail.

Dealers agree that in the late summer or early fall when weather turns cold, people begin thinking about coal for the winter and the rush is on. This happened here to a considerable extent this week and many persons were disappointed because dealers already had a backlog of orders.

One dealer said last night. "We are six weeks behind on most of our orders for stoker coal, and two to three weeks back on other grades. I don't know if the shipping facilities and preparation plants can deliver sufficient supply to help us catch up or not."

Mines in this area are reported working steadily, but in the Fairmont, W. Va., fields, work has been down to as little as two days a week, due to a railroad car shortage, and coal operators claim they are "millions of tons behind on production."

WILL RETIRE—Five employes at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, who are planning to retire at the end of this month, are shown above in the Cumberland field office of the Social Security Administration, which they visited yesterday afternoon to file claims for old-age insurance under the Social Security Act. Seated (left to right) are Victor S. Kalbaugh, Luke, and William W. Grimm, Westernport. Standing (same order) are James G. Hayden, Westernport, John V. Niland, Piedmont, W. Va., and Frederick P. Wiseman, Luke.

"Y" Membership Campaign To Be Held Next Month

Board Approves Reduced Rates

Reduction of membership rates and plans for a membership campaign in October were approved last night at a meeting of the board of directors of Central YMCA.

The board's membership committee, headed by J. Goodloe Jackson, will have charge of the campaign to secure new members, which will be held the second or third week in October.

The committee's report, given by Miles G. Thompson in Jackson's absence, also suggested the establishment of several new types of membership, including a youth affiliate membership of $2 yearly, which would entitle the holder to participate in social activities only. This is open to boys and girls up to 18.

Reduced Rates Listed

Other new memberships will be a "senior men's" membership for young men between 18 and 21, at $16 yearly; and a contributing membership of $5 annually for those who wish to support the general YMCA program.

Reduced membership rates, which will become effective immediately, are as follows:

Membership for boys and girls 9 to 14 is now $7 a year instead of $7.50; for high school students, all ages, $9 instead of $10; senior men over 21 years of age, $21 instead of $22.50; senior women over 18, $12 instead of $12.50; men's individual and club membership, for groups of 10 or more, $12 each instead of $12.50; women's individual and club memberships, $6 each instead of $6.25; and businessmen's memberships, $27 instead of $31.25.

The special membership for nurses will continue to be $5 yearly.

Fiesta Room Closed

Robert L. Sisson, general secretary, reported that various changes have been made in the building. These include closing of the Fiesta Room, which is now used as a game room, and moving the adult lounge to one side of the main lobby in the space formerly used for pingpong.

Total membership is now 2,595, according to a report submitted by Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary. During August, a total of 17,594 persons used "Y" facilities, and 169 individual swimming lessons were given under the YMCA program. In addition, 37 meetings were held by 17 different outside organizations.

Sisson said that Sam Nock, a representative of the YMCA Building Bureau, made a survey of the local building in July and offered suggestions for possible structural changes and better use of facilities during the next five years.

Five Paper Mill Workers To Retire; Combined Service Totals 207 Years

Group Files Social Security Claims

A group of five employes from the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, whose combined service represents 207 years of continuous employment with the company, visited the Cumberland field office of the Social Security Administration yesterday afternoon to file claims for old-age insurance under the Social Security Act.

The oldest of the group, James G. Hayden, a 70-year-old Westernport man, is the youngest in point of service at the Luke plant, having worked there for 30 years.

Victor S. Kalbaugh, 68, Luke, led the group in years of service, having worked at the plant for the past 53 years.

Plans To Retire Soon

Other men in the group, all of whom are planning to retire as of September 30, are William W. Grimm, 65, Westernport, a veteran of 45 years service; John V. Niland, 68, Piedmont, W. Va., who has worked at the plant for 42 years; and Frederick P. Wiseman, 67, Luke, who has 37 years of employment at the plant to his credit.

William W. Wood, manager of the field office, said the occasion marked at the plant for 42 years; and men with so many years of service have filed claims for old age insurance at one time.

He added that because the five were employed steadily for such a length of time, their monthly payments under the Social Security Act will be higher than is ordinarily the case.

Since the act took effect in 1937, Wood said, the men have contributed to the old age and survivors insurance along with their employer. Because they filed their claims promptly, there will be no danger of their losing benefits in the way that so many retiring employes do today, he explained.

Claim Advice Given

Many persons neglect to file their claims immediately upon retiring, when they are over 65 years of age, because they are under the impression that there is a possibility of exhausting the payments, Wood said. He explained that the benefits will be received for life, regardless of how long the claimants live.

Others believe it is necessary to sign a lien on property to receive the payments, but this is not true, the manager said. Under the system, the monthly payments have already been paid for by the wage earner and his employe during the latter's working career.

Moreover, those receiving monthly payments need not remain at their present place of residence, for the Social Security Administration will mail a check to them any place in the world, with the current exception of enemy countries in the last war.

Wood urged that the local office, which serves Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland and Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Hardy and Pendleton Counties in West Virginia be consulted upon the death or retirement of a wage earner.

Frostburg Woman Is Slightly Hurt When Hit By Car

A 57-year-old Route 2, Frostburg, woman was treated in Allegany Hospital yesterday morning for slight injuries suffered when she was struck by a car on North Mechanic Street, near the Baltimore Street intersection.

The woman, Mrs. Albert Klink, was treated for an abrasion on the right knee and allowed to return home.

In an accident report, Howard S. Hamilton, 28, 10 Pear Street, said the mishap occurred at 11 a. m. when Mrs. Klink stepped out from behind a car in the second traffic lane and against his vehicle in the right lane, about 30 feet north of the intersection.

Also treated in Alegany Hospital yesterday were:

Roger Cronel, 5, Route 5, for a lacerated forehead suffered in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Virginia Carlisle, 25, 316 Waverly Terrace, for a laceration of the scalp after a pipe dropped from a porch and struck her head.

Charles G. Fisher, 23, 205 Hay Street, for several puncture wounds of the right hand after a cross-cut saw fell upon his hand.

William Webb, 52, 2 Utah Avenue, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for a fracture of the left big toe. He said he was working in the Celanese welding shop Monday afternoon when a shaft fell from a jig and struck his foot.

Roy Winters, 68, Oakland, who was critically injured Sunday night when he was struck by a car near the Maryland Line, was reported "just about the same" in Memorial Hospital late last night. He suffered a fractured skull and fractured jaw, State Police said.

Traffic Survey At Rail Crossings Starts Tomorrow

State Roads Group To Conduct Study

Beginning tomorrow morning, a crew of 10 men will start making a traffic count at the 17 railroad crossings in the city, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer announced yesterday.

Rizer said he has been asked to co-operate with the State Roads Commission, which is sending a representative here from Baltimore to conduct the survey for the purpose of securing traffic data regarding the possible elimination of dangerous crossings.

The 10-man crew, all of them area men, will count the number of vehicles and pedestrians using the crossings, and will also note the number of freight and passenger trains and shifter engines passing the crossings.

Rizer said the survey will be conducted each weekday except Saturday from 7 a. m. until 11 p. m., with two men assigned to check each crossing for a 16-hour period. No checks will be made on Saturday or Sunday because in previous studies the State Roads Commission has found that a week-day traffic check provides a fair average.

From figures accumulated in the survey, the degree of danger at each crossing will be estimated by a formula used by the Public Roads Administration, Rizer said.

He explained that funds allocated to various states by that administration for crossing elimination and other improvements are based on such studies.

Crossings of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to be checked are those at Williams Street, Harrison Street, Union Street, Baltimore Street, Frederick Street, Bedford Street, Paca Street, Beall Street, Avirett Avenue, Knox Street, Valley Street, Pear Street and Franklin Street.

Western Maryland Railway crossings to be checked are those at Virginia Avenue, River Avenue, Mechanic Street and Baltimore Street.

A similar survey was recently completed in Hagerstown, while Crossing studies are planned in Westernport, Luke, Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing and Barton.

Arrangements for the local survey were made by G. W. Cassell of the traffic division, State Roads Commission; and R. E. L. Putman, Cumberland, commission representative.

Instrument Group Hears Reports On Conference Show

Wilson And Stern Outline Exhibits

Robert Wilson of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company gave a report last night at the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Section of the Instrument Society of America at Queen City Hotel, on mechanical instruments viewed at the Second Annual Conference and Exhibit of the ISA.

Harry Stern of the Hercules Powder Company also spoke on electronic equipment displayed at the exhibit.

Wilson described the operation and calibration of flowmeters. He noted that most instruments, valves and lines, he saw, were made of glass or plastic, to enable the entire operation of the system to be open for inspection.

Wilson also described proximity fuses, snubbers for gages, and various new plastic methods. An electronic micrometer described was accurate, he said, to .00005 of an inch.

Stern explained that servo-mechanisms for control are replacing older outdated recording methods. He said operation of this system requires very small voltage to operate large machinery and these small voltages were also measurable thru suitable amplifiers.

He also spoke on the application of supersonic equipment for inspection. He described the latest type mercury relays, temperature recorders, range finders, voltmeters and pressure recorders.

The Cumberland Section plans a course in the basic elements of physics relative to instrumentation and mechanics. The course will be free to members of the Society, but a nominal charge is to be made non-members enrolled.

Next Friday, the group plans to visit the Gulf Research and Development Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., to study and compare methods for plant process control and instrumentation.

Man Drops Dead During $20,000 Hancock Fire

Four Families Made Homeless

HANCOCK, Sept. 23—Fire, following an explosion of cleaning fluid, caused damage to an East Main Street business establishment, one dwelling house and three apartments, amounting to about $20,000, at noon here today, and indirectly contributed to the death of one man.

Edgar Henry, 63, native and lifelong resident employed here as a Baltimore and Ohio telegraph operator, dropped dead in the dining room of his burning home as he was attempting to remove furniture.

Residents said Henry hurried to his burning dwelling from the railroad tower where he worked when the fire started, but had to go back to work as there was no one to relieve him. He again returned to the scene a short time later, parked his car a distance from the house, due to traffic congestion, ran to his home and collapsed as he started toward the rear door. Death was attributed to shock and a heart attack.

Fire Chief Walter Jackson and Hancock police officers said the fire started in the rear of the frame and brick structure which housed three apartments and a cleaning plant. Joseph Marks, colored operator of a cleaning and pressing business, said a spark from an electric motor ignited cleaning fluid, which exploded, starting the conflagration.

The building, a two-story affair, had the cleaning plant in the front and one dwelling unit along side. Two more apartments were on the second floor. The dwelling units were occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Corbet, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas and family and Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Bowser and family. The Henry house was a separate building adjoining the business-apartment structure.

Volunteer firemen from Hancock manned both of the town's fire engines, and a call to Berkeley Springs, W. Va., brought a pumper unit and volunteers from that community. The fire was brought under control within two hours after it started about noonday.

Authorities said the buildings were badly damaged, and only the front portions remained standing. Practically all the frame portions of the structures are gone, and fire gutted the interiors. Much of the household furnishings and personal effects of the residents were salvaged or saved, however, and the families burned out found temporary quarters with friends and relatives.

Henry, who dropped dead while the fire was raging, was well known in the community. He was a son of the late Charles David and Elizabeth Michael Henry, and a member of the Hancock Episcopal church.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Burgess Henry; two sons, John, Baltimore, and Charles Henry, Hancock; one brother, Orrick Henry, Meyersdale, Pa., and three sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Sponseller, Cumberland; Miss Maude Henry, Hagerstown, and Mrs. Rachel Wolfel, Baltimore.

The body is at the Bast Funeral Home, Hancock. A funeral service will be conducted Friday at 1:30 p. m. (EST) in St. Thomas Episcopal Church, Hancock, by Rev. H. Kearney Jones, rector. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Parsons Man Is Fatally Injured In Train Mishap

Asa Bonner, 61, Struck By Freight

PARSONS, W. Va.—A verdict of accidental death was returned last night by Acting Coroner Lawrence Lipscomb in the death of Asa S. Bonner, 61, well-known Parsons carpenter and lumberman, who was fatally injured shortly after noon yesterday when he was struck by a Western Maryland Railway freight train here.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten and Trooper C. S. Burke of the Thomas State Police detachment, who investigated, said the accident occurred at the station crossing here, when Bonner walked into the path of the eastbound Elkins to Cumberland freight.

The accident was the second Tucker County train fatality this year. Last February Norman Carr, young Parsons Army veteran, was fatally injured when struck by a Western Maryland passenger train at the Pennsylvania Avenue crossing in Parsons.

Investigating officers identified the engineer of the freight train as John Armentrout, Cumberland, Md. They said he was unaware that Bonner had been hit by the train, adding that the freight went on 500 feet past the crossing before it was flagged down.

Bonner, who was walking home to lunch after doing carpentry work at a building in the Pulp Mill section of town, was carrying a 24-pound sack of flour over his shoulder when he was struck. Authorities surmised that his burden may have prevented him from noticing the train's approach, although witnesses said the locomotive whistle was blown three times.

The injured man's body was thrown clear of the tracks, and his left foot was severed at the instep. He was still conscious when taken to Tucker County Hospital, where he died at 1 p. m., 10 minutes after being admitted, as blood plasma was being administered.

The attending physician said death resulted from shock and multiple injuries.

Coroner Lipscomb said it would not be necessary to empanel a coroner's jury for further investigation of the accident, and the inquest was closed. No charges were placed against the freight engineer.

Born in Tucker County August 24, 1886, Bonner was a son of the late W. E. and Mary Hedrick Bonner. His wife, Mrs. Melvina Watts Bonner, died 10 years ago.

Surviving are two sons, Stewart, Dry Fork, and Robert, Davis; two daughters, Mrs. Gaynell Simmons, Red Creek, and Miss Beatrice Bonner, Washington, D. C.; three brothers, Riley and Gordon, both of Red Creek, and Eddie Bonner, Parsons; and one sister, Mrs. Louessa Harsh, Parsons.

The time of the funeral has been set tentatively for Thursday at 2 p. m. at Flanagan Hill Church in the Dry Fork section, with Rev. James H. Lotspeich, pastor of First Methodist Church here, officiating. Interment will be in Flanagan Hill Church Cemetery.

All former Marines attached to the company are requested to bring their discharge certificates to company headquarters, Union Street Building, for proper recording and endorsement.

Capt. Fey said that seven men were accepted by the company at last night's meeting. They are:

County To Get New Registration Books

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, notified the County Commissioners by letter yesterday, that an order has been placed for a set of 75 registration books, to be purchased from the Allegany Printing Company. The cost of the books was not quoted in the letter. New books are needed at polling places, officials explain, as those in use are about filled.

Porter R. Davis, 111 Spruce Street, Westernport, wrote to the board complaining about a county road above his property washing down on his land and causing damage. His complaint was referred to the county engineer.

A letter from John T. Fey, chairman of the Community Chest Fund drive for Cumberland, asked the County Commissioners for approval of a plan to collect donations from county employes through a payroll deduction system. No action was taken on the letter.

To Elect Officers

The first regular Fall meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society will be held next Wednesday, October 1, at 6:15 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The business session will feature the election of officers for the coming year.

Temperature Reading

A maximum temperature of only 63 degrees was recorded here yesterday as a cool wave continued. By 9:30 p. m., the mercury was down to 51 degrees, one higher than the previous night at the same hour. It was problematical, however, if the overnight low today would be as low as yesterday when a mark of 31, one degree below freezing, was registered, inasmuch as the wind direction changed last night from north to southwest.

Motor Club Head Reports On Car Thefts For Year

Owners Urged To Lock Automobiles

Interstate transportation of stolen automobiles reached an all-time high in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, according to Hugo Keller, president of the Western Maryland Motor Club, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association.

"Nearly two-thirds of those arrested for stealing cars are minors," Keller said. When a motorist neglects to properly lock his car, accidently or otherwise, he unconsciously encourages juvenile delinquency or grand larceny by a car stealing gang, Keller contends.

Some idea of the magnitude of car thefts and the task before law enforcement agencies is realized when it is known that the FBI recovered 12,324 stolen vehicles transported in interstate commerce during the year. This is the highest number since the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act became law, October 29, 1919, and the value of the cars recovered amounted to $11,336,642.

Keller said that reports show there were in that same period, 4,668 convictions for thefts of cars; with sentences aggregating nearly 13,000 years and fines imposed totaling $29,735.

Maximum penalty under the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act is five years in prison and a fine of $5,000.

According to an FBI report to the AAA, Keller said, car stealing rings are operating in Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee, Maryland and Kentucky. The usual procedure is to drive the stolen vehicle into a private garage; repaint the body, make minor alterations and change the motor numbers and license plates, and falsify ownership papers.

The local club is cooperating in a plan to encourage car owners to lock their cars and take all normal precautions to prevent car thefts.

State Apple Growers Must Pay Penny Tax On Each Bushel Sold

McHenry Reminds Growers Of New Law

Although the apple crop in Western Maryland is expected to be slim this season, due to late freezing weather which nipped the buds of thousands of trees, the State of Maryland will still collect a tax on all apples sold, over 500 bushels per orchard.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent said yesterday farmers and orchardists should be reminded now to keep accurate records of their apple sales, since a new Maryland Law makes it necessary to pay one cent per bushel tax on all apples sold by each operator in excess of 500 bushels.

The law was enacted by the last session of the General Assembly, with the provision that one half the tax must be paid by December 31, and the other half by May 31. On apples sold after December 31, the tax must be paid within 20 days of the end of each current sales month.

Funds realized are to be used for carrying out a program of publicity and sales promotion work. McHenry said the thing growers must remember now is to keep accurate records, and to preserve them for at least two years. There is an interest penalty on overdue taxes plus court costs if suit is brought for payment.

Under the new Apple Merchandise Law, Governor Lane recently appointed the Maryland State Apple Commission, as follows: John P. Caspar, Hancock; D. Eldred Reinhart, Smithsburg; E. Dwight McCain, Frederick; Joseph G. Harrison, Berlin; W. Lee Allen, Salisbury; Marshall T. Heaps, Cardiff; and Eugene W. Scott, Rockville.

The Commission met recently in Baltimore, McHenry said, and named Caspar chairman and Albert F. Vierheller was asked to act as temporary secretary, until the ground work is laid and growers get acquainted with the new law.

It was decided that the Commission continue to work through the Appalachian Apple Service as a means of carrying on a part of the apple publicity and sales promotion work, for Maryland growers.

Hoover Found Guilty Of Murder In Second Degree

Given 12 Years For Death Of Layman

OAKLAND, Md.—James William Hoover, 28, of the Jennings section in Garrett county, was found guilty of second degree murder and sentenced to 12 years in the Maryland penitentiary, this afternoon in Circuit Court here.

Tried before a full bench, Hoover was indicted in connection with the death of Elzie F. Layman, 40, of Shade Mill, on U. S. Route 40, west of Frostburg, last July 30. Chief Judge William A. Huster, Associate Judge George Henderson, of Cumberland, and Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish of Hagerstown, presided.

Hoover, father of four children, allegedly drove his truck into Layman and caused his death. When placed on the witness stand by his attorneys, Neil C. Fraley and Ernest Ray Jones, the man denied hitting Layman with his truck. He did admit, however, that he had stopped the truck, and said he hit Layman with a rock.

Authorities had considered the case a hit and run affair, when Layman's body was first reported found at the scene. However, William Payton, a service station operator said he saw the truck stop where the body was found, and State Police began an investigation.

FBI Expert Called

State's Attorney Walter W. Dawson called a succession of witnesses to the stand during the day-long case which opened the September criminal trials here.

Dawson introduced the victim's mother, as the trial got underway, for the purpose of identifying and determining Layman's age. He then called William Winterburg, mortician of Grantsville; Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Garrett county deputy medical examiner; Payton; Lewis S. Jones, scoutmaster of Webster, Pa., who found Layman on the road; Warren Oster, Springs, who took Layman to the hospital; State Trooper Blair Buckle; State Trooper Glenn D. Folk; State Police Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, and an expert from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington. D. C.

The FBI man testified that hairs found on the front of the defendant's truck by State Police, were of the same type as the hair from the head of the defendant.

Police Describe Blood Spots

Buckle testified that he found blood on the headlight of the truck, hair on the radiator, and blood spots on the transmission housing in the rear. Folk and Sgt. O'Hara substantiated Buckle's testimony, although under cross examination, Buckle said he wasn't sure the spots were blood, but assumed they were blood, based on his experience as an officer.

Winterburg testified to receiving the body, and Dr. Baumgartner gave testimony concerning the extent and type of injuries he discovered. Payton's testimony concerned an altercation between Hoover and Layman at his tavern, and stated he later saw the Hoover truck stop at a point on the highway where the body was found. Jones testified to finding the body and Oster described his part in taking the body to the hospital.

Judge Henderson will remain in Oakland this week to hear a couple of minor cases to come befor e ajury. Judge Huster returned to Cumberland and Judge Mish returned to Hagerstown tonight.

Cold Weather Starts Demand For Coal Orders

Deliveries Locally Several Weeks Behind

Cold weather here this week has created a demand on the part of many consumers for coal, a survey of local retail dealers indicated last night, but some delay is being experienced by some distributors in filling rush orders.

Dealers explained they are about 60 days behind on deliveries of stoker coal, which has been in short supply for sometime, and there is little indication that the supply will increase. Several factors are believed to contribute to the shortage. Preparation and washing plants are insufficient in many localities to prepare enough stoker coal to meet demand, and a shortage of railroad coal cars has slowed production at many mines, it is claimed.

Local dealers declared that some grades of coal, mined in this county and suitable for furnace and stove heating units, can be obtained on fairly short notice as there are a number of haulers making local deliveries from the mines.

It is the prepared or graded coal, such as stoker coal, which is on short supply, together with Pennsylvania and West Virginia run of mine coal, shipped here by rail.

Dealers agree that in the late summer or early fall when weather turns cold, people begin thinking about coal for the winter and the rush is on. This happened here to a considerable extent this week and many persons were disappointed because dealers already had a backlog of orders.

One dealer said last night. "We are six weeks behind on most of our orders for stoker coal, and two to three weeks back on other grades. I don't know if the shipping facilities and preparation plants can deliver sufficient supply to help us catch up or not."

Mines in this area are reported working steadily, but in the Fairmont, W. Va., fields, work has been down to as little as two days a week, due to a railroad car shortage, and coal operators claim they are "millions of tons behind on production."

Parsons Man Is Fatally Injured In Train Mishap

Asa Bonner, 61, Struck By Freight

PARSONS, W. Va.—A verdict of accidental death was returned last night by Acting Coroner Lawrence Lipscomb in the death of Asa S. "Y" Membership Campaign To Be Held Next Month

Board Approves Reduced Rates

Reduction of membership rates and plans for a membership campaign in October were approved last night at a meeting of the board of directors of Central YMCA.

The board's membership committee, headed by J. Goodloe Jackson, will have charge of the campaign to secure new members, which will be held the second or third week in October.

The committee's report, given by Miles G. Thompson in Jackson's absence, also suggested the establishment of several new types of membership, including a youth affiliate membership of $2 yearly, which would entitle the holder to participate in social activities only. This is open to boys and girls up to 18.

Reduced Rates Listed

Other new memberships will be a "senior men's" membership for young men between 18 and 21, at $16 yearly; and a contributing membership of $5 annually for those who wish to support the general YMCA program.

Reduced membership rates, which will become effective immediately, are as follows:

Membership for boys and girls 9 to 14 is now $7 a year instead of $7.50; for high school students, all ages, $9 instead of $10; senior men over 21 years of age, $21 instead of $22.50; senior women over 18, $12 instead of $12.50; men's individual and club membership, for groups of 10 or more, $12 each instead of $12.50; women's individual and club memberships, $6 each instead of $6.25; and businessmen's memberships, $27 instead of $31.25.

The special membership for nurses will continue to be $5 yearly.

Fiesta Room Closed

Robert L. Sisson, general secretary, reported that various changes have been made in the building. These include closing of the Fiesta Room, which is now used as a game room, and moving the adult lounge to one side of the main lobby in the space formerly used for pingpong.

Total membership is now 2,595, according to a report submitted by Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary. During August, a total of 17,594 persons used "Y" facilities, and 169 individual swimming lessons were given under the YMCA program. In addition, 37 meetings were held by 17 different outside organizations.

Sisson said that Sam Nock, a representative of the YMCA Building Bureau, made a survey of the local building in July and offered suggestions for possible structural changes and better use of facilities during the next five years.

Five Paper Mill Workers To Retire; Combined Service Totals 207 Years

Group Files Social Security Claims

A group of five employes from the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, whose combined service represents 207 years of continuous employment with the company, visited the Cumberland field office of the Social Security Administration yesterday afternoon to file claims for old-age insurance under the Social Security Act.

The oldest of the group, James G. Hayden, a 70-year-old Westernport man, is the youngest in point of service at the Luke plant, having worked there for 30 years.

Victor S. Kalbaugh, 68, Luke, led the group in years of service, having worked at the plant for the past 53 years.

Plans To Retire Soon

Other men in the group, all of whom are planning to retire as of September 30, are William W. Grimm, 65, Westernport, a veteran of 45 years service; John V. Niland, 68, Piedmont, W. Va., who has worked at the plant for 42 years; and Frederick P. Wiseman, 67, Luke, who has 37 years of employment at the plant to his credit.

William W. Wood, manager of the field office, said the occasion marked at the plant for 42 years; and men with so many years of service have filed claims for old age insurance at one time.

He added that because the five were employed steadily for such a length of time, their monthly payments under the Social Security Act will be higher than is ordinarily the case.

Since the act took effect in 1937, Wood said, the men have contributed to the old age and survivors insurance along with their employer. Because they filed their claims promptly, there will be no danger of their losing benefits in the way that so many retiring employes do today, he explained.

Claim Advice Given

Many persons neglect to file their claims immediately upon retiring, when they are over 65 years of age, because they are under the impression that there is a possibility of exhausting the payments, Wood said. He explained that the benefits will be received for life, regardless of how long the claimants live.

Others believe it is necessary to sign a lien on property to receive the payments, but this is not true, the manager said. Under the system, the monthly payments have already been paid for by the wage earner and his employe during the latter's working career.

Moreover, those receiving monthly payments need not remain at their present place of residence, for the Social Security Administration will mail a check to them any place in the world, with the current exception of enemy countries in the last war.

Wood urged that the local office, which serves Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland and Hampshire, Mineral, Grant, Hardy and Pendleton Counties in West Virginia be consulted upon the death or retirement of a wage earner.

In an accident report, Howard S. Hamilton, 28, 10 Pear Street, said the mishap occurred at 11 a. m. when Mrs. Klink stepped out from behind a car in the second traffic lane and against his vehicle in the right lane, about 30 feet north of the intersection.

Instrument Group Hears Reports On Conference Show

Wilson And Stern Outline Exhibits

Robert Wilson of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company gave a report last night at the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Section of the Instrument Society of America at Queen City Hotel, on mechanical instruments viewed at the Second Annual Conference and Exhibit of the ISA.

Harry Stern of the Hercules Powder Company also spoke on electronic equipment displayed at the exhibit.

Wilson described the operation and calibration of flowmeters. He noted that most instruments, valves and lines, he saw, were made of glass or plastic, to enable the entire operation of the system to be open for inspection.

Wilson also described proximity fuses, snubbers for gages, and various new plastic methods. An electronic micrometer described was accurate, he said, to .00005 of an inch.

Stern explained that servo-mechanisms for control are replacing older outdated recording methods. He said operation of this system requires very small voltage to operate large machinery and these small voltages were also measurable thru suitable amplifiers.

He also spoke on the application of supersonic equipment for inspection. He described the latest type mercury relays, temperature recorders, range finders, voltmeters and pressure recorders.

The Cumberland Section plans a course in the basic elements of physics relative to instrumentation and mechanics. The course will be free to members of the Society, but a nominal charge is to be made non-members enrolled.

Next Friday, the group plans to visit the Gulf Research and Development Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., to study and compare methods for plant process control and instrumentation.

Porter R. Davis, 111 Spruce Street, Westernport, wrote to the board complaining about a county road above his property washing down on his land and causing damage. His complaint was referred to the county engineer.

A letter from John T. Fey, chairman of the Community Chest Fund drive for Cumberland, asked the County Commissioners for approval of a plan to collect donations from county employes through a payroll deduction system. No action was taken on the letter.

To Elect Officers

The first regular Fall meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Dental Society will be held next Wednesday, October 1, at 6:15 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The business session will feature the election of officers for the coming year.

Temperature Reading

A maximum temperature of only 63 degrees was recorded here yesterday as a cool wave continued. By 9:30 p. m., the mercury was down to 51 degrees, one higher than the previous night at the same hour. It was problematical, however, if the overnight low today would be as low as yesterday when a mark of 31, one degree below freezing, was registered, inasmuch as the wind direction changed last night from north to southwest.

Motor Club Head Reports On Car Thefts For Year

Owners Urged To Lock Automobiles

Interstate transportation of stolen automobiles reached an all-time high in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, according to Hugo Keller, president of the Western Maryland Motor Club, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association.

"Nearly two-thirds of those arrested for stealing cars are minors," Keller said. When a motorist neglects to properly lock his car, accidently or otherwise, he unconsciously encourages juvenile delinquency or grand larceny by a car stealing gang, Keller contends.

Some idea of the magnitude of car thefts and the task before law enforcement agencies is realized when it is known that the FBI recovered 12,324 stolen vehicles transported in interstate commerce during the year. This is the highest number since the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act became law, October 29, 1919, and the value of the cars recovered amounted to $11,336,642.

Keller said that reports show there were in that same period, 4,668 convictions for thefts of cars; with sentences aggregating nearly 13,000 years and fines imposed totaling $29,735.

Maximum penalty under the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act is five years in prison and a fine of $5,000.

According to an FBI report to the AAA, Keller said, car stealing rings are operating in Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee, Maryland and Kentucky. The usual procedure is to drive the stolen vehicle into a private garage; repaint the body, make minor alterations and change the motor numbers and license plates, and falsify ownership papers.

The local club is cooperating in a plan to encourage car owners to lock their cars and take all normal precautions to prevent car thefts.

State Apple Growers Must Pay Penny Tax On Each Bushel Sold

McHenry Reminds Growers Of New Law

Although the apple crop in Western Maryland is expected to be slim this season, due to late freezing weather which nipped the buds of thousands of trees, the State of Maryland will still collect a tax on all apples sold, over 500 bushels per orchard.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent said yesterday farmers and orchardists should be reminded now to keep accurate records of their apple sales, since a new Maryland Law makes it necessary to pay one cent per bushel tax on all apples sold by each operator in excess of 500 bushels.

The law was enacted by the last session of the General Assembly, with the provision that one half the tax must be paid by December 31, and the other half by May 31. On apples sold after December 31, the tax must be paid within 20 days of the end of each current sales month.

Funds realized are to be used for carrying out a program of publicity and sales promotion work. McHenry said the thing growers must remember now is to keep accurate records, and to preserve them for at least two years. There is an interest penalty on overdue taxes plus court costs if suit is brought for payment.

Under the new Apple Merchandise Law, Governor Lane recently appointed the Maryland State Apple Commission, as follows: John P. Caspar, Hancock; D. Eldred Reinhart, Smithsburg; E. Dwight McCain, Frederick; Joseph G. Harrison, Berlin; W. Lee Allen, Salisbury; Marshall T. Heaps, Cardiff; and Eugene W. Scott, Rockville.

The Commission met recently in Baltimore, McHenry said, and named Caspar chairman and Albert F. Vierheller was asked to act as temporary secretary, until the ground work is laid and growers get acquainted with the new law.

It was decided that the Commission continue to work through the Appalachian Apple Service as a means of carrying on a part of the apple publicity and sales promotion work, for Maryland growers.

Barter Theatre To Present Four Stage Shows Here During Winter

"Twelfth Night" Will Open Jaycee Series

Arrangements have been completed by the Junior Association of Commerce to present the Barter Theatre of Virginia, in a series of four legitimate stage shows at Allegany High School auditorium during the current fall and winter season.

The first production will be Shakespeare's gay comedy, "Twelfth Night", under the direction of Alexander Ivo, on October 4.

The play introduces Joan Mortimer, a new Barter leading lady. She was brought from New York by Barter to play Viola, the role that Helen Hayes portrayed on Broadway. The cast will include Ray Boyle, Stuart Day, Mike Kellin, Gerry Jedd, Frederic Warriner, Emory Bass, Fern Bennett, Terry Bliss, Don Hart, Caddell Burroughs, Ernest Borgnine, Walt Witcover and John Eaton.

The comedy, originally written in five acts, will be presented in two acts and 18 scenes. Peter A. Bucknell designed the pretentious costumes.

Jack Moore, is chairman of the Jaycee committee, sponsoring the series, and is assisted by Robert Little Ebert, Bert J. Graham, and Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., in charge of ticket distribution; William F. New, Byron Kight and Charles Defibaugh, in charge of ushers; Galen Metzger and Derr Golladay, in charge of stage arrangements; and F. Allen Weatherholt, publicity.

Tickets will be on sale for "Twelfth Night" Wednesday at the S. T. Little Jewelry Store, The Music Shop, Cumberland Public Library; and next week, student tickets will be available at Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools.

The other three shows scheduled for the season are, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" December 9; "The Hasty Heart" March 20; and "Payment Deferred" April 28.

Moore said last night there seems to be considerable interest in the first show, as this is the first time in recent years that Cumberland has had an opportunity to see a professional theatrical company do Shakespeare.
